Fire Sweeps $60,000 Sausalito Home

A spectacular fire swept a $60,000 Sausalito house at 4:52 a.m. today, burning it to its foundations. Five occupants of the building fled the blaze.

At 10:30 a.m. firemen still were sifting the charred ruins for a possible sixth person, a girl, who may have died in the fire.

Six units from the Sausalito Fire Department and one from the Marin County Fire Department responded to the blaze at 25 Marion Avenue, an expensive residential area. Also destroyed were a Mercedes-Benz and a Jaguar.

The fire, which lit up surrounding hills and could be seen in Tiburon, was brought under control in 45 minutes, a fire department spokesman said.

David Irving, a Tamalpais Valley volunteer fireman, was among the first to arrive on the scene and reported several eucalyptus trees surrounding the house were ablaze.

"Embers were shooting up higher than the trees," he said. "The house was the last one on a narrow road and the larger engines couldn't get to it.

"One of the occupants was standing there dressed only in jeans," Irving said. "A neighbor got a shirt for him."

For a time the fire threatened to spread through the trees to surrounding homes, but firemen managed to confine the blaze to the immediate vicinity of the house.

The house was reported owned by Thomas Smallwood of 114 Filbert Street, Sausalito. Two of the occupants were identified by Sausalito firemen as John Ferrington and Roger Lewis. The names of the other men were not known.

Although cause of the fire is unknown, firemen said one of the occupants of the house thought it started in the furnace room. A report of a man who ran from the house and drove away in a truck is being investigated.

The structure was reported insured for $60,000, the furnishings for $20,000.

600 Commuters At Long Span Session

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

An often unruly crowd of more than 600 commuters jammed the Civic Center last night to heap a mixed bag of praise and condemnation on the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The meeting of the district board's transportation committee was billed as a hearing on the "effect of transit plans on commuter rates," but most bridge directors stressed last month when they set the meeting that they would not reconsider their December vote to jump commuter tolls from $6.50 to $10 for a 25-round-trip book.

The crowd, which freely jeered, booed and clapped through much of the four-hour meeting, was the largest since the Marin County Board of Supervisors' stormy session last year over an abortive move to fire Planning Director Paul C. Zucker. The crowd swamped both the supervisors and planning commission chambers, and overflowed onto the balcony and into the hallways.

Half dwindled away after two hours, but almost 100 still were holding on when adjournment came just before midnight.

A narrow majority of the more than 40 speakers praised the higher commute toll as justified to buy the bus and ferry system the district is working to start. This majority included spokesmen for several large citizens groups.

These groups included the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, Marin Conservation League, League of Women Voters of Central Marin, Marin Transportation Action Committee, and Sleepy Hollow Homes Association.

Also favoring transit financed by higher commuter tolls were Tiburon Mayor Branwell Fanning, Tiburon City Councilman Denis T. Rice, San Anselmo City Councilmen Kenneth L. Anderson and James F. Reed, and former Novato City Councilman Jack Adams, who also has served on the Marin County Transit District board.

The four incumbent councilmen noted they spoke as individuals because their councils had taken no official stand on the hike.

Criticizing the toll hike and generally critical of the bridge district were spokesmen for the

'I MAY BE NUTS, BUT . . .'

Troubled Druggist Ditches Cigarettes

A Strawberry pharmacist, troubled by selling both cigarettes and health products, today removed cigarettes from sale and called upon other pharmacists to follow his example.

"Maybe I'm a little nuts, but I feel as though it's warranted," said Burt Freeman, owner of Village Pharmacy at Strawberry Town and Country Village Shopping Center.

He estimated that his decision will cost him about $1,000 in sales a month, and that his present inventory was worth some $300. He said he would try to return it to wholesalers, but that if he can't, "Well, then it just will not be for sale."

Freeman, 40, a resident of Sausalito, said he had been thinking about taking the action for seven months, and reached his decision yesterday with the encouragement of a customer with whom he happened to discuss it.

"Being a pharmacy, we're primarily concerned with the health and well being of the community," he said. He said he reached his decision "in light of the studies that it is hazardous to health to smoke.

"If we're going to do something about pollution, and we're actually polluting our own bodies, then let's start doing something about it with our own bodies," Freeman said.

Freeman said he used to smoke, but stopped 16 years ago. Most of his eight employees also used to smoke, he said, but none do now.

"I just hope that this might trigger a chain reaction, and that others will do some soul searching themselves and will follow suit." He said he will push the Marin County Pharmaceutical Association for support.

Freeman's removal today included cigars, but not pipe tobacco.

LBJ Details Decision On Bomb Policy

Johnson Credits Rusk's Argument For '68 Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson says Secretary of State Dean Rusk's argument that North Vietnam would not respond to a demand for a concession led him to order a conditional bombing halts on March 31, 1968.

Revealing for the first time the events behind the decision that got the Communists to agree to peace to peace talks, Johnson also said:

-He had been looking for a peace move to tie in with his planned announcement of his retirement from office.

-Defense Secretary Clark Clifford had wanted the North Vietnamese to make a concession.

—That at the same time, and unaware of Rusk's proposal, U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg asked Johnson to "stop all the bombing."

-That he thoroughly explained to Sen. William Fulbright, a critic of the war, what he intended to do with the Tonkin Gulf Resolution.

DURING REVIEW

Johnson said Rusk suggested during a review of Vietnam policy that the bombing of North Vietnam be stopped as "a peace overture."

Johnson said the gesture for peace—which also included his announcement that he would not seek reelection—failed.

"My hopes have faded away, and my dreams have not been realized," he said in an interview to be broadcast Friday night on CBS. (Channel 5, 10 p.m.) "I deeply regret it, but I was constantly trying, just as I'd tried on many other causes that failed."

The televised interview, devoted to Johnson's decision to stop the bombing of North Vietnam, was the second in a series with Walter Cronkite. It was filmed last fall at the LBJ Ranch in Texas.

RUSK A TARGET

The former president said Rusk, whose advocacy of Johnson administration Vietnam policy had made him a target of antiwar demonstrators, argued that the North Vietnamese would not respond to a demand for a concession in return for stopping the bombing.

He said he was going over recommendations from his top advisors in early March 1968 when "Secretary Rusk come back and said—while we were evaluating these things, he said, 'Now I think the time's come where we can stop the bombing.'

"Some of them suggested—I think Secretary Clifford suggested, and we and some of the others joined him—that we stop the bombing on the condition that the North Vietnamese do something.

"And Secretary Rusk said, 'That won't work, this reciprocity won't work. We ought to just stop the bombing.'

"I said, 'Get on your horses and get me a plan!'"

January Jobless Rate Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate took its largest one-month jump in nearly a decade last month, climbing to 3.9 per cent of the country's labor force. Other economic signs continued to reflect a slowing economy under the Nixon administration's anti-inflation policies.

The increase over December from 3.5 per cent to 3.9 per cent, the Labor Department said today, was the biggest since December 1960, when the rate climbed by half a point to 6.6 per cent and the 3.9 per cent rate was the highest since November 1967.

Not only did the jobless rate jump to 3.9 per cent with a total of 3.4 million unemployed workers, the Labor Department said today, but the average work week dropped and overtime for manufacturing workers fell to its lowest level in two and a half years.

The department said the total unemployment increase for January over December was even greater than the usual December-January change. In all, unemployment was up 325,000 over the month, with most of the increase accounted for by teenagers and adult men.

The 3.9 per cent increase was four-tenths of one per cent above the seasonally adjusted December rate of 3.5 and slightly above the revised Septem-

Israelis Sink Arab Warship

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes sank an Egyptian minelayer, which normally carries a crew of 80, in the Gulf of Suez today during attacks on military targets along the Suez canal and deep inside Egypt, the military command announced.

The sinking was reported after Egyptian frogmen blew holes in the sides of two Israeli navy supply ships in Eilat harbor, sinking one and causing the other to be beached.

Egypt claimed the Israeli raid was in retaliation for the frogman attack.

The Israelis said their planes also struck deep in the Nile River valley more than 200 miles south of Cairo.

A LONG WELCOMING STRETCH

Goals Outlined For An Urbanized Nation

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Crime is the price the nation is paying for the poverty and social isolation of its minorities, says presidential counselor Daniel P. Moynihan.

Moynihan put the goal of ending those ills at the top of a list of priorities in a new national urban policy.

President Nixon's chief urban adviser unveiled the policy Thursday before a select meeting of nine mayors from medium-sized U.S. cities, the President and his Urban Affairs Council.

"If you want to get rd of crime, get rid of poverty and racial isolation," said Moynihan after the closed-door meeting.

Moynihan cited the side effects of the federal highway program which at times aggravated the inner city housing situation through massive dislocations to make way for the roads while providing the freeway systems which made it easy for the tax-paying middle class to flee to suburbia.

—Strengthening local government so it can become more efficient and meaningful to city dwellers.

Moynihan said it was important to encourage consolidated government such as the merger of Indianapolis with the suburbs and Marion County.

—Restoring fiscal vitality to the cities by such means as the sharing of federal revenues which the Nixon administration has proposed.

—Equalizing public services in different government jurisdictions.

He cited the difference in quality between school districts often within the same counties as an example of the problem.

—Focusing special attention on the mass movement of people from the country-side to the city and from the city to the suburbs.

—Supporting state involvement in urban affairs.

—Developing a more efficient system for state, local and private involvement in meeting the goals the federal government hopes to achieve.

—Improving informational services available to the cities so that they can better gauge the current and future situation.

Moratorium On Railroad Strike Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike-lockout moratorium until Feb. 21 has been agreed to by the nation's railroads and four shopcraft unions.

The disputants were already subject to parallel court orders barring strikes by the unions or lockouts by the carriers through Wednesday.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz who announced the agreement Thursday, also said bargaining talks in the dispute are being transferred Monday from Washington to Miami Beach. He said the move was being made because many of the principles are committed to AFL-CIO midwinter meetings in Miami Beach during the next two weeks.

There was still no break in the continuing talks. They focus on a work rule change in last month's tentative settlement. The change was accepted by three of the unions but rejected by the membership of the sheet metal workers.

The other union involved are the machinists, boilermakers and electricians.

Sentence Passed In Bad Check Charge

Johnnie Martin Polk of San Jose was sentenced to a year in jail yesterday in Marin Municipal Court after he pleaded guilty to passing a bad check at Wells Fargo Bank in San Rafael March 10, 1069.

Judge Hadden W. Roth ordered Polk to repay the $150 and serve the jail term concurrently with a term he is now serving in San Jose.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Cahill Dinner?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto has named a committee to prepare a testimonial dinner for Thomas Cahill, the man he fired as police chief. But there is some doubt the guest of honor would attend.

"I don't even know whether I'll be in town," Cahill commented Thursday.

"I don't want anyone to feel that I have to be rewarded for the job I've done," he added. "I feel the people deserved my efforts."

Several officers queried praised Cahill and also praised his successor, former Dep. Chief Alfred J. Nelder.

They seemed not to know exactly why the change was made but expressed cautious optimism.

Bug Poison Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson introduced a bill today to outlaw eight long-lived insecticides, including one pest killer that has been called deadlier than DDT.

The eight insecticides are members of the family of chlorinated hydrocarbons. All are first cousins of DDT.

The step marked the first time that sweeping legislation to ban the widespread application of persistent pesticides have been introduced in Congress.

Nelson's legislative package would outlaw interstate sale or shipment of dieldrin, aldrin, chlordane, endrin, heptachlor, DDD-DDE, lindane and toxaphene.

Ralph MacMullan, director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, has called dieldrin a far greater hazard for fish and wildlife than DDT. He made the statement after watching the amounts of dieldrin and DDT build-up in Lake Michigan fishes to the point where they threaten natural reproduction.

Dollar In Bermuda

BERMUDA (AP) — Bermuda, where the U.S. dollar has held sway for nearly 50 years, got a dollar of its own today as this British colony abandoned pounds and pence and went over to the decimal system.

The aim of the move is to keep Bermuda in step with other Commonwealth countries which are changing to the more convenient decimal system. Britain will make the switch next year.

Postage stamps will bear the old pence and shilling denominations until a new issue comes out but they will be purchased in decimal currency.

Pompidou Tour

PARIS (AP) — President Georges Pompidou and aides, opening a tour of the United States, will be guests of President Nixon at his Camp David retreat the night of Feb. 22.

An official announcement to this effect Thursday gave no further details of Pompidou's itinerary. The tour will last until March 3 and will take him from New York to the West Coast.

Prince Has Rules

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip said, "There are rules, you know"; a portrait painter said he was 'upset," and a photographer said he was "extremely humiliated." Result: Prince Philip did not have his picture taken.

Turkish newsman Dogan Uluc said he went to Buckingham Palace to photograph a Turkish artist named Rahmi painting a portrait of the prince consort.

Rahmi said Philip refused and remarked: "You have to learn there are rules in life," and Uluc was escorted out.

"I've had pictures taken in palaces all over Europe, so why not here too?" Rahmi told newsmen today.

Buckingham Palace said only that the incident occurred Wednesday and no permisison for photographs had been given.

Brown Acquitted

Brown, 33, now a Hollywood actor, had been accused in connection with a traffic collision in West Hollywood last Aug. 1.

Charles Brush, a 52-year-old printer, alleged that after the accident Brown drove his car toward him at 45 miles per hour and that he was forced to leap onto the vehicle's hood to escape injury.

Brown testified that Brush was yelling at him and, for no apparent reason, jumped on the hood of the car. He said he drove about 300 feet at 10 miles an hour, stopped and removed the heavy-set printer from the hood, placing him on his feet.

G.E. Hike Prices

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The General Electric Co. resuming production following a three-month strike, says prices on all major GE and Hotpoint appliances are going up approximately three per cent today.

Walter Bennett, public relations spokesman for the appliance and television group, said the price increases would apply to goods sent to distributors and "I have no idea when the cost will be passed on to the consumer. That all depends on the dealers."

Bennett said the price rise would be on air conditioners, home laundry units, ranges, dishwashers, garbage disposals, refrigerators and freezers.

Blast Probe Widens

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Shaker Heights Police Chief Carl Longstreet says the bombing of the suburb's municipal building "may be broader in scope than just one person." Previously Martin Berns, 21, had been named as the probable perpetrator.

"Something important has happened in the case," Longstreet said at a news conference Thursday night. Then he clamped news blackout on the case and refused to elaborate.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer reported that police were seeking information on associates of Berns, believed to have been killed when the blast ripped through the building Monday, injuring 15 persons.

The newspaper said it had learned that Berns, missing since the blast, had close ties with several social and political groups.

Alarming Venereal Disease Report On Today's Youth

BERKELEY (UPI)—One out of every 10 young Californians will have venereal disease this year, the state's top VD fighter said today.

Dr. Warren A. Ketterer, head of the VD program for the State Public Health Department, made the prediction concerning teen-agers and young people under 25 on the basis of 1969 venereal disease reports.

Public health agencies have voiced concern in recent months about the "epidemic" of gonorrhea among young people—who now account for more than half of all reported VD cases in the state.

Ketterer said the one in 10 figure was based on last year's 101,000 reported cases—which is one-fifth to one-tenth the actual number of VD cases in California.

Pollution Measures Fail To Make Ballot

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Leaders of an unsuccesful campaign to recall Gov. Ronald Reagan two years ago failed Thursday to qualify two tough antipollution measures for the ballot.

The secretary of state's office declared the measures ineligible for the election ballot when the people's Lobby, Inc., fell far short of submitting the required number of qualifying signatures.

Only 242,273 voter signatures were turned in on the initiative. A minimum of 325,173 was needed to qualify it for the November election.

The People's Lobby, Inc., is headed by Mrs. Joyce Koupal of Hollywood who conducted an unsuccesful campaign in 1967 and 1968 to recall Reagan.

In Los Angeles, Koupal said, "We didn't figure on coming in. We're going to court immediately."

He and his wife said they would file suit in San Bernardino and Los Angeles Counties seeking to force county clerks to accept petition signatures they had ruled contained errors.

The initiative would have required polluters such as factories to declare publicly how much pollution they discharge and to cut back pollutants upon citizen demand. It also would have placed even tighter smog control restrictions on automobiles starting in 1972.

The constitutional amemdment would have placed the major burden on eliminating pollution on those who caused

Young Conservationists Urge Ecology As Priority

Youthful conservationists last night urged the Petaluma River Study Committees to consider pollution, preservation of ecology and recreational programs as top priorities.

The 26 students from Petaluma Senior High School told how marine biology classes use the river as an outdoor classroom and spend afternoons collecting samples to be studied later in the classroom.

The students told committee members that they value the river highly and that pollution should be eliminated to promote other forms ot river life for scholastic, recreational and aesthetic purposes.

The committees last night considered the possibility of a local or regional airport in the Lakeville area of the river and said strong opposition should be included in the group's final report in April to governments in Marin and Sonoma Counties.

They said an airport would seriously damage ecology and prevent many possible recreational facilities. Many said they felt it would be more economically sound to expand the airport operated by Marin County rather than develop a new Sonoma County site.

The group also considered a possible park site on Neal's Island, near the junction with San Antonio Creek. Many agreed with the proposed site, but said pollution must be controlled before recreational programs become practical.

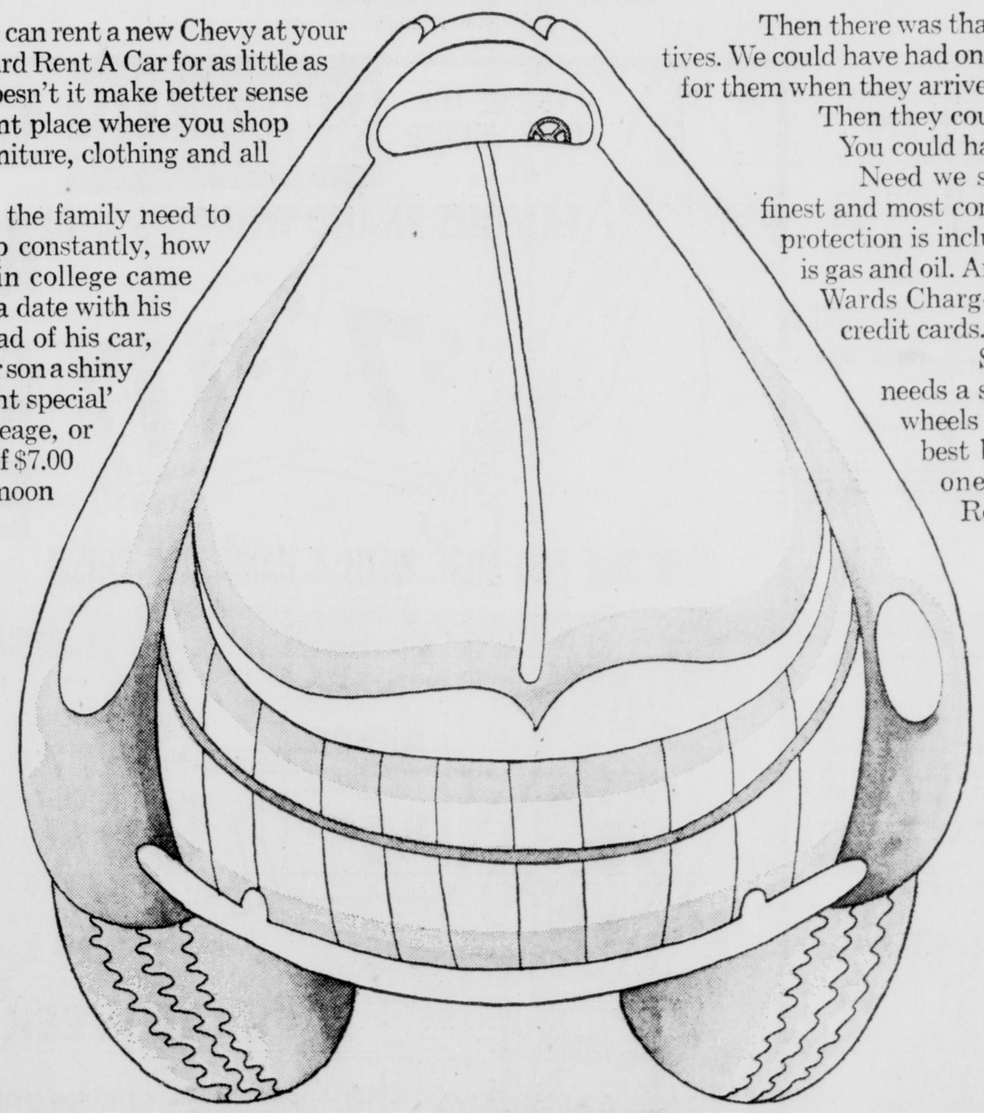
(But you can rent it.)



And now that you can rent a new Chevy at your neighborly Montgomery Ward Rent A Car for as little as $6.00 a day plus mileage, doesn't it make better sense to rent at the one convenient place where you shop and save on appliances, furniture, clothing and all your family needs?

And if you think the family need to rent a car isn't cropping up constantly, how about the time your son in college came home for the weekend and a date with his girl. Instead of depriving dad of his car, we could have delivered your son a shiny new Chevy for our 'overnight special' price of just $6.00 plus mileage, or our 'weekend special' price of $7.00 per day plus mileage, from noon Friday to noon Monday.

Then there was that visit from your wife's relatives. We could have had one of our new Chevys waiting for them when they arrived.

Then they could have gone their way.

You could have gone yours.

Need we say more? Except that the finest and most complete package of insurance protection is included in the one low rate. So is gas and oil. And you can put it all on your Wards Charg-all account or other major credit cards.

Johnson's presidency, succeeding Robert S. McNamara.

Johnson said he had been planning to announce his retirement from the presidency in a speech in early 1968. "I wanted to use the announcement that had to come as a predicate and as a basis for getting all the steam I could toward a possible peace move," he said.

After the Tet offensive in February 1968 he dispatched Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to Vietnam. Wheeler's report was turned over to the top Vietnam advisers and Rusk's suggestion came out of that.

On either March 5 or March 6, after his verbal suggestion, Rusk "came back and he read a paper, and the paper was not far different from the proposal in my speech," Johnson said.

Regarding the bombing halt proposals, Johnson said, "Secretary Clifford took the position that you would endanger your troops in the DMZ area, endanger many American lives and be gambling on something that you weren't justified in gambling on, that if there's any disposition on the part of the North Vietnamese to respond, they'd respond if you eliminated the bombing of 90 per cent of their population area."

Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker in Saigon was asked for his reaction to the two proposals, Johnson said.

On the one by Goldberg, Bunker "come back strong and said, 'I just can't. That dog won't hunt. We just cannot get that over, it would just blow everything.'" Johnson quoted him as saying. "Then what do you do about the second one? 'Well,' he said, 'it's got its problems, and there are many, and I don't know what we could do about it,' and finally ending up, 'If you decide to go that way I'll do my best from this end of the line.'"

A week or so before he was to give his speech, Johnson asked some unofficial advisers to the White House, among them Abe Fortas, then a Supreme Court justice; former Secretary of State Dean Acheson; McGeorge Bundy, an architect of Vietnam policy under John F. Kennedy and Johnson as White House adviser on national security affairs; Gen. Omar Bradley, and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, who had been an ambassador to Saigon.

"The substance of their recommendation was, as presented by Mr. Bundy and Secretary Acheson, was that our time was limited, that we should do two things, really," Johnson said. "One, find some way to increase the build-up that the Vietnamese were making themselves, and Second, that down the road to try to find some negotiating stance and find some reason to go to the table."

Johnson said he had hoped a move toward peace would come out of the bombing halt because "no one that sits in the chair of the president wants to be regarded as an unreasonable, unfair, unjust person who lives to wage war . . .

Concerning the difference of opinion between Johnson and Sen. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, on the limits of the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution, Johnson said, "Don't tell me a Rhodes scholar didn't understand everything in that resolution, because we said to him at the White House and every other member of that committee that the president of the United States is not about to commit forces and undertake actions to deter aggression in South Vietnam to prevent this Communist conspiracy, unless and until the American people through their Congress sign on to go in.

Ross Patient Struck By Auto

A San Francisco woman walked out of the psychiatric unit at Ross General Hospital last night and attempted to take her life by jumping in front of a moving auto, the California Highway Patrol said.

The patrol said the woman, Avril E. Weber, 28, left the hospital about 11:40 p.m. and dashed into Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, where she was struck by a westbound auto driven by Robert T. Wilson, 31, of 77 Taylor Avenue, Woodacre.

The woman was taken to a psychiatric unit at Marin General Hospital, where she was reported in satisfactory condition today with body cuts.

Fred Harris To Quit Demo Chairman Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma is resigning as Democratic National Chairman, it was learned today.

Sources close to him said Harris would step down effective when a successor is chosen.

Harris called a news conference later today to announce his plans.

Harris has headed the party for just over a year.

Jim Monroe, Harris' administrative assistant and press secretary, would not directly confirm the report, but he said at Oklahoma City that Harris "has brought the party through this transition period and has accomplished much of what he set out to do."

His decision to step down comes a day after the party's first major fund raising effort of 1970, a dinner in Miami Beach.

Sources close to Harris said the chairman had been planning to leave the party post, but had waited for what he considered the proper moment.

"We've had a successful fund raising dinner, and now he can leave with cash on hand," one source said. But if that is true for the current operating budget, the party remains nearly $8 million in debt, a deficit left over from the 1968 presidential campaign.

There was no immediate word as to who might succeed Harris.

One source said Harris would remain active in Democratic politics, particularly as a spokesman on the issues.

That is certain to promote speculation that Harris is seeking more freedom to buid his reputation in a fashion which might propel him into contention for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

JOBS

ber-October level of 3.8 per cent.

The department said jobless rates for most major groups of the labor force rose significantly over the month, although total employment declined less than usual.

It also reported a rise in the state insured unemployment rate to its highest level since 1967.

For workers between 16 and 19 years old, the jobless rate rose 2 per cent over the month, up to 13.8. For men 20 years and older, the unemployment rate rose from 2.2 to 2.5 per cent, the highest level since mid-1967.

This increase hit hardest among men between 25 and 54, the government said. Many in this group lost their jobs in production cutbacks.

The work week for rank and file workers declined by a half hour in January, which the government said was in line with seasonal expectations.

In manufacturing, it dropped much more than seasonally and was down four-tenths of an hour over the month to 40.2, the lowest level in about two years.

After remaining steady at 3.5 hours for three consecutive months, factory overtime declined to 3.2 hours, with the drop concentrated in the durable goods sector.

The average hourly earnings for all production and nonsupervisory workers on private payrolls rose two cents in January to $3.14, up 20 cents from a year ago. But because of what the department called the usual January drop in the work week, average weekly earnings fell by 81 cents to $116.81. Over the year, average weekly earnings increased by 6.56 or six per cent.

Youth Group Urges Teen Vote Support

Marin County should join the initiative drive giving the vote to 18-year-olds on the statewide ballot in November, Marin County youth commissioners decided unanimously last night.

The youth commission, headed by Novato teen-ager Mark W. Tracy, passed a resolution asking the Marin County Board of Supervisors to endorse the campaign to lower the voting age from 21 to 18, and to put the measure on the November ballot.

The commission decided to serve as Marin County coordinator for gathering petitions for the drive. The rallying day for the petition collection is Feb. 23, the day after Washington's birthday.

Next meeting of the youth commission is set for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 19 in the Civic Center.

Gwen M. Monroe, youth coordinator, said the commission now meets on the first third and fourth Thursdays at 7:30 p.m., but from April, the meetings will be held on Tuesday nights instead of Thursdays.

Cotati Sets $100,000 Bond Vote

The Cotati City Council last night called for a $100,000 bond election for sewage improvements on April 14 and heard a complaint from a citizen which illustrated the need.

The bonds would finance the construction of newer mains and a connection with the Rohnert Park sewage treatment plant.

Savera Wilford Sr. of 7582 Commerce Boulevard, told the council that a sewage line had backed up on his property three weeks ago during heavy rains. He said the runoff was nearly up to his home and the multicolored paper had littered his yard.

Councilmen Kenneth Garner and John L Groom said they had investigated his problem and found that heavy rain waters had infiltrated the sewage line and caused pumps to overload and stop functioning.

City Mgr. Gordon C. Howe said that auxiliary pumps rented by the city would stem the problem temporarily, but that City Engineer Paul Schock reported no permanent solution could be found until the tie-in with Rohnert Park is complete.

The bond election will be held in conjunction with the city council election with the poll at the Cotati School open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Howe said a meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Cotati fire hall for persons interested in serving on a citizen's committee to promote passage of the issue.

The Cotati City Council also:

RAILROAD — Approved 3 to 2 a resolution asking the state Public Utilities Commission for a feasibility study on requiring railroads to beautify rights-of-way. Groom and Alfred Falletti dissented, saying the study would be too costly.

COMMITTEE — Accepted the offer of T. Jeffrey Hughes, a Sonoma State College student, to serve on the bond election promotion committee.

POLLUTION — Heard Mayor Frank J. Dolinsek report he would send air pollution control information to the council as supplied by the Sonoma County Mayors and Councilmens Association.

Teachers Salary Study Approved

A study on a possible mid-year salary increase for teachers was agreed to last night by the Old Adobe School District Board, Petaluma.

School Supt. Dean D. Magowan reminded the board that last year it had promised teachers a salary-evaluation in February.

Magowan said he anticipated that budget reserves would be maintained, but that the district may not have much extra money.

He said he would prepare a report with recommendations for Feb. 19.

Teachers had requested that salary levels in higher brackets be increased so that the top salary would double the starting salary.

The old adobe school district board also:

Book — Received for study a copy of "How We Are Born," as a proposed text for family life education classes. A decision will be made Feb. 19.

Released—Approved the release of Mrs. Ruth Anderson as a fourth grade teacher because she had neglected to renew her state credential.

Employed—Hired Mrs. Sandra Bishop to replace Mrs. Anderson at a salary of $3,648 for the remainder of the school year.

Drainage—Received a report from McKay and Somps Civil Engineers that a drainage basin at the new school site on St. Francis Drive will cost between $1,000 and $1,100.

Far-Flung Crime Hearings Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Upcoming congressional hearings on crime will deal with everything from the organized Mafia variety to extortion in which school children are robbed of their lunch money by older students.

Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., chairman of the House Select Committee on Crime, also said Thursday the panel expects to announce soon appointment of a new chief counsel with a background in Mafia investigation.

Youth Arrested With Stolen Car

A Petaluma youth has been arrested in Oregon for driving a car that had been stolen in Petaluma Tuesday night.

Oregon State police said they arrested Alan Ray Miler, 20, Wednesday. He was accompanied by a 16-year-old Petaluma boy and a 16-year-old girl from Santa Rosa. No complaint against the teen-agers is anticipated, police said.

The 1966 Mustang had been stolen from Sanderson Ford Co. used car lot, Petaluma Boulevard South and B Street.

Miler, who told police he would not fight extradition, will be returned to Petaluma.

Reimbursement Bill Introduced By McCarthy

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to correct the amount of state reimbursement to counties under the business inventory tax exemption has been introduced by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Because the 30 per cent exemption set by the Legislature reduced the local property tax base, the state reimburses counties for the cost of the exemption. The formula for making the reimbursements, however, last year provided some counties with too much money and some with too little.

Under McCarthy's bill, Marin would have to return to the state its overpayment of $7,491. Sonoma, however, would gain $11,464.

Forty-one counties were shortchanged $1.5 million, and 17 counties received excess payments totaling $818,000, McCarthy said.

Asemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, introduced a similar bill last month, but McCarthy's staff said it had no knowledge of Bagley's bill. Bagley's bill would not require the counties to repay excess reimbursements.

Assault Charge For Fairfax Man

Samuel Wesley James, 46, of 174 Scenic Road, Fairfax, was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of being drunk, assaulting a police officer and resisting arrest at a San Rafael bar.

San Rafael police reported that Charles Lipori, owner of the La Casa Restaurant, 903 Lincoln Avenue, called them when James returned to the restaurant after having been asked to leave, blocked the front door of the restaurant and took a swing at Lipori.

James left the restaurant before police arrived, but they located him at the Travelers Inn at 706 Third Street. When asked for identification, he shouted an obscenity, spit in the face of the police officer, and attempted to strike him, according to police.

Bail was set at $1,250, and James was held for appearance in court today.

Store Reports Window Breaking

A steel nut was thrown through a plate glass window at Klein's TV store, 509 Francisco Boulevard, Wednesday night, owner George A. Klein reported to San Rafael police yesterday.

Klein said that an employee received a phone call at the store the day before. The caller asked how the store felt about the Independent-Journal.

Klein also said he received a letter and printed material Wednesday morning from the Marin Labor Union Council protesting advertising in the I-J, which has been struck by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Three other stores reported yesterday that they had been similarly damaged. All said they had been asked not to advertise in the I-J.

Attack On Gas Lead Is Urged

"The more we look at it," he said, "the more it is evident that the elimination of lead from gasoline will be the key to opening the door which will allow us to combat air pollution from automobiles."

Rogers, a ranking member of the House commerce subcommittee on public health, said testimony before the California state legislature estimated it would take about $200 million to convert that state's refineries and this could be projected to about $2 billion nationwide.

Judge Refuses To Set Aside Manson Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge refused today to set aside a murder indictment against Charles M. Manson, who disclosed in court he is being held in solitary confinement.

Trustee Hits Academic Role, Seeks Review

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy urgedlast night that the College of Marin "review its effectiveness" in light of a large number of students academically disqualified after the fall semester.

There were 1,118 disqualified and a high number readmitted, she told fellow trustees. "This number deserves serious study"

With a large number of disqualifications, the college 'is an apparently wasteful and expensive operation," she asserted. "Perhaps the college needs a review of its effectiveness."

WANTS REPORT

Mrs. Deedy sugegsted the board call for a full report on disqualifications, readmissions and extenuating circumstances,which are considered in readmission cases.

She also rapped the committee system at the college, which was criticized in an accreditation team report last fall.

There has been concern by some members of the board that the committee system is not representative of the "total collge community" and not an efficient operation, she said.

She called for a review of the committee system, and suggested that when recommendations come to the board, they include minority opinion.

Mrs. Deedy also pointed out a story in the Independent-Journal which told of the social studies department calling for an election in September on replacing the department head, Robert Becklund.

REMOVAL RUMOR

Teachers in the department reportedly called for Becklund,s removal because of "dissatisfaction over leniency with which courses that have traditional content have been permitted to be taught without any content whatever."

Mrs. Deedy said she hoped other departments will "seek to correct any wrongs that have developed."

There was no comment on Mrs. Deedy's remarks from other trustees, as she had to leave immediately after making them, reportedly because of a back ailment .

Five Students Receive YMCA Board Spots

One college and four high school students have been elected to membership on the board of managers of the Young Mens' Christian Association in Marin County.

The five young people — the youths elected to the board in the 21-year history of the local branch — will plan YMCA programs for children and youth, executive director Martin N. Hanzlick announced.

The new managers are: Dee Politi of San Anselmo, College of Marin freshman; Pandy Arbo of Kentfield, San Rafael High School junior; James Hasik of Novato, Novato High School senior; Marti Melville, Terra Linda High School senior and Steve Jensen of San Anselmo, Sir Francis Drake High School junior.

Elected to the executive cabinet were: Peter Treanor, chairman; Mrs. Samuel G. Crowell and Paul Hartman Jr., all of San Rafael.

Purse Stolen

A purse containing four credit cards and $2.50 cash was stolen Tuesday from La Casa Restaurant, 903 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, police said yesterday. The purse belonged to Delgene Lienenbrink, 228 Railroad Avenue, Woodacre, a waitress at the restaurant.

College Trustees Reach Impasse Of Granting Of Six Sabbaticals

Marin Junior College District trustees reached an impasse last night on granting sabbatical leaves, amid debate on cost and priorities in light of a financial squeeze.

Faculty members contended that the leaves were a contract inducement that should be honored, and delay in granting them could wreck long thought-out plans.

Supt.-President John A. Grasham recommended that six leaves be granted at an additional cost to the district of $34,871 during the next college year.

Trustee Harry J. Moore, who wanted to consider the expense in relation to the entire budget, moved that action on sabbaticals be delayed one month.

Trustees deadlocked 2-2 on the MOTION WITH Moore and Elizabeth M. Deedy backing it and Robert E. Rogers and Robert E. Oliver opposing it. Trustees Theodore C. Wellman, Donald K. Felt and Charles W. Gray were absent.

Oliver moved that the leaves be granted and the board consider cutting the additional costs by reducing class schedules or replacements. There was no second.

Mrs. Deedy said she felt apprehensive in view of the financial plight of the district. "I will not vote for sabbaticals when I don't have the total budget before me," Mrs. Deedy said.

Samuel Schwartz, political science instructor and one of the six recommended for a leave, said the staff has consistently worked to "save this district money."

Under present policy, sabbaticals are limited to four per cent of the total faculty and those on leave receive 60 per cent of their salary.

Grasham pointed out that the sabbatical leave recommendation could be brought up at the board's next session, Feb. 19.

College To Proceed With $3 Million Library Plan

Marin Junior College District trustees last night approved preliminary plans for a $3 million library center, a two-story concrete structure to house a variety of activities.

The center will stand between Olney Hall and Corte Madera Creek, west of College Avenue, with the main entrance from the central mall area.

The library could house up to 75,000 volumes and seat more than 700 students, explained Joseph Feil of Corwin Booth and Associated Architects of San Francisco.

The library would be in the upper level along with study halls, faculty reading room and periodicals area.

The lower level would house the college bookstore, a data processing center including three classrooms, duplicating and mailing room, audio visual center and studio areas.

There also would be a mall between Olney Hall and the library center.

LAWSUIT — Heard from Supt.-President John A. Grasham that the suit against the district, filed by two out-of-state students who were denied admission to the college because they were not Marin residents, has attracted statewide interest among junior colleges because of its potential impact on residency requirements.

ADULT DEFINITION — Advocated elimination of the "defined adult category," in computing state apportionments, because it reduces apportionment to the district for students more than 21 years of age who enroll for less than 10 class hours per week. The district receives $643 for each full-time student and $125 for each "defined adult," and the board felt the system was a hardship for part-time students working their way through college.

LAND LEASE — Agreed to consider at its Feb. 19 session the possibility of leasing North Campus land near Novato on a short-term basis.

PART-TIME LIBRARIAN — Accepted the resignation of Cynthia Bennett as part-time librarian and authorized the hiring of Linda Stone to succeed her for the spring semester at a salary of $2,143.

Trustees Theodore C. Wellman, Charles W. Gray and Donald K. Felt were absent.

Suit Switched To Marin Court

A $250,000 damage suit for the death of Shirley Lee Sunke of Bel Marin Keys has been transferred to Marin Superior Court from San Francisco.

Mrs. Sunke's husband, William, and their six children are suing Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schonfeld, Sidney Schonfeld, Neville (Tex) Chillson, Continental Lodge, Inc., and the Pacheco Ranch for $250,000.

Mrs. Sunke was thrown from a horse at Pacheco Ranch, off Indian Valley Road near Novato, on Nov. 27, 1968. She died of head injuries the next morning at Marin General Hospital.

The suit alleges that the defendants should have known the horse given Mrs. Sunke was dangerous.

The suit was originally brought in San Francisco, but the defendants won a change of venue, claiming that all the defendants and the plaintiffs live in Marin.

Hearing Set

Preliminary hearing for Michael Edward Finn, 31, of no fixed address, on a charge of stealing a car Nov. 4 in San Rafael, was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for 10 a.m. March 3.

Bagley Is Most Expensive State Legislator

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California legislators charged taxpayers $2.6 million during 1969 for salaries and expenses that included trips to Mexico, Canada and Hawaii.

A survey of the state controller's disbursing records Thursday showed the average lawmaker was paid $22,300 last year in wages and expenses.

The basic salary for each of the 120 legislators is $16,000. They also receive a $25-a-day living allowance when in session and traveling on legislative business in California or elsewhere.

Additionally all lawmakers are supplied with a car and an oil company credit card which entitles them to unlimited purchases.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, totaled $24,980 in salary and expenses to lead all other colleagues in the most money received from the state.

Bagley, chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, traveled extensively during the between-session months for hearings on tax revision.

Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, dean of the lower house, collected the least amount, $20,002. Thomas was absent because of illness for extended periods last year.

Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, led upper house colleagues in salary and expenses paid with $24,464. Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, was low in the Senate, drawing $21,050.

Many legislators were authorized by the leadership in both houses to travel widely on official business. They criss-crossed the continent and visited neighboring nations.

Democratic Sens. Randolph Collier of Yreka and Alfred H. Song of Monterey Park collected $900 between them for a trip to Hawaii last April during Eastertime.

Their claim justified the trip by saying they attended an "interstate cooperation" meeting.

Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, submitted a claim for $177.20 and Sen. Lewis F. Sherman, R-Berkeley, claimed $236.20 for trips to La Paz, Mexico.

The lawmakers attended a meeting of the Commission of the Californias held last October in Baja California.

A contingent of California legislators attended a meeting last November of the National Conference of Legislative Leaders in Atlanta, Ga., costing taxpayers more than $6,000.

Claims filed with the controller from the upper house were by Sens. Clair W. Burgener, R-San Diego; Robert S. Stevens, R-Los Angeles; Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach; George Moscone, D-San Francisco, and GOP Senate President Pro Tempore Howard Way of Exeter.

Chairman John F. Foran of the Assembly Transportation Committee, ran up a $702.15 expense tab during September. The San Francisco Democrat took a first-hand look at transit systems in Washington, D.C., and Chicago.

Their living expenses were: Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, $374.75; Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, $375; Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, $427; and Sherman, $375.

The quartet also ran up $1,886 in air fares, which was paid for by taxpayers.

Assemblymen Jack Fenton, D-Montebello, and James Hayes, R-Long Beach, claimed and were refunded $470.86 and $466.38 apiece for attending a New Jersey conference on medmen are attorneys in private cal malpractice insurance. Both life.

Bill For State Auto Insurance

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A Democratic Assemblyman wants to give the state the opportunity to offer automobile liability insurance at chapter rates than insurance sold by private companies.

Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr. of San Francisco Thursday introduced a bill to prohibit the registration of any motor vehicle starting in 1972 unless it was insured either by the state or a private firm.

An aide said Brown wanted to put the state in the insurance business on the theory it could offer less expensive coverage and to "prevent the possibility of wholesale and capricious underwriting rules."

The bill would create a state automobile accident liability fund along with an administrative board of governors who would set rates. The fund would be self sufficient and nonprofit.

Mobile Home Plea Denied

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—The Sonoma County Planning Commission yesterday denied the request of Joseph Krsul for a single mobile home at 9239 old Redwood Highway, Cotati.

The commission said the mobile home would not be compatible with the area and that spot zoning should be avoided.

Willow Creek Properties, Inc., withdrew its request to rezone ten acres on old Redwood Highway at North McDowell Boulevard, near Petaluma, from agricultural to commercial. The firm had planned a department store and restaurant.

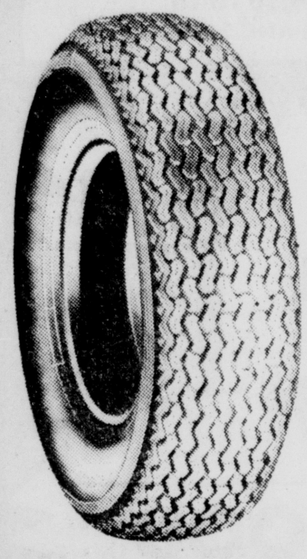
PRICE TIRE SALE



Things are a little tight I guess. The dollar is getting smaller and it just seems that our incomes don't buy as much as they did just a short time ago. I know I see a few more casseroles on my table. CAIN'S usually advertises the Top-of-the-Line Tires—we cut the price on those—but in these times it occurs to me there must be a lot of people not buying the best-regardless of the deal.

The thing is these people still want quality and safety and a bargain. Here's some of those!!!

Employee's Shots Crack Reflector

FORT DAVIS, Tex. (AP) — An employe of the McDonald Observatory used a 9mm pistol to fire seven shots at a huge million-dollar reflective mirror at the observatory Thursday night, the Jeff Davis County sheriff said. The amount of damage to the reflector was uncertain.

The sheriff, W.B. Medley, said the employe who shot the mirror "was just plain drunk." The university spokesman said the man, identified as Jack Hyde, a technician, was "under the influence of extreme personal depression."

Sheriff Medley said Hyde "completely destroyed the telescope. It was ruined."

On the other hand, Dr. Harlan Smith, director of McDonald and chairman of the University of Texas astronomy department, said in Austin, "There is trifling surface damage and (it) will not noticeably degrade the future performance of the telescope. We probably will use it again tonight.

At Fort Davis, in Far West Texas, the sheriff and McDonald observatory personnel went into conference in midmorning at the courthouse. A sheriff's office spokesman said observatory officials at the conference indicated there was considerable damage. "They said they will have to call in a special team of opticians and other experts to assess the exact damage," the spokesman said.

Ballot Bussing Issue Snagged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A proposal to have San Francisco voters express an opinion on the busing of school children may require signatures of more than four supervisors to get on the ballot.

The city attorney's office noted Thursday that a third of the board could place a matter on the ballot in the case of a general election, but that this June's would be a special election and a direct primary.

In the case of such an election, a majority vote by the 12 supervisors may be necessary, lawyers said.

Six supervisors said Wednesday they would ask a policy statement from voters on whether they approved of buses as a means of achieving racial integration. Since then one has changed his mind.

Slain Union Leader's Son Tells Of Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five days before he was beaten at a rally, word was sent down from United Mine Workers headquarters "to discipline Jock Yablonski," a Senate group investigating the union has been told.

Joseph A. Yablonski Jr. told a Senate labor subcommittee Thursday the beating at a union rally in Springfield, Ill., was one of the first indications of the "reign of terror" that enveloped his late father's campaign for the union presidency and still haunts his family and supporters.

"I now go to sleep at night with a loaded pistol under my pillow," he said.

Yablonski, who unsuccessfully challenged incumbent UMW President A. W. "Tony" Boyle in the union's Dec. 9 election, was found shot to death with his wife and daughter at their Clarksville, Pa., home Jan. 4.

Three men, Paul Eugene Gilly, Aubran Wayne Martin and Claude Edward Vealey, have been charged in a Pennsylvania court with murder in the Yablonski deaths. Gilly's wife, Annette Lucy Gilly, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Cleveland Thursday and charged with interfering with the rights of a union member by force or violence, obstruction of justice and conspiring with others to interfere with a union member's rights by force or violence.

The slain unionist's son said his father accused Boyle of "playing Russian roulette with UMW pension funds" shortly after Boyle became a trustee of the union's welfare and retirement fund June 13.

Within days, Yablonski said, "word went down from Boyle to discipline Jock Yablonski, and don't worry how rough you are about it."

"Five days later, in Springfield, Ill., my father was beat up," he said.

Yablonski forces furnished the FBI with names of persons who attended the meeting and asked for an investigation, he said. At the same time, they requested FBI protection.

Wife Of Yablonski Murder Suspect Named Conspirator

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Annette Gilly, 29, a slender blonde, has been named by a federal grand jury as a fourth conspirator in an alleged murder-for-hire plot to kill Joseph Yablonski.

Mrs. Gilly, whose husband, Paul, 36, also is charged in the case, was to be arraigned today. Her attorney, Gerald S. Gold, said he would seek a reduction of her $250,000 bond.

The grand jury, which was expected to conclude its second week of hearings today, earlier indicted Gilly along with Claude E. Vealey, 26, and Aubran W. Martin, 21, on the conspiracy charges. All are from Cleveland.

The three men also face murder charges in Washington County, Pa., where Yablonski, 59, a United Mine Workers union executive board member, his wife Margaret, 57, and daughter, Charlotte Joanne, 25, were found fatally shot in their Clarksville home Jan. 5.

The indictment Thursday charged that Mrs. Gilly and her house-painter husband had joint control of a murder fund from which Vealey and Martin were paid and that she helped buy the murder weapon.

Mexico City has 29 daily newspapers, according to the National Graphic Arts Industry Chamber.

While spelling out details of the alleged plot, the grand jury has not said where the money came from.

Yablonski ran for UMW president against incumbent W. A. "Tony" Boyle but was defeated in a bitterly contested election Dec. 9.

Nixon, Team In Chicago For Session

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon and his Cabinet committee on environmental problems took a look at an innovative sewage plant today after viewing a sign saying "sewage 10 cents a glass" and getting a warm welcome on a chilly, windblown suburban airport.

The sign elicited a chuckle from the President at the Schaumberg Airport where, hatless and coatless, he plunged into a cheering crowd of 4,000, exchanging greetings and handshakes.

He spoke to the crowd briefly before he and his entourage, including governors of four states bordering Lake Michigan with whom he had an afternoon meeting scheduled, proceeded by car to the suburban Hanover Park sewage treatment plant that turns raw sewage into 99 per cent pure water.

Acknowledging the presence in the crowd of the shivering musicians of the Lake Park High School band, Nixon said: "I am here to work with the governors for the younger generation . . . to see that it has a proper environment in the future."

He said "key decisions" would be made at his conference with the governors in the afternoon.

In Assam, India, the men of the Khasi tribe spend the day lolling in the sun and tending the baby while their wives do most of the work, own the property and run family affairs.

Emotions Run High At Span District Talkathon

Golden Gate Commuters association and Homeowners Improvement Association of San Rafael Meadows. Also, the Sausalito Artists and Merchants filed a written statement urging the bridge become toll-free and made a part of the state highway system.

The Golden Gate Commuters Association was formed in December after commuter tolls were hiked without any public notice that the bridge board would take such action. Its criticism was, that occasional users of the bridge, not commuters, should pay for transit.

Also speaking were several bridge directors, although they were silent until most of the crowd had gone. Twelve of the 18 directors attended.

Responding to many calls from the audience that rail rapid transit was needed, chairman Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere said that the directors were aware of this, but that buses and ferries would buy time to get rapid transit.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring estimated that rapid transit would take nine years to build-after bonds could be voted and sold. But meanwhile traffic is leaping 5 to 7 per cent a year, he said.

Kaiser Engineers' long-range transit plan for the district, now being drawn, will consider "any and everything that will work," Luehring said. He noted that a second deck for bus transit would cost about $50 million, compared with $495 million for a rail tube under the bay "just shore to shore."

Kaiser also will consider light-weight trains for the bridge, he said. Bridge engineers concluded eight years ago that the cars planned for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District would be too heavy for the bridge.

Luehring's attempt to read a four-page explanation of what the district was doing to get into transit was drowned out by shouts of "we can read it."

Mrs. John West of San Anselmo, chairman of the Marin Conservation League's transit committee, defended the toll hike as needed to cut air pollution by discouraging automobile commuters and to accumulate funds for development of transit.

She said that the league's board of directors also voted to urge the district to reverse its vote to hike Greyhound bus tolls to encourage transit patronage, and to delete or defer the proposed $3 million southbound roadway project at the toll plaza. The money "is more urgently needed for transit," she said.

Harold Gregg, president of the league, reported that in December about 2,193,000 noncommuters had used the bridge, and 1,552,000 commuters had used it.

He urged full development of a water transportation system, fed by an intracounty bus system, to preserve the county's environment.

Margaret Azevedo, chairman of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, said the council had urged higher tolls five years ago to finance transit, and that MCCA had been working on the problem of transportation for seven years, "longer than any other group here.

"So we don't take very kindly to groups that want to hamper or even wreck our chances for a good, effective transit system this year," she said in a pointed reference to the Golden Gate Commuters Association.

Martin L. Strauss of Fairfax, association founder, argued that Marin voters should have a chance to ballot on any proposed transit system. Transit should be paid for by hiking tolls for occasional bridge users to 75 cents for each round trip, he said.

Director Lowell Edington of Napa County later noted that 78 per cent of toll revenue comes from noncommuters, arguing that meant that would pay the bulk of the cost of transit, "but won't get any of the benefit."

Paul N. Brand, speaking for the San Anselmo Homes Association, urged the district to shift to transit money earmarked for both the $3 million southbound roadway and the $6 million owed the state for the second Waldo Tunnel. But the association took no position on the commute toll, he said, pending a vote by the full membership.

San Anselmo City Councilman Kenneth Anderon argued that it was cheaper to finance transit by cash tolls than by bonds, which now are very costly because of high interest rates.

Alan Chase of Mill Valley interrupted the meeting after Anderson spoke, claiming he had heard enough favorable comment. But he was gaveled down by Sheeks, who told Chase "this is one meeting you won't take over." Chase sat down as a uniformed bridge lieutenant approached the lectern.

After the meeting, a bridge director conceded he was relieved Chase had sat down, since bridge officers had no authority off district property.

Chase, speaking later, cited Luehring as "the greatest deadpan comedian since Buster Keaton" for showing slides of bus and ferry that Luehring said were not the ones the district was about to buy.

Jack Adams, against a background of boos, insisted that while the bridge district "may not be the most perfect instrument, it's the only tool we have, and without it we're not going to have any relief in this county."

Several speakers called for immediate development of rail transit, but were silent on how it should be financed.

Herman Hein of San Anselmo, a landscape architect, proposed that the bridge district issue tickets good for both automobile and transit users--but with a new twist. He suggested that automobile commuters pick up passengers at bus stops, collect the tickets themselves, and then redeem them from the district for cash.

Sheeks praised Hein's proposal, and asked Luehring to consider it. Several directors nodded in agreement.

Only John Crane of Mill Valley questioned whether Marin ever should be served by rail transit. "How good a system do we want?" he asked, adding, "I don't think we want it to be too good if we are to keep our little piece of green."

Taking no position was the Marin Ecology Center, but it offered to act as an information clearing house on forming car pools, and urged commuters seeking pools to write it at 17 Madrona Street, Mill Valley.

Dutch Hospitals

UTRECHT, Holland (UPI)—One-tenth of Holland's population occupies the nation's hospital beds each year, Prof. T. M. de Vreeze, president of the National Hospital Council, said in a speech. De Vreeze said that on a per capita basis each Dutchman spends a few days a year in a hospital. Holland's hospitals have 85,000 workers, or 1.36 per bed, he said.

Sonoma State Professor In Sausalito Council Race

Stephen Fraser, Professor of Government at Sonoma State College and Executive Director of the Sausalito Coalition for an Open Waterfront, has announced he will seek election to the Sausalito City Council April 14.

Fraser, a consultant for a San Francisco urban planning firm and the Sonoma State representative to the Sonoma County Planning Commission, is running for the council seat on a 21-point program of environmental improvement.

If elected, he has promised to work for development of parks and open space on the Sausalito waterfront, federal, state and local funding to eliminate traffic congestion in Sausalito and establishment of a parking authority to acquire parking facilities north of the downtown area of the city.

He is also seeking traffic restrictions in the city's business district, elimination of parking on central Bridgeway, anti-litter and sign ordinances for the downtown area and more landscaping in the business district.

Fraser's other goals include increased police foot patrols in central Sausalito, establishment of a Richardson Bay Planning Commission, a waterfront youth center, day care center for children of working parents and promotion of businesses that serve Sausalito residents.

Fraser said he would also work for programs of tax relief for property owners (especially the elderly) in Sausalito.

Before joining the Sonoma State College faculty, he taught at San Francisco State College. He holds a doctoral degree from Johns Hopkins University.

A San Francisco couple was injured yesterday when their car was struck by an auto attempting to avoid a truck on northbound Highway 101 near Highway 17 in San Rafael.

Vincent Gamba, 56, and his wife, Norene, 54, said they would see a private physician for treatment of minor injuries.

The California Highway Patrol said their auto was struck at 11:40 a.m. by a car driven by Marilu Portugal, 29, of 109 Gregory Avenue, Fairfax.

Werber Weeps At Boyhood Story

By WAT TAKESHITA

Frank N. Werber, former manager of the Kingston Trio, wept openly in Marin Superior Court yesterday as Dr. Alan Wilson Watts, specialist in Asian philosophies, came to his defense.

With Watts on the stand before Judge E. Warren McGuire, attorney Terence Hallinan retraced Werber's painful boyhood experiences in a Nazi concentration camp, his escape to France and later to the United States to reach success in the entertainment field, and finally his attaining religious experience through marijuana.

Like a pastor delivering a sermon, Hallinan intoned:

"Only through marijuana is he able to attain the religious state . . . When the spirit of marijuana enters his body and takes over, he loses fear of the future and concerns of the past. He loses all hostility and fear, and it is easy for him to love others."

"In your opinion," Hallinan asked Watts, "is he undergoing a religious experience of which marijuana is an essential part?"

"Yes," replied Watts. "This is without any question the description of a mystical experience."

Watts testified that religious experience includes a broad spectrum covering everything from the use of marijuana by individuals to group chanting by Mexican Indians using peyote for inspiration. The philospher-author even tossed in a high-pitched demonstration of the peyote chant to illustrate his testimony.

Hallinan contended that marijuana is Werber's only vehicle to religious experience and therefore should be exempt from state law against marijuana just as wine used in the eucharist was exempt during Prohibition.

Under cross examination by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, Watts acknowledged that he had tried "all kinds of psychedelic drugs" including LSD, peyote marijuana, Mexican mushrooms and even morning glory seeds. But these were all in connection with investigating the psychology of religions, added Dr. Watts.

He also testified he knew former Harvard professor Timothy Leary. But when Bales began asking Watts whether this was the same Dr. Leary who was convicted of marijuana possession in Texas and was accused of a similar offense in Southern California, defense lawyer Hallinan leaped in with a loud objection, which the judge sustained.

Watts was the last witness for the defense. Preceding him was Roman Catholic priest Timothy Conway of Berkeley, who testified that marijuana is one of many "vehicles" used for religious experience. Father Conway said he talked to Werber for about two hours 10 days ago.

Under cross-examination by Bales, Father Conway agreed that there are many and varied vehicles to attain religious experience, but "Frank considers marijuana the best vehicle."

Yesterday afternoon, with the jury dismissed until next Wednesday, Bales and Hallinan argued the legal question: Whether Werber's use of marijuana has constitutional immunity on religious grounds.

McGuire announced he will meet the two attorneys again at 10 a.m. Tuesday to decide whether the constitutional immunity argument has merit. If the judge decides no such immunity exists, then Werber's main defense argument crumbles.

If the judge rules that the religious argument may be considered by the jury, then Werber has a chance when he faces the 10-women, two-men panel again on Wednesday at 10 a.m.

Arguing for religious exemption, Hallinan cited legal decisions which upheld the use of peyote as part of the religious services of the Native American Church. "You can't say peyote can be exempted as an aid to religious experience while marijuana cannot" declared Hallinan. "Peyote is even stronger than marijuana!!"

Bales countered with other legal decisions in which marijuana users were convicted despite their argument that it is needed for religious purposes. "The Constitution protects religions but not religious acts which conflict with current laws," said Bales.

TV Policy On Cultural Idea Backed

Local television programming as a means of promoting cultural and civic events received support last night from the Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission.

Chairman Nancy Thiesfeld said that Storer Cable Television Co. is considering bringing local programming to the city and may develop a plan by next month.

Mrs. Thiesfeld said the commission may take the primary responsibility if it becomes available. She said programming would probably begin with broadcasts of city council meetings and later be extended to sports events, musical and dramatic programs in schools and Sonoma State College and community events such as Founders Day celebrations and Miss Rohnert Park beauty pageant.

The Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission also:

NONPROFIT—Heard a report that all necessary signatures have been gathered for the incorporation papers for the commission and that the city attorney will be filing them with the state so that it can assume nonprofit status and accept tax deductible gifts and donations.

SYMPHONY — Agreed to pay $93 for buses to transport sixth grade students from the Cotati School District to the Santa Rosa Junior Symphony performance on March 17.

BALLET — Heard a report from Anita Kane that she is starting a ballet class under the recreation program and may later ask commission assistance in setting up recitals.

RESIGNATION—Received the resignation of Commissioner Jason Seale, who had been appointed three months ago, but cannot attend regular meetings because of the press of business.

314 Confiscated Guns Given Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — From the beginning of 1967 through last Oct. 2, a total of 314 confiscated guns have been distributed by San Francisco judges, the city Crime Committee says.

Committeemen, checking because of a gun scandal in another city, said Thursday that judges had promised more care in their distribution.

Cease-Fire Action Count: 91 Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — The 24-hour allied cease-fire for Tet ended tonight, and preliminary reports said there were at least 91 enemy attacks in which 117 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, three Americans and four South Vietnamese were killed.

The allied cease-fire for the festival of the lunar new year expired at 5 a.m. EST. A four-day cease-fire declared by the Viet Cong ends at 6 p.m. Sunday EST.

The heaviest fighting was reported midway through the allied cease-fire six miles south of the demilitarized zone. Field reports said 45 North Vietnamese were killed, most of them by allied artillery and mortar fire.

South Vietnamese headquarters also reported an attack on a Special Forces camp at Ba Xoai, in the Sevem Mountains area of the western Mekong Delta near the Cambodian border. First reports said two Vietnamese in the camp were wounded, but there was no word of enemy casualties.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese said they suspended combat operations for the cease-fire, but they kept up aerial reconnaissance and security patrols on the ground.

The U.S. Command announced today that the U.S. Army will asume over-all command from the Marines March 9 of U.S. forces in the five northern provinces of South Vietnam, called the 1st Corps Zone.

The change will put the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force, located at Da Nang, under the Army's 24th Corps, now headquartered at Phu Bai, near Hue.

There are indications however, that the move may foreshadow the pulling out of all remaining U.S. Marine forces from Vietnam within a few months as part of President Nixon's withdrawal program.

The new commander for the area will be Army Lt. Gen. Melvin L. Zais, who heads 24th Corps and who commanded the 101st Airborne Division during the Battle of Hamburger Hill last May.

Fair-Marin Agrees To Sever All Connections

Fair-Marin, spurned by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, agreed last night to bow gracefully out of all official connection with the new auditorium and fairgrounds.

At the same time, directors of Fair-Marin served notice it will continue as a private, non-profit corporation to act as catalyst for arts, cultural and recreational organizations in the county.

President Harold Stockstad and directors Richard H. Miehling, Lotte McWatters, and Dudley F. Miller attended the meeting last night at the Fair-Marin office in Northgate Industrial Park. Of the three others, Stephen Zellerbach and W. P. (Doc) Duhamel are away on a trip, and Marilyn Miskimen has resigned.

Stockstad announced that the county administrator had informed Leon G. Kalimos, executive director of Fair-Marin, that the county does not want Fair-Marin to do any more work on the Fair-Marin budget for next year or the 1971 fair.

Kalimos and secretary Anna Johnson, therefore, have no work to do and should be released, said Stockstad.

On a motion by Smith and a second by Mrs. McWatters, directors voted unanimously to release Kalimos and Mrs. Johnson in one month, as of March 6, and to notify supervisors that the two employees would be released before then if the county wants to hire them.

Last Tuesday, supervisors decided they want background information on Kalimos and on Marcelle McCoy, manager of the Marin County Fair, before deciding who should manage the new auditorium and fair.

On a motion by Smith and a second by Miehling, directors recommended this general policy on fees for auditorium use:

Up to 25 per cent of all bookings in the auditorium, including weekend booking, should be reserved for local, nonprofit organizations as opposed to commercial profesional groups. Fees for local groups should be based on a percentage, about 20 per cent, of gross revenue from each performance. Public service events, such as graduations, where no admission is charged, should use the auditorium free.

Kalimos had recommended that fees for local groups should range from $75 for mid-week use of the exhibition area to $225 for use of the entire auditorium on a Friday, Saturday or Sunday.

This, said Stockstad, seems too high because campfire girls might sponsor a fund-raiser that would gros only $100 or $150.

The Fair-Marin Board Of Directors Also:

GRAND OPENING—Urged supervisors to allow the Marin Symphony to open the new auditorium, as promised by Fair-Marin directors and by the previous board of supervisors. John F. McInnis, chairman of the supervisors, declared last month he wants the auditorium opened by a performance of national stature."

BYLAWS CHANGE—Asked Miller to contact the county counsel to see if Fair-Marin can change its bylaws so that it can function as a private corporation, independent of the county. Presently, all actions by the directors, such as filling vacancies on the board, must be with approval by the county supervisors.

NEXT MEETING—Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. Feb. 23 at 45 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park. Stockstad said the main topic will be to plan for a future building at the Civic Center to handle activities for such groups as the senior citizens and museum organizations.

Regulation Meeting For Fire District

The Kentfield Fire District board will hold another special meeting to discuss department regulations at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the fire station, Chief Kenneth T. Kamp said today.

The board reviewed the regulations at a special meeting Monday but reached no decision, Kamp reported. The rules cover such things as job descriptions, uniform regulations, clothing allowances, and department administration.

Warrant Issued

A warrant of arrest was issued Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court for Renatal Brogioli of San Anselmo when she failed to appear for arraignment on suspicion of signing another's name to a credit card on three occasions last July and August in San Rafael.

Neighbors Object To Boys' School

Irate objections to increased noise and traffic has contributed to postponing the opening of a private school for boys in Kentfield until next year.

Disputed is the establishing of Mount Tamalpais School for Boys, an affiliate of the Katharine Branson School in Ross, on the Dominican Fathers Novitiate property at 217 Laurel Grove Avenue.

More than 50 neighbors have signed a petition opposing the school because it would increase noise and traffic in the quiet neighborhood, Louis F Hawkins of 4 Hanken Drive reported.

The opponents also object to plans for a gymnasium, amphitheater and athletic field, he added.

Neighbors met with school officials at the Branson campus on Jan. 26 and last Monday to thrash out their differences, Hawkins said. He said at last Monday's meeting about 20 opposed the plans and another 10 to 20 persons favored the school.

A group of opponents was slated to meet last night at the home of Howard A. Leif, 201 Laurel Grove Avenue, to possibly form a neighborhood association against the school, Hawkins said.

Those against the plans claim the use permit given by the county to the Dominican Fathers in 1947 for the building of a novitiate in an area zoned single family does not apply to a boys' school, Hawkins explained. They feel the school could change the character of the neighborhood, he added.

Opponents have notified school authorities, they will file a lawsuit to halt plans for the school, Hawkins said.

The school will not open this year, but as originally planned in September 1971, reported Branson headmaster H. Leonard Richardson. Reasons for the delay are to allow necessary time to prepare curriculum, plan space, hire teachers as well as the neighborhood objections, he added.

Plans for the school are continuing, Richardson said, with trustees seeking an architect.

Trustees are also working to explain inaccurate rumors circulating about the school to neighbors, he added.

Rumors have 500 hot-rod and motorcycle riding boys attending the school, Richardson said. Plans call for a total enrollment of 150 students, he noted.

Another false rumor has a bleacher being built in the athletic field when bleachers have never been considered for the field. Another sore point, night lighting in the same field, has never been contemplated either, Richardson said.

Neighbors on the south side of the novitiate have expressed vocal hard-core oposition to the school, Richardson said. Directors of the Del Mesa Property Owners Association on the north side have voiced no objection, he added.

Financial support has "been pouring in" Richardson noted and 211 inquiries about registration have been received from across the country.

DDT Banned

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Agriculture Minister Douglas J. Carter today banned the use of DDT on all farmlands in New Zealand after June 30. Carter said the government feared contamination of the country's meat and dairy products, two of its most important exports.

Jail Term Given For Stolen Property

Larry English Hamilton 25, of Mill Valley, was sentenced in Marin Superior Court Wednesday to serve weekends in Marin County Jail for 60 days for receiving stolen property.

Hamilton was also given a suspended 9-month jail sentence and placed on a year's summary probation. He pleaded guilty in December to receiving a stolen motorcycle in 1967.

Bob's Of Marin In Corte Madera Slated For Big Operation Change

There is a complete change in the restaurant and bar operation at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera—and it will no longer be known as Bob's of Marin.

The Wyman F. (Bob) Campbell Estate has given up its sub-lease from the Gene Compton Corp., and the latter, which holds the master lease, has taken over control. Some remodeling is going on and, last I heard, a reopening under the name of Edgewater Inn Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge was being planned for next Tuesday.

All this has nothing to do with the Edgewater Inn Motel, which is being operated by a subsidiary of the Hyatt Corp.

Food service will be under the supervision of Frits Verburg, who owned the former L'Europe Restaurant on the San Rafael Miracle Mile before selling out to the Normandie. Also in the management picture is George Loizos, manager of the Pepperwood in the Red Hil Shopping Center, San Anselmo — another Compton-owned restaurant.

Complete information on the proposed new operation in Corte Madera was not available at this writing, but no doubt the coffee shop will continue more or less as before, serving breakfast, lunch and dinner. And I understand the dining room will be put to good use to try to catch more of the family trade. I imagine Frits will have some new ideas for the menu.

Former Bob's of Marin manager Frank de Natale has not made any definite plans for his future, but I shouldn't be surprised to hear of a new connection shortly, for he is a capable restaurant man.

MEANWHILE, song stylist and pianist Dori Green, who has been at Bob's, has moved across the highway to Gregory's on Paradise Drive. You'll find her at the new piano bar there Wednesday through Saturday nights. Trust John Napoli, also a musician, to pick up talent like this fast.

With any kind of good weather it's worth the ride to visit there and have dinner, which is priced from $3.25 to $6.95, with Carl Holm as the chef. Some say they can make it in two hours driving from San Rafael, but it took us two and a half hours for the trip last weekend.

Go up through Calistoga, Middletown and the Cobb Mountain resort area to Buckingham Golf and Country Club on Soda Bay. While lake waters are high, there is no road trouble along this route. Franchini's Tee House has a commanding view of the entire golf course.

DORI GREEN
Now at Gregory's

You may be surprised to find some of your old friends in this area. Among several former Marinites, last week we ran into Ted Weitzel (of the Lady Baltimore Bakery Weitzels), who now lives near Hoberg's — and John Harlan, former owner of the Sausalito News, now editor of the Lake County Record-Bee. There are numerous others who have summer homes there but live in Marin.

ON THE CALENDAR for next week:

Wednesday — The Windjammer in Tiburon reopens after its annual vacation.

Thursday — Lin Fa Gardens, Northgate Shopping Center has its sixth anniversary celebration, with Polynesian entertainment in the dining room area. Performances are at 8:30 and 10 p.m.

Saturday, Feb. 14— Holiday Inn, Terra Linda is holding a Bridal Open House from 1 to 3 p.m. Fashions, flowers and wedding things. Music and refreshments and honeymoon prize.

ONE OF THE THREE big family restaurants at Occidental, Sonoma County — Fiori's Italian Restaurant — has changed hands after being in the Fiori family over 30 years.

It has been purchased by two young couples — Robert and Marilou Ranch and Tony and Irene Bonoaccorso. I believe they have been teaching school. Plans are to continue the same type of family operation as in the past and there probably will be few changes.

PIANO ENTERTAINMENT in Tiburon Lodge's cocktail lounge (now called the Mansail Lounge) is provided by Ed Miller on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

AT THE TIDES on Coast Highway 1, Bodega, the rebuilding of the restaurant, which has been under way for some months, is expected to be completed in another 60 days. It will have three times the space of present facilities.

AND DOWN in Sausalito, The Alta Mira Hotel has undergone a facelifting. That exterior Sonoma stone work was done by Charlie Chan of San Francisco.

PATERSON'S Scotch pub in Sausalito came in for some excitement last week when cameramen and actors swooped in for some local flashback scenes to go into a forthcoming television play on San Quentin. Channel 4 will show it.

THE BLUE BONNET COFFEE SHOP at 357 Third Street, San Rafael, has been sold by Larry Hice and his associates to Andrew Depoli of Tamalpais Valley. A former San Francisco restaurant man, he and his wife Lucille will continue to operate it as the Blue Bonnet.

Transaction was handled through Harry Abras of Don Timmer Realty and Verne Wilson of Home and Land Co.

IN THE CITY OF SONOMA, both Au Relais Restaurant and the Swiss Hotel are closed both Mondays and Tuesdays during the winter season. Au Relais may start serving on Tuesdays again sometime in March, but I am not sure about the Swiss Hotel changing back.

Incidentally, Au Relais features a Spanish paella on its dinners — but you'll have to order this in advance.

GOBBLERS ROOSTAURANT at Sebastopol is now closed for the winter season until March 14. On reopening there will be some menu changes, though you can look for its smoked meats and turkey to be featured. And preparations are being made to handle groups and parties.

Guidelines To Pry News Sources Set

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California Freedom of Information Committee has announced a set of voluntary guidelines for newspapers and broadcasters designed to open news source doors the committee chairman says "are being shut in our face."

The guidelines set forth ways in which newspapers and broadcasters can report crime news and at the same time cooperate with courts to assure the accused a fair trial.

They were drafted over a period of 20 months by representatives of the news media and the legal profesion. The committee approved them unanimously at a meeting here Thursday.

Dick Fogel of the Oakland Tribune, head of the group which developed the guidelines, told the committee, "The objective has been to come up with some sensible alternatives to the American Bar Asociation's Reardon rules."

"With the various restrictive orders and attempts at concealment which have abounded since the Reardon Report," Fogel said, "it would seem that this approach is well worth a try."

Giorgi To Run For Supervisor

Albert J. Giorgi, a Healdsburg councilman, has announced he will challenge incumbent Arthur R. Rounavaara for Sonoma County Supervisor from the fourth district in the June 2 primary.

Giorgi served as chief of police in Healdsburg for 20 years before his retirement in 1968 and election to the council. Ruonavaara, who said he will seek reelection, is in his second four-year term representing Northern Sonoma.

A lifelong resident of Healdsburg, Giorgi, 59, works part time as a bailiff in the Northern Sonoma County Municipal Court.

Marinite Enters Innocent Plea

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—A Tiburon man has pleaded innocent in San Francisco Superior Court to a charge of possession of stolen property, in connection with the sale of stolen tires from the city-owned garage where he worked as a mechanic.

Howard Gettle, 48, of 271 Cecelia Way, was arrested on the charge last September after police said an undercover patrolman purchased stolen tires from Gettle.

His case was severed from that of James C. Duda, a truck driver, who was charged with grand theft for allegedly supplying stolen tires to Gettle.

Gettle had been employed by the City of San Francisco as a mechanic for four years.

Peninsula Court Officers Picked

A. Walter Olson has been elected president of the Tiburon Peninsula club, succeeding Alan W. Cundall.

Other officers chosen were Paul J. Gebo, vice president; Robert Brunstetter, secretary; and Frank Holzinger, treasurer.

Ross Psychiatrist Will Head Discussion

"Mental Health and the Law" will be discussed by Dr. William J. Lamers Jr., staff psychiatrist at Ross General Hospital at the dinner meeting of the Marin County Legal Secretaries Association on Feb. 11 at 6:30 p.m. at the San Rafael Holiday Inn.

Batten Leaps Into Tiburon Council Race

Donald L. Batten, recently re elected to his third term as president of the Belveron Home owners Association, has entered the race for the Tiburon City Council.

Batten, 48, an engineer with KIPX Television, has filed nomination papers at city hall.

The seats of Mayor Branwell D. Fanning, William R. Bremer and Thomas E. Drohan are up at the April 14 election. Drohan has announced he will not seek reelection and neither Fanning nor Bremer has filed candidacy papers yet.

Batten said drainage problems are crucial in Tiburon. "I would like to see the city fathers expedite some programs as soon as possible to give residents . . . some protection against any further flood threats . . , as well as some sort of assurance that future construction and developments will consider flood and drainage problems, as well as landslide problems before excavating and construction begins."

Batten said he also sought speedy creation of a bicycle paths program and attractive development of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property for this purpose.

Batten, a native of El Cerrito now living at 29 Mercury Avenue, has worked for KPIX since 1951, coming from KSFO Radio.

He is a member and past master of Occidental Lodge 22, Free and Accepted Masons, is public relations director of the California Bodies of the Scottish Rite in San Francisco, serves also as public information officer of the Grand Lodge of California and Hawaii, F & AM, and belongs to the Masonic Press Club of San Francisco, Press Club of San Francisco and the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee.

Two Killed In Apartment Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A five-alarm fire ripped through a four-story apartment building early today, killing two elderly women and injuring two firemen.

Fire Chief William Murray said the blaze started in the dwelling of one of the victims, who was identified as Lucia Isnardi, a woman in her 90's.

No cause was determined immediately for the fire which roared through the structure at 1915 California Street, near the Gough Street intersection.

The other victim was identified as Mrs. Lolita Hopper, who was in her 80s.

Junior High Plans Approved

The Petaluma Board of Education yesterday approved final plans for an addition to Rohnert Park Junior High School and applied for $467,411 in state aid to finance construction.

The plans, as outlined by architect Malcolm Reynolds, include six classrooms, a wood shop, an arts and crafts center, an instrumental music room and a mechanical drawing room.

He said the 16,125 square foot addition would permit enrollment to be increased from the present 890 to 1,100 students.

First grade students from Bel Aire School in Tiburon were guests of a bilingual first grade class at Commodore Stockton School in San Francisco yesterday for a preview of the Chinese New Year celebration. Mrs. Fred Rudow, first grade teacher from the Tiburon School, has lunch in a Chinatown restaurant with Mrs. Peter Chun and a group of first grade students from both schools.

Marin Women

A PLAY explaining the Chinese New Year customs was performed by the students at Commodore Stockton, who are immigrants from Hong Kong and who spoke no English when they visited the Tiburon school twice last year to use English in play with the children and to learn American Thanksgiving customs. Here Peter Lee and Norman Wong explain that this is the "Year of the Dog."

(Independent-Journal photos by Alfred Arn)

BELVEDERE FIRST grader, John Goff, right, was a little worried about just how to use the chop sticks but Homer Hom came to the rescue to demonstrate the technique. John had Won Ton soup, Cha siu bow (barbeque pork buns) and sweet and sour pork at a Chinatown restaurant.

TWO OF THE 49 first graders from the two schools who toured Chinatown streets yesterday peer into a shop window at the duck, squab and piles of tangarines and oranges shoppers were purchasing to celebrate the Chinese New Year which begins today. The two took an immediate liking to each other even though they could exchange few words. (See photo page 18.)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Most Working Girls Could Care Less About The Men At The Office

DEAR HELEN:

Reading your recent column about office parties, I thought I should let you know they are mostly a thing of the past, at least in the East. Even 20 years ago, when I first began work as a secretary, the trend was away from the Christmans party that excluded mates. Big business long ago learned about the headaches that arose from these get-togethers.

I have a hunch that the people who write letters about the hanky-panky at office parties are harking back to the old days and simply want to get a few of their lines in print.

Also, I get the impression from advice columns that many housewives who have spent no time in business think men and women workers devote half their time to running around desks after each other. 'Tain't so! Wheels of industry would stop altogether. What some of these women don't realize is that many working gals do not find their spouses irresistible. They couldn't care less.

So why don't stay-at-home wives just relax? — NUF SAID

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter gets mail from boys, even postcards, that are signed, "Love ya," or "Love and Peace" or something else with "love" in it.

I found her signing "Love Always" to a fellow she only knows slightly. When I remonstrated, she said I was a square — everybody loves everybody these days and its doesn't mean anything at all, because there is brotherly and sisterly love, didn't I know? Am I — BEHIND THE TIMES?

DEAR MR. BTT:

Yup. According to the kids, some kind of love is the sign-off, though they often start their letters with a simple "Mary," "Jack," or "June," leaving off the "Dear."

Not to worry. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I know this really isn't a problem, but it's a big worry to me.

For a long time my husband and I have tried to have a baby. Now, finally, I have skipped a month, and I think I may be pregnant. But I discover I'm so embarrassed about an examination that I'm afraid to see a doctor. I've only had one real physical check-up in my life, and I think I blushed all over.

My husband is so anxious to know for sure that he's urging me to make an appointment. Is there any way I could be positive (at this stage) that I'm going to have a baby without going through the torture of seeing a doctor? — BLUSHING ALREADY

DEAR B. A.:

There's no "home rabbit test" to determine early pregnancy. But here's a home remedy for "examination embarrassment:"

Choose a woman doctor, or if none is available, assure yourself that a nurse is always in the room at examination time. In eight months, you'll be so accustomed to that table you'll look back and laugh at your fears.

P.S. You aren't alone. Many young-marrieds blush all over at the thought of a "pelvic" — until they discover how routine and impersonal it is. — H.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen of organizations which are interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is now available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

LEARNING TO sing a Chinese song are left, Kent Fung and Bob van Epps who also watched a play explaining the customs of the seven-day celebration beginning the "Year of the Dog," 4668 on the lunar calendar. The Tiburon children took home little packages of traditional foods, reciprocating gifts of Thanksgiving and Christmas foods made by the Bel Aire School mothers last year. (More photos page 17). Co-ed Dorm For Honor Students

By LEE LINDER

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Men and women honor students are living in a Pennsylvania State University dorm and learning it's better for their brains.

"It proves that smart people can help other smart people get smarter," says Dr. Robert W. Frank Jr., an English professor who is the project's faculty representative.

Fourteen men and 55 women —volunteers whose grades are all A's and B's—participate in the experiment in intellectual togetherness which began last fall. It's family-style togetherness that includes eating, discussing, studying, socializing and entertaining.

There are frequent guest speakers at the coed dorm, with topics ranging from drugs to civil rights to environment. And there are informal student-faculty mixers which Frank says are "head-filling and mind-stretching."

The dorm residents have organized a new class on the history of Western music, for which they get credit. And they plan two other new courses to be taught by teachers of their choice: one on the Czechoslovak political situation and the other on art.

"It is an example of students running on their own, and in the right direction, for learning," Frank says. "We're enthused that it works, and we're going to continue it."

The men sleep on the top floor of Irvin Hall, a former woman's residence on Penn State's main campus of 25,000 students. The girls live on floors below.

"The coed dorm is an important facet of academic life," says Judi Friedman, 19, a broadcasting junior from Redding, Conn. "Other more formal areas in school activities are sometimes frustrating, and you end up learning less."

"The speakers, the courses, the activities are left to the students to work out themselves, and this freedom to act makes the program," Kittelberger says. "It's a great place to study. There's no racing around in the hallways, or men looking for girls, and vice versa."

Daniel Schuresko, 21, a math-

YWCA Sponsoring 'Learning With Your Child' Series In West Marin

A series of six weekly discussions entitled, "Learning with Your Child," sponsored by the Marin YWCA for West Marin parents whose pre-school children are participating in Creative Group Play, starts Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John Zimmerman, 6 Horse Drive, Bear Valley Road.

Mrs. Sooch Rannells, former director of Family Life Education of Family and Child Services, will be the discussion leader. Some of the topics to be covered, according to Mrs. Rannells, are aggression and discipline; fighting and quarreling, stubbornness, children and the facts of life, the development of the pre-school and school age child, and school age children, their peers and their school.

Mrs. Rannells will also lead a series of group discussions for the YWCA with sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls at the West Marin Elementary School on "Baby Sitting and Child Development."

BIKE AND TRIKE registration will be held tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Del Mar School, Tiburon. The Reed District Parent-Teacher Club is sponsor of the program. The one dollar fee registers a bike for two years. Funds raised will be used for books and school equipment.

Assisting Deputy Sheriff John Goff of Tiburon Police Department will be Mmes. P. Dunlap Smith, registration chairman; Lynn Carmen, Donald Loomis, William Davis, Russell Cash and Kenneth Hirsh.

THE DECORATIONS Guild of the Marin Art and Garden Center will hold its annual luncheon meeting at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the Caroline Livermore room in Ross.

Eugene Ostaggi, treasurer of the board of directors of the center, will speak and will be presented with a check for the center by the guild president, Mrs. William Andrews.

A short business meeting including election of officers will be held and new members will be introduced prior to the luncheon. Mrs. John W. Morrison is luncheon chairman, assisted by Mrs. George W. Strobe.

New members are Mrs. Jay Barker of Novato, Mrs. Philip Creighton of Larkspur, Dorothy Erthle and Mrs. Alfred West of San Anselmo, Evelyn Federline of Ross, Mrs. Charles French and Deborah Pentz of Greenbrae, Mrs. Herbert A. Heberling of Corte Madera, Mrs. Harry Irving of Nicasio, Eleanor Kerlin of Fairfax, Mrs. Donald Pederson of Woodacre and Mrs. Donald W. Sutton of Belvedere.

A VALENTINE theme will be featured at the annual tasting luncheon sponsored by the Novato Garden Club at noon Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

Mrs. Frank Baccaglio is chairman, Mrs. Maurice Deny, co-chairman, and Mrs. George Whitten, decorations chairman.

Mrs. Robert Farrell will be vocal soloist accompanied by Mrs. Lucille Hodges, pianist.

JOLLY ROGERS Chapter, Children's Home Society, is sponsoring a luncheon on Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. at Marin Country Club in Novato. The luncheon, a fifth annual event, honors associate and patron members.

A short program concerning adoptive children with special needs—the child of minority or mixed racial background, the child with a medical problem, and the youngster past infancy—is planned. Speakers will be Abe Woodson, former 49-er and member of the S. F. Minority Adoption Committee of Children's Home Society, and two caseworkers Miss Mildred Anderson and Mrs. Ronnie Moss, from the San Francisco area office of the Golden Gate District.

In charge of planning are Mrs. Lee Moon, membership chairman, and her committee, Mmes. Edward Brown, Phillip Baker, Charles Jones, Kenneth Howard, Robert Taverna, Roger Brink, and James Winter, publicity.

Jolly Rogers Chapter works to support the adoption program of Children's Home Society, California's only statewide adoption agency.

THE REV. RONALD Greilich, pastor of Albany United Methodist Church, will be the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Mill Valley United Methodist Church Tuesday. His topic will be, "What God is Doing in the Healing Ministry."

The business meeting is at 11 a.m. with the luncheon at noon. Mrs. Dorsey Behringer is program chairman.

MEMBERS OF the San Rafael Junior Women's Club will attend a meeting being held by the Marin Parents for Hearing Handicapped Children on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is being held in the new classroom for pre-school children at Meadow Park School located at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Mrs. Frank Verbeke, president of the Junior Women's Club, will present a check, the proceeds of the Club's boutique in December, to the Marin Parents of Hearing Handicapped Children. The money is to be used towards equipment for the new classroom.

ematics major from Belle Vermon, Pa., finds "the atmosphere and environment are extremely good for people who want to learn more than they can get in class."

"Personal relationships are the program's strong point because they are based on academic motivation," Schuresko adds. "There is such a varied cross section of life here, from all parts of America, that you hear a lot of things, and get a lot of new ideas. That's mentally widening.

Stuart Hammel, 21, a speech senior from Reading, Pa., who brainstormed the project and got the administration to give it a try, says, "The biggest thing is being able to interact with people of varied academic interests in a living, unstructured situation."

"It's the idea of having three girls, and three or four guys, able to sit down in the evening and discussing, for example, premarital sex," Hammel says.

"Or to go to a movie Saturday afternoon and come back and discuss it until 4 a.m. because you don't understand it."

'Hair' Will Move Into New Theater

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—"Hair," the American tribal love rock musical, will move to San Francisco's Orpheum Theater, Hyde and Market streets, after the conclusion of its current engagement at the Geary Theater.

Now in its sixth month in San Francisco and still playing to capacity audiences, "Hair" will close at the Geary after final performances on Sunday, March 8. The show will then re-open at the Orpheum on Tuesday, March 17, for an extended run.

The search for a new theater to house the international hit musical ended this week as final negotiations were completed between producer Michael Butler and the Orpheum management. Tickets for "Hair" at the Orpheum will go on sale next week by mail only.

The current cast, musicians, crew, staff and management of the San Francisco production will remain intact when the show moves into its new home.

There will be no increase in ticket prices or in the present performance schedule of Tuesday through Friday curtain times at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 6 and 10 p.m., and Sunday at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The Orpheum seating capacity will be substantially reduced so that every theatergoer is in a good location for seeing and hearing the show.

Jazz Concert At Novato High

The stage band of the Novato High School Bank will present a jazz concert at 2 p.m. Sunday at the old gymnasium.

Included in the concert will be "Cute" by Neal Hefti featuring drummer Dennis Edwards; "Kenny's Blues" by Ralph Mutchler, with guitarist William Burgess and trumpeter Dale Anderson, and "Lonely Street" by Sammy Nestico, with saxaphonist Gregory Gillen.

Admission will be charged, according to band instructor Gordon Moore.

Larkspur Gallery Has New Show

Furniture, jewelry, paintings and sculpture by most of the gallery's stable of talent will be on view Wednesdays through Sundays from noon to 6 p.m.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and from Parents' Magazine, unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Italian Job"—A wildly satirical comedy about a gang of thieves who hijack a shipment of gold with an assist from a computer progamed to cause a gigantic traffic jam. Wild, imaginative nonsense, with stunt driving to congeal the blood.

"Oliver" — A musical spectacular with superb settings and acting. Vividness of some of the violence of story may be frightening to very young children.

"2001: Space Odyssey" — A long epic space adventure that is a fantastic and overwhelming experience. The ending is subject to any interpretation the viewer may put on it.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Bullitt" — San Francisco police are assigned to protect a prime witness in a crime hearing. Steve McQueen adds dimension to a crackling, fast moving thriller.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — True story of two bandits told in farcical tone but documentary in presentation. Film does not deny the violence attendant on their lives and deaths.

"Cactus Flower" — Middle-aged playboy dentist drafts his nurse to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated situation with his current mistress.

"Down Hill Racer" — A brilliant study of the development of ski champion. Action sequences are complemented by an equally absorbing story about the dynamics of sports competition.

"How to Commit Marriage" — Ridiculous farce which pokes fun at marriage and at youths who drop out and form their own society. Several very funny sequences.

"Jenny" — An honest, quiet little film that doesn't preach, yet its social and moral ramifications are clear. It depicts a human encounter and subsequent growth in maturity, responsibility and love. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"On Her Majesty's Secret Service" — Winter scenery in Swiss Alps and skiers performing amazing feats are assets to this James Bond film. Violence and sex make it unsuitable for children.

"Planet of the Apes" — Provocative mixture of comedy, satire and melodramatic but cynical science fiction about our astronauts who crash land on a desolate planet in an era 2,000 years hence.

"Some Kind of Nut" — Spoof on present day rebellion against conformity. A mild mannered bank clerk, quite by accident, throws tradition of a bank into complete confusion.

BORDERLINE

(MOST SOURCES SAY ADULTS ONLY)

"Bonnie and Clyde" — A chapter in the gangster history of the 30's brought to vivid life. An account of immature human beings caught in a fatal web of their own creation.

ADULTS ONLY

"Easy Rider" — Far-out cross-country trip of two hippy motorcyclists creats a vision of America that is by turn beautiful and horrifying. Poetically photographed but has overlong LSD sequence.

"John and Mary" — In Manhattan, two very different young people meet, mate and spend the next day getting acquainted. Dialogue is intelligent ty, direction tasteful. ways present nude sc... prominent.

"Midnight Cowboy" — Offbeat hardhitting story of a male prostitute and a crippled hustler who meet in New York. Sordidness is tempered by skill and compassion, told in an uncompromising way.

Drug Charge

John Milo O'Neill, 20, of Mill Valley, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possessing methamphetamine Tuesday in Mill Valley. He was to appear today with counsel to enter a plea.

Plan To Relax Housing Density Is Turned Down

...posal that Marin cities ...x limitations on density to permit private individuals to construct additional housing on the land for use as low-income housing has been rejected by the Sausalito Planning Comission.

According to H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director, the commission turned down the plan of Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum Wednesday because it would not be practical for Sausalito.

"The commission felt real doubt that any additional units constructed in Sausalito, with its aesthetic appeal and proximity to San Francisco, would be offered by private individuals as low-cost housing," he said.

Borgwardt said the rejection of the proposal does not mean the commission is opposed to the concept of low-cost housing for Sausalito, but he indicated the commissioners would like to see a more feasible plan.

Tiburon Firemen ... Essay Contest Prize

Tiburon volunteer firemen have decided to donate $100 for prizes for an essay or poster contest for National Fire Serv... Recognition Day on Ma... according to Robert Hamilton association secretary.

He said details of the contest, which will be open to school children, is to be discussed at future meetings.

Hamilton said the volunteer firemen are already making plans to celebrate the day locally and have decided to again hold open house at Tiburon's two fire stations and provide fire truck rides for children.

Lobbyist Pay Hike Asked

A $9,000 salary hike for the Golden Gage Bridge District's Sacramento lobbyist was recommended unanimously yesterday by a district committee after a closed session salary discussion.

The closed meeting by the legislation-public relations committee was called to discuss the annual hiring of former Assembly Speaker Gordon Garland, who has been the district's lobbyist since 1959.

The recommendation to hire Garland with a pay boost from $16,000 to $25,000 was approved without discussion in open session.

Committee chairman Lowell Edington of Napa County acknowledged later that Garland's salary had been discussed in the closed session. The state's Ralph M. Brown Act allows closed meetings of public bodies only to hire or fire, or to hear charges against an employee or officer of the public body.

The committee's recommendation will go to the full board for its ratification Feb. 13.

Edington told the Independent-Journal that Garland needed the salary hike "to step up our educational program in the Legislature. The future existence of this district is going to be determined in the next two years," he said.

In other business, the committee rejected Edington's suggestion that the district board control the appearances of its members before the Legislature. "No one's going to stop me from going up there and popping off," said director Daniel F. Del Carlo of San Francisco.

The committee also recommended publication of a bimonthly district newsletter for about $125 for each edition of 700 to 800 copies. It will be distributed to public officials.

Also recommended was payment of $2,500 to Clifford Paine, one of the engineers who built the bridge, to add a supplement to the chief engineer's report, due to be reprinted by the district.

Earlier yesterday, the insurance committee heard from chairman L.E. Castner of Sonoma County that work was progressing on pooling all major bridges in the nation for insurance purposes.

Former Shooting Victim Is Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R-Iowa, one of five congressmen shot 15 years ago in the House chamber by four flag-waving Puerto Rican terrorists, died Thursday of cancer. He was 77.

Jensen, a member of the House for 26 years, had been confined to George Washington University Hospital since Jan. 19.

The shootings occurred March 1, 1954. Jensen was shot in the shoulder.

Of the four other victims, Rep. George H. Fallon, D-Md., is the only one still a member of the House. He was shot in the hip.

Victim Of Larkspur Candle Blaze Held In Candles Theft At Church

A 37-year-old Larkspur man—whose apartment was the scene Monday of a spectacular fire started by an untended burning candle—was arrested today leaving Redwoods Presbyterian Church, carrying candles said to have been stolen from the church.

Booked into the Marin County jail on suspicion of burglary was David T. Williams after he was observed ransacking the church at 3 a.m. by Sgt. Raymond Deleon, the Larkspur Police Department said.

Patrolman Deleon was cruising Magnolia Avenue when he saw lights in the church. Inside, he noted several rooms had been ransacked. Watching from the church's second story balcony, he said, he saw Williams searching a room.

Sgt. Deleon said he then slipped outside and arrested Williams as the latter walked out the front door carrying the candles.

Williams' apartment and two others at 557 Magnolia Avenue were destroyed in two fires Monday.

Larkspur fire chief William C. Schurtz said yesterday Williams had told him he left a candle burning in his apartment. Chief Shurtz blamed the first fire on the untended candle. The cause of the second fire is still under investigation.

Police said they also found a box in the church containing books, coffee and a coffee pot collected from various church rooms. Williams was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court later today.

A Warning On Dunlop Tires

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Transportation has warned that one type of tire manufactured by the Dunlop Tire & Rubber Corp. could be hazardous because of endurance and strength defects revealed by testing.

The department's National Highway Safety Bureau said it issued the unusual public advisory because Dunlop has refused to accept the government's recommendation and recall the 90,000 French-produced CT650-13 four-ply rayon tires manufactured in the first seven months of 1968. The bureau lacks power to require recall.

Library Post Deadline Set

ann$- The Mill Valley Library Board said last night applications for the librarian's post should be filed by March 15.

Librarian Dorothy M. Thomas, who is retiring in April, told the board that announcements of the job opening have been sent out.

In other business, the board discussed the county's refusal Tuesday to reimburse the library for services to nonresidents but took no action.

San Rafael Architect Heads Fairfax Board

San Rafael landscape architect Paul C. Steinmetz was appointed chairman of the Fairfax Design Review board last night to succeed Norman T. Gilroy who has resigned; according to secretary Eileen Foster.

Steinmetz and Gilroy, Mill Valley designer, were special appointments to the board, Mrs. Foster said.

Though not Fairfax residents, they were appointed to meet ordinance requirements calling for a planning commission member, a designer and a landscape architect if possible. No Fairfax resident was available for the post, she added.

Applications are being accepted at city hall for a designer to replace Gilroy on the board, Mrs. Foster said. If a designer fails to apply for the volunteer post, a board member in another line of work will be chosen, she added.

The board approved plans for a duplex owned by Mr. and Mrs. Perry A. Ratcliff of San Francisco to be constructed at the corner of Wreden Avenue and Park Road.

NO REASON FOR HOLLYWOOD

One Of The New, Young Breed Sees Growing Marin Film Center

By C. P. McCARTHY

Marin County may not be the next Hollywood, but it is becoming an important filmmaking center, one of Marins new breed of filmmakers said yesterday.

"Most of the new, young, creative filmmakers are Marinites. It offers the atmosphere they wish to function in.

"San Francisco has the offices, but the people involved don't have to live in San Francisco. Marin offers the kind of climate where they want to live and work," said Evan White of 341 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

"There will never be another Hollywood," he said. "There's no reason for one."

It has a lot to do with age, the 32-year-old filmmaker said. "The Hollywood filmmaking society is old and decrepit. Films designed for the over-30 group are not making money."

It is the young people who are going to the movies and it is young people who are making them, he said.

Marin comes in because the San Francisco area has always had a climate for creative people and for young people, White said.

He cited Medion, a San Francisco filmmaking company which was formed in 1968. It's in San Francisco, he said, because they felt it was conducive to filmmaking. "But more important, there is a tremendous volume of very high quality talent in the area."

Medion operates with a small permanent staff and draws on the pool of Bay Area free-lance film talent—much of it in Marin—for each film it produces.

White recently returned from seven weeks in Africa where he served as production manager and assistant director for a Medion film produced for the United States Information Agency on the need for regional development and cooperation among the emerging black nations of Africa.

"I won't go to work full time for any one company ever again," he said. "The climate in filmmaking has changed. Independence is important to people now. They don't want to be under the big company.

"Filmmakers are refusing to go to Hollywood. I know ten or twelve people involved with filmmaking in Mill Valley alone. Ten years ago this would have been impossible. You wouldn't have been able to eat or pay the rent," he said.

"This is the beginning. The Bay Area is becoming an important filmmaking center." But the Los Angeles native was quick to add that he "wouldn't like to see it get so large that it develops Hollywood's problems."

Marinites Head Seismic Boards

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Melville Owen of Kentfield and Jack Schoop of San Rafael have been elected chairmen of two of the five advisory groups to the Joint Legislative Committee on Seismic Safety.

Owen, an attorney and representative on the joint committee from the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, was elected to head the advisory group on governmental organization and procedures.

Schoop, chief planner for the BCDC and planner for the city of Anchorage, Alaska, at the time of its 1964 earthquake, was elected to chair the advisory group on postearthquake recovery and redevelopment.

The five advisory groups will report their findings to the Legislature by June 1974. Owen has recommended a resolution postponing any major earthquakes until Jan. 1, 1975.

Religion Headline Is Incorrect

A headline in Thursday's Independent-Journal stating that a panel on the proposed de-emphasis of religion agreed on Christmas for schools was incorrect.

The panel, speaking on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" agreed that Christmas and other religious holidays should be observed but differed on whether the observance belonged in public schools.

One member of the panel was incorrectly identified as Mr. Marion Cedarblade. She is Mrs. Cedarblade.

Board Backs Off Policy Making

Marin's Board of Building Code Appeals toyed with the idea of expanding its role into the policy-making field but has decided against it.

Last December, the Marin County Board of Supervisors asked county building inspector Hans J. Berge to eliminate inspectors specializing in one field and re-train them into combination inspectors.

Several members of the board of appeals suggested that the board expand its role so that it can discuss and make recommendations on policy matters such as the change from special to combination inspectors.

But a majority on the board of appeals decided Wednesday not to expand their role beyond interpreting the county's building code.

Berge said the county supervisors' suggestion that building permit fees be raised will be discussed at the next meeting, date to be set.

The Buildup In Laos Reviewed By An Expert

The United States' involvement in Southeast Asia continues to be a cancerous affair. And like cancer, its spread is hard to detect until, perhaps too late.

While senators renew debate over Vietnam, attacking the so-called "Vietnamization policy," attention is again diverted from neighboring Laos and Thailand, where the U.S. role continues to be largely one of mystery but certainly fraught with danger.

The Laos involvement was so well reviewed by John S. Knight, president of Knight Newspapers, in his "Notebook" column in last Sunday's Detroit Free Press that we quote what he has to say rather than trying to review it ourselves. What follows is by Mr. Knight:

SOME NINE YEARS go — Jan. 1, 1961 to be precise — I was saying something like this:

"What should concern us today is the possibility of U.S. military intervention in Laos, a mountainous little Buddhist country about the size of Idaho which lies between Thailand, Burma to the west and the two Vietnams on the east.

"Since 1954 (mark the date), the United States has given an increase of $398 million to sustain Laotian independence and keep Laos out of the communist orbit.

"The forces which hope to dominate Laos comprise the Pathet Lao, a communist guerilla movement, and the communists of North Vietnam. The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization has charged that troops from North Vietnam have infiltrated Laos...

"Our military involvement there would be, as President-elect Kennedy stated in the campaign, 'the wrong war at the wrong place and at the wrong time' — unsound militarily, unnecessary to our security and unsupported by our allies.

"No Russian soldiers died in Korea and none will die in Laos if we are silly enough to get caught in a conflict where there is no chance of winning decisively and achieving permanent peace in that region."

NEARLY A DECADE has elapsed since that warning was first printed, a period in which Vietnam and not Laos was to provide the setting for a bloody war in which more than 40,000 Americans have died.

Yet we have never been idle in Laos, despite reassurance from Sec. of State William P. Rogers that "we are not going to fight any major wars on the mainland of Asia . . . We are not going to send American troops there."

As revealed by James McCartney of the Knight Newspapers, here is a brief summary of American activities in Laos:

THE U.S. IS PROVIDING massive air support to the Royal Laotian Army now combatting the communists.

United States bombers from both Vietnam and Thailand are attempting to interdict infiltrators into South Vietnam on the Ho Chi Minh Trail which travels through Laos.

U.S. fighters are being used for tactical air support to Laotian forces.

U.S. advisers are all but running the Laotian army. Some are Central Intelligence Agency employees attached to the American embassy with innocent sounding titles.

There are 2,150 Americans in Laos, 830 of them in official government positions. The U.S. has lost at least 100 pilots on Laotian missions and about 25 other Americans have been killed in line of duty.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

State Budget Higher Yet Lower; Too High, Yet 'Holds The Line'

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's fiscal experts had quite a job with the state budget this year, and apparently accomplished the impossible. For they came up with a budget that indicates the administration is spending more money next year, but actually shows less of an outlay.

Of course, it's all in how one looks at it. In a general budget summary, which includes revenues and expenditures of all state funds and activities, the total budget for the next fiscal year amounts to $6,152,982,902, which is $79,669,384 more contemplated expenditures than the previous fiscal year.

However, in another table, entitled expenditures by character and source of funds, the fiscal experts claim the 1970-71 budget is $37.1 million under the current year's figures.

GOVERNOR REAGAN indicates the budget is too high, despite the fact that he submits the same to the legislature as a "hold-the-line" document.

He said he has long felt that the budget should be prepared as two separate documents, one showing the expenditures made by state government for and on behalf of its citizens, and the other listing those revenues which are collected by the state and returned directly to local government entities, as the state is acting solely as a tax collector.

"If such a distinction were made," he said, "and I think it should be, each of us would have a much clearer understanding of just what it costs to run state government."

AMONG THE ITEMS the governor points to as among the beneficent expenditures are continuation of the $120 million increase for public schools granted last year; higher educational opportunity programs for $9 million; environmental programs which merit study and experimentation and meeting demands for more recreational opportunities.

Also, recognizing at least some of the needs of state employees to meet 1970 economic standards, he is asking that the equivalent of a five per cent increase in salary be granted for some $81 million. This will include increased payment by the state for health insurance.

The governor's budget is based primarily on the programs the administration offers, rather than a line-item expenditures, which makes it difficult to locate particular expenditures. However, the administration contends this is the result of need for a stringent review of all expenditures to determine the necessity of state expenditures.

Young Convert To Pollution War

I am only 11 but I am very concerned about the air pollution and the polluted water. I think we should do something about these non-deposit Coke bottles. I think the people that thought of making them do not care about the air pollution and the polluted waters. We have so much garbage in the world now, that we don't even know what to do with it. The garbage is not only polluting the water, it is polluting the air with its bad smell. If we keep polluting the water and air we will not have any clean water to drink or any clean air to breathe. I am going to try all I can to save this world from garbage and pollution.

Student Behavior Reason For Pride

If the behavior and attitude of the young people at last Tuesday's (Jan. 27) San Rafael Board of Education meeting was representative of the majority of our high school students (and I have no reason to believe differently), and the schools and their faculty are as influential as many of the community seem to believe (I have reaseon to believe differently) then I feel that the efforts to educate successfully our young people have been misinterpreted or misunderstood by man. Last Tuesday's meeting compelled me to express publicly my pride in being able to have my two daughters attend San Rafael High School and to be a part of the San Rafael school system.

Citizen Differs With Committee

At the recent San Rafael Board of Education meeting (Jan. 27), a report was presented by a citizens' advisory committee on goals and philosophy for our school district.

Included in the recommendations for the elementary district were (1) elimination of grades, and (2) non-graded class levels. I mention specifically these two theories because once they are instituted, they will be difficult to recall...

It is a known fact that administrators and teachers in San Rafael favor non-gradedism and grading systems other than A-F. It is also a fact that many parents in our elementary district are unhappy with the non-graded system and prefer traditional grades. This became evident to me last year when the district reportrdcmmittee, on which I served, surveyed parents in May with revealing results: a clear majority favor traditional A-F. Also, in our non-graded schools where A-F is not being used, parents were strongly supporting the traditional grading system.

The board may well decide to adopt the measures suggested by the committee — a committee guided by 12 of our district educators. Parents are urged to attend these board meetings when decisions are forthcoming that will affect the future of all our children!

Bridge Lighting Needs Correction

The Golden Gate Bridge District, in another effort to perpetuate itself, has decided to go into the transit business. In order to help finance this empire, the district has once again "socked it" to the hapless commuter by raising over 50 per cent the cost of commute trip books.

In return for this holup the yet undefined utopian form of commuter is promised some transit system that will relieve all the Main commute-hour traffic congestion.

This move by the district, along with memories of such things as second deck studies, district salaries, and the carte blanche remodeling of the district's office building, must cause many a commuter to throw up his hands in complete frustration.

If the district really wants to do something for the bridge traveler instead of to him, then they should consider a long-time serious condition, that for some reason, has never been corrected. This condition is the dangerous, inadequate and below-standard lighting system on the bridge deck . . . those pretty orange spots that in non-daylight hours decorate the roadway across the span. These fixtures, especially during the rainy season, cast shadows and almost blinding reflections on the pavement, managing to leave the roadway, itself, in almost total darkness.

Contrast In Two Dog Accidents

Something happened in our neighborhood last night that made me so angry I had to voice an opinion. I know with all that is going on in this world it may seem an insignificant occurrence. However, to the people involved and especially the children involved it's left a lasting impression.

Our neighbor's pup, who looks like one of Walt Disney's creations, and is one of those dogs that is loved by every child in the neighborhood, was hit by a car. Now the woman who hit him would have went merrily on her way except for the fact that around six neighborhood children chased her down Fifth Avenue until she stopped. When the children came crying to the owners that their dog was hit they immediately grabbed a blanket and ran to see how badly he was hurt. When the owner asked this woman if she would please drive him to a vet she answered, "I will not, this is a new car and I do not want dog hairs on it" — She also stated there is a leash law in San Rafael.

The one thing that immediately came to mind was an incident I saw on Jan. 23, one of the wettest and windiest days in Marin. I work on Lincoln Avenue, and on that day I spotted a scantily dressed, barefoot, long-haired "hippie" dripping wet, holding a dog's head in his lap and petting him. When asked if it was his dog, he answered no, someone had hit the animal and he was just trying to comfort it until the SPCA came to pick it up.

Why don't trucks and buses have water scrubbers to remove the harmful elements from their exhaust so we can breathe the air?.

THE DRUMMONDS

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—The Democrats in Congress are in trouble. By now they are pretty sure why.

They are in trouble because they misjudged at three crucial points the kind of President Richard Nixon would be:

THEY GREATLY underestimated Nixon's political skill and purposes.

They couldn't believe that he would succeed in pre-empting the major issues so that in an election year they are going to have to pass most of the President's programs on welfare reform, environment, crime and other matters.

2—THE DEMOCRATS had their minds so fixed on the Nixon of the past that they thought they pretty much could ignore the Nixon of the present. They just couldn't give up their own image of Nixon as the intensely partisan, tough, gut campaigner against Helen Gahagan Douglas and the stiff, unpersuasive high school debater against Sen. John Kennedy.

In consequence the Democratic Congress last year simply waited around for the President to fall on his face, and when he didn't it was too late for them to adjust to reality.

3—FINALLY, the Democrats simply couldn't conceive that Nixon could so soon emerge from an embarrassingly minority election—43 per cent of the vote—to a position consistently commanding a nearly two-thirds public support.

They knew that when Lyndon Johnson was Senate majority leader he helped the Democrats win every congressional election during President Eisenhower's two terms by recognizing Ike's popularity and supporting him most of the time.

They knew this but gravely misjudged Nixon's popular potential. They assumed they would be dealing with a harassed and constantly criticizable President. They assumed national opinion would be almost continuously on their side.

BECAUSE OF THESE miscalculations this Democratically controlled Congress has now lost the initiative to a President they thought would be a pushover, and has lost control of the big domestic issues.

They threw away the opportunity last year to pass legislation at a time when they could have emerged—as the Democratic Congress did under Senator Johnson's guidance—as the responsible law-making arm of the government. And now, on the eve of the congressional elections this fall, the Democrats in Congress will almost certainly have to give Nixon nearly everything he asks.

The Democrats got their own priorities reversed: They stalled last year when they should have acted and are acting this year because it is no longer safe for them to stall.

NIXON HIMSELF is moving faster and farther in adjusting his spending priorities than he intended. He showed at first that on domestic matters he wanted to keep the spending lower than that which he is now supporting, until Vietnam costs could be radically cut and inflation put under control.

But he saw that the problems wouldn't wait and that the voters wouldn't wait, and he saw that he would likely go the way of Herbert Hoover unless he responded. This is where his political critics again miscalculated. They figured he couldn't and wouldn't respond.

THE PRESIDENT has defused the demagoguery that he is against people and for economy for its own sake. He has cut the military to a lower percentage of the budget than at any time in 20 years. He is proposing to spend more on welfare, health and education than any previous administration.

So it now seems clear that the central issue of the fall campaign is almost fully shaped. The issue is national priorities—how much federal money is spent on what?

The Democratic stance is that we ought to spend more, even if inflation isn't checked, and the Nixon stance is that we are spending all that can safely be spent until inflation is checked.

Our guess is that anti-inflation policy, designed, as Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott has aptly put it, "not just to save a dollar but to save THE dollar," is good politics.

Panther Fund Raisers Ignore Criminal Records

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON—There is grisly irony behind those carefully publicized socialite affairs to raise "defense" funds for the Black Panthers.

While the "beautiful people," jet-setters, show buz personalities and other exotic bleeding-hearts and do-gooders gather in swank apartments and ornate salons to deplore and decry police "brutality" and "violence," police records throughout the country reveal a different story.

POLICE RECORDS disclose that last year more than 350 Black Panthers were arrested for committing upward of 150 serious crimes--including murder, armed robbery, rape, auto and various other thefts, bank holdups, purse snatching, narcotics violations, rioting, illegal possession of guns, and defiance of the Selective Service Act.

More than 100 guns of various kinds were confiscated from Black Panthers, also a number of bombs.

These facts are never mentioned at the socialite money-raising wallows. There is much hand-wringing and wailing over claimed police abuses, but never a word about Black Panther depredations and criminality.

NOR IS ANYTHING ever said about the widespread prevalence of criminals among the Black Panthers, and the open advocacy by Panther leaders and their official publication of attacking police.

Since the Panthers' inception in 1967, they have killed five policemen and wounded 42 others.

The 1969 police records show that wherever Black Panthers congregated they were in the forefront of crime and vice.

ANOTHER REALITY never mentioned in the socialites' fund-raising soirees is that Black Panther ranks are filled with hoodlums and thugs with long criminal records.

Following are some examples:

In Newark, N.J., Black Panther Jerome Chambers has over 20 arrests, for larceny, assault, robbery and narcotics violations. And Black Panther Isaiah Rowley has a long arrest record for armed robbery, breaking and entering, looting, narcotics violations and assaulting a police officer.

Fred Alan Hampton, field director of the Chicago Black Panthers, recently killed in a gun battle with police, had a long criminal record, including arrests for robbery, aggravated assault and mob action.

The Black Panther propaganda line is that they resort to armed force to "defend" themselves. In no instance does the record bear that out. The record does show that they openly call for "off the pigs"--meaning kill the police.

Shooting Death Of Youth Seen As Result Of Disillusionment

Ronald Gustafson came back from a year and a half in the Navy a "completely changed, embittered" young man, disillusioned by his expereinces in military life, accoring to his father, Dr. Joel F. Gustafson of Mill Valley.

Dr. Gustafson said he felt his son's death Sunday from gunshot wounds, received as the boy and two companions attempted a holdup, was a reflection of the tragedy of many young persons today who become frustrated by the injustices and unsolved problems they see around them.

While in the service, young Gustafson was court-martialed 13 times, each time for "objecting to the way he or other men were treated by superior officers," according to his father, who said the youth was not found guilty at any of the military trials.

BEFORE JOINING the Navy, his father recalled him as being "A likeable boyish kid, a good boy, warm and open, close to his family.

He was a young man with a history of involvement in social problems and had collected food and clothing to aid the early civil rights movement in the South and, more recently, joined the grape boycott fight to improve conditions and wages for farm workers," the father recalled.

"The world situation . . . the problems in this country . . . they just got to be too much for Ronnie," Gustafson said sadly. "He just couldn't handle the idea of so much injustice.

"Finally, he just gave up trying to do something constructive about the things that were wrong," he continued. Oh, he still cared very much, but he didn't fell there was anything he could do to help."

The young man became disillusioned and "wary" with everyone, his father said.

BEFORE HE LEFT for the Navy, Dr. Gustafson said Ronnie told his family he would not go to Vietnam even if ordered to do so because he "could never take up arms to hurt anyone."

He said the youth, who was stationed at a dry dock in the Phillippines and assigned to repair ships which were to return to Vietnam, wrote to his family that he was having a real problem on conscience in working on ships to return them to possible combat.

Even though young Gustafson was killed while holding a pistol on two men during a robbery attempt, his father is convinced he had no intention of firing the gun.

When the first bullet him him, police said, Gustafson dropepd his gun and turned to flee without returning the fire. His father is certain his son did not shoot back "Because Ronnie was just not going to harm anyone; he felt so strongly about violence."

Panel To Make Drainage Check

A three-member citizens committee studying community drainage toward possible flood relief has told the Strawberry Recreation District Board it would conduct an inspection tour of occasional trouble spots tomorrow.

Jeanne Heick, district clerk, said the committee reported Wednesday it would look at Strawberry Field, Strawberry Circle and the salt works canal areas. District architect J. Martin Rosse will accompany the committee.

In another matter, the board set May 4-9 for the semi-annual refuse pick up under which residents may obtain free disposal of up to three cubic yards of rubbish.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Free Ride For Transit Boss, But Not For The Taxpayers

Fusselman

When the radio is turned on, one can hear often, "Pass me by" being played or sung.—I'm looking at last Friday's front page story:

"Ferry Feeder Bus System Begins Monday." The four-column spread topped with a picture of the interior of one of the mini-buses of the new Marin City firm, Marin County Transit Systems, headed by Theophus Barron Jr.

Seymour Kashin (manager (?) of the county's transit district) is seen with eager posture looking over at young Barron in the driver's seat. Kashin, unless he's awfully thick skinned, must be saying to himself to the same tune, "Man, he passed me by, he passed me by." And did he ever pass him by!

THE MARIN COUNTY Transit District, which is dominated by the five supervisors, has taxed you to the tune of $262,545. Of this Kashin has received in salary and fringe benefits $59,093.

Besides this, Planning Director Paul C. Zucker has been handed juicy budgets to come up with "balanced transportation." Kashin has been supplied with one of the new offices out at Brasilia and until recently a staff of three people.

The layout has been reduced to a secretary, but somewhat like the Doctor Miller case he gets paid for what amounts to a vacation—a ride on a minibus that he didn't produce.

BRUCE, BARROWS, Campanella, Jackson, Crystal and Renne receive in salaries and fringe benefits $128,433. Each has an office and staff with all the costs incident to such an operation.

The board of supervisors, composed of five members, receives in salaries and fringe benefits $56,640 annually. This makes the combined yearly costs of the brain trust $185,073—the Establishment of Brasilia, if you will.

Let's go into deep meditation together. Let's consider the gross annual product of this exclusive club, for the past five years.

All right, we have considered. It cost us $925,365 in salaries and benefits alone, which all means considerable more than $1 million total. Do you think you got your money's worth? The answer is obvious.

CONSIDERATION of this will have to be carried over to another issue, because of space limitations.

However, before signing off, here is something that should be said now—this week.

In Monday's I-J: "Bruce will recommend that the Veterans Memorial Auditorium be called "Marin Memorial." "May we ask memorial of what? His Fair-Marin flop? Then in the Wednesday issue: "Baar wanted to know why 'Veterans' should be deleted if the original money was veterans' money?"

Answered the other half of the two voices which speak as one, McInnis: "This is a misconception. It is not veterans' money."

The throne has missed the point. I'll explain how he has next week.

Stolen Porsche Found On San Rafael Street

A 1969 Porsche, reported stolen from San Francisco Nov. 16, 1969, has been found parked on Clorinda Avenue near Clark Street, San Rafael police said yesterday.

No license plates were on the car, but ownership was traced to William Boehn of Vallejo through a citation found in the glove compartment.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Wikel

If you had more than one employer in 1969, and your total earnings were over $7,800 your employers may have deducted more than $374.40 from your paychecks for FICA taxes. The maximum that you are required to pay for FICA taxes is $374.40, that is, 4.8 per cent of $7,800.

Any over deduction by two or more employers of FICA tax can be claimed as a credit against your income tax on Line 20 of Form 1040.

The W-2 slips your employers give you show the amount of FICA tax withheld, as well as the amount of income tax withheld.

If you worked for more than one employer in California during 1969 you may have had more than $74 deducted from your paychecks for Unemployment Disability Insurance Tax.

If so, you should file a claim for refund on Form DE 1964 if: You worked for two or more employers, and; deductions for disability insurance were made from your wages, and; such deductions totaled more than $74.

Do not use Form DE 1964 if refunds are due you because: Disability insurance deductions of more than the required maximum were deducted from your pay by only one employer. Claim your refund from that employer. You worked for a business which had a change of ownership during the year. The combined deductions made by both owners should not total more than the required maximum. If more than the required maximum was deducted from your pay by the two employers, claim your refund direct from the last employer.

DISABILITY RULES

Disability insurance deductions are shown on your check stubs or deduction slips (not on your Forms W-2). Some voluntary plans require deductions of less than the required maximum. You can claim only the deductions actually made.

Most federal, state and local government agencies and religious or nonprofit organizations are not subject to the insurance law. Do not include these wages in your claim unless deductions were actually made.

Do not deduct the amount of this claim from your state income tax.

Do not include in your claim: Deductions made from wages paid to your wife or dependents. A separate claim must be filed by each individual. 2. Deductions made from your wages for Federal Old Age Benefits or Federal Withholding (income tax). 3. Deductions made from wages earned in states other than California unless such wages were reported to the state of California. 4. Seaman's wages that come under the jurisdiction of states other than California.

MUST CLAIM IT

You must claim this refund if you are to receive it. The claim must be filed before June 30, 1970.

Claims are filed with the California Department of Employment, Attention Accounting Section, 1025 P Street, Sacramento, 95814.

Claims must be filed on Form DE 1964. These forms can be secured from uour local office of employment, or by writing to Sacramento.

Larkspur Blaze Traced To Candle

Shurtz said Williams told special investigator Earl Guisness he left the burning candle Sunday night, and that he did not return home until after two fires had raced through the apartment building.

Shurtz added that the cause of the second fire is still under investigation.

Checks Stolen

Social Security and state compensation checks worth $152 were stolen Tuesday from the apartment of Frank Gobbi, 1330 Fourth Street, Apt. 1, San Rafael, polio reported yesterday.

Reluctant Approval For Tower

A proposed 50-foot microwave tower to be built by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. on the hills above San Rafael has been given reluctant approval by directors of the Loch Lomond Homeowners Association.

According to president Andrew J. Ring, the directors also voted Wednesday to support other homeowners groups closer to the tower site which want the tower camouflaged with earth-toned paint and landscaping.

He said approval of the tower was given "as the lesser of two evils." The group had been told that telephone communication would be impaired and video telephone impossible without the tower, Ring said.

Plans call for the tower to be erected on land owned by Frank Sinatra and partners south of the Nike Missile site above the Dominican area of the city. They will be presented to the San Rafael Planning Commission Feb. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.1

Association officers for 1970 will be elected at the general meeting of the association March 4 at 8 p.m. in the Kindergarten Room at the San Pedro School, Ring announced.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Feb. 6, the 37th day of 1970 with 328 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1778 Massachusetts ratified the Constitution.

A thought for the day: Henry Clay said, "If you wish to avoid foreign collision, you had better abandon the ocean."

Rec Member To Homeowner Group

James E. Rutledge, a member of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commisison, has been elected to the board of the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association.

Rutledge, who lives at 91 Longfellow Road, replaces Fred W. Heide, who resigned without stating a reason in a letter to the board.

The commission still has one vacancy, president William H. Thomson said. It was caused by the resignation of Clifford Hannsen for business reasons.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Try To Be Crafty, Just Take What Is Yours

For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, the average bridge player is peculiar. He expends an enormous amount of energy trying to steal a trick that belongs to him all the time. And then if his plot doesn't work he complains that his luck is bad. If you think that I'm complaining about a partner, you're quite right.

TAKES SECOND TRICK

South held off the first trick but took the second trick with the ace of clubs since he was pretty sure that the clubs were evenly divided. He wanted to run the diamonds and hoped to drive out the king only on the third round of the suit so that the diamonds would then be unblocked.

With this in mind, South cashed the ace of diamonds and then craftily led the jack of diamonds. If West happened to start with K-x-x of diamonds, he might hold off the second trick for fear of capturing his partner's queen.

It wasn't much of a plot, but it had no chance at all since West started with only two diamonds.

TAKES CLUBS

West took the king of diamonds and two more club tricks, after which South needed the rest. Since declarer had discarded two low hearts from the dummy on the clubs, West next led the nine of hearts to dummy's ace.

The diamonds were still blocked, and South had to lead from his hand, losing two more heart tricks. Down two.

PERFECT SETUP

South had a perfectly straightforward play for his contract if he hadn't been blinded by his own craftiness. After taking the ace of clubs, South should cash the top spades before leading the ace and jack of diamonds.

West takes the king of diamonds and his clubs, then leads a heart to dummy's ace. Declarer cashes dummy's queen of spades to discard the queen of diamonds from his hand. Dummy then remains in the lead to take the rest of the tricks with diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 2-no-trump (22 to 24 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 10 9 6 5
♥ 8 7 3

♣ K 8 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You need four points in high cards or a long suit to respond to an opening bid of 2-no-trump.

What, No Skunk?

CHESTER, England (UPI)—Frank Woolham bought his wife a birthday present, and the neighbors immediately quit coming around. The present was a four-foot python and "nobody's been near me since it arrived," said Meg Woolham.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Senate Locked In Leadership Battle

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate today was in the midst of a tug-of-war over leadership in the upper house.

However, Senate leader Howard Way said Thursday that Republican Sen. Jack Schrade of San Diego does not have the votes to wrest control of the Senate away from him.

"I think he is playing the old puff game," Way said. "The name of the game around here is 21 votes and if he has them, I wonder why he doesn't move.' '

Schrade's only official comment to reports he is trying to oust fellow Republican Way as Senate president pro tem was a terse "no comment."

Way formed a Republican-Democrat coalition last year to unseat Sen. Hugh Burns, D-Fresno, as Senate leader. But this year, some senators who backed Burns have indicated they are unhappy at being demoted by Way on Senate committees. Some also have complained Way is too partisan in the traditionally bi-partisan Senate.

"I don't think he's clearly understood he was representing a coalition of both Democrats and Republicans when he was elected," said Sen. George Danielson, D-Los Angeles.

Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, a backer of Way, estimated that Schrade has about 20 votes. Other estimates ranged from 15 to 29.

POLLUTION

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Only $1 out of every $516 in Gov. Reagan's 1970-71 budget is earmarked for anti-pollution programs, slightly less than 63 cents per resident for the year.

That's a 33 per cent increase over this year, but cleaning up California's environment — the favorite speechmaking cause of both political parties this year—still appears to be winning more verbal than financial support.

Gov. Reagan devoted more than half of his State of the State address to environmental quality, and about one - sixth of the legislation proposed so far this year deals with the fight against pollution.

But only $12.6 million — one-fifth of one per cent — of the $6.48 billion budget submitted to the legislature this week by the governor was devoted to programs to improve California's environment.

Education accounts for 39.6 per cent of the budget, health and welfare 24.3 per cent and highways 10.0 per cent, compared to 1.8 per cent for all natural resources programs, including the State Water Project.

The biggest anti-pollution item in the new budget is $5.5 million to fight air pollution, up from $3.04 million this year. A $1.6 million appropriation for construction of an air pollution research laboratory and $1.1 million for a Highway Commission study account for the increase.

The Water Resources Control Board, which finds nine regional water quality control boards, has a $4.54 million budget proposed for next year. In addition to that, $415,000 in the Department of Fish and Game budget and $55,000 from the Colorado River Board budget are earmarked for water quality control.

ENVIRONMENT

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A highly select panel of experts has bluntly told Gov. Reagan and legislators "Our beautiful state is in severe danger of being destroyed as a desirable place to live."

In fact, the admittedly pessimistic group declares, "It is even questionable whether major portions of the state will be capable of supporting tolerable human life within several more decades."

The comments came Thursday in a progress report by the Environmental Quality Study Council, established by the legislature in 1968. Members were named by the governor and legislators and included lawyers, professors, businessmen and high-ranking state officials.

The group has held public hearings and plans more. In fact, it recommended that its life be extended for a year past the original expiration date next year.

The group produced a series of recommendations to fight air, water, noise and land pollution — some on an emergency basis. Included were some of the most far - reaching proposals ever made to cope with the decline in the environment.

The word "urgent" was underlined. Without such a plan, the committee said, the very fabric of life — personal freedom and privacy — will be torn apart. Rising mental illness and crime it said, are warning signs.

No specific population control steps were suggested, but the group noted that large areas of sparsely-settled land remain for development — and must be tightly controled by the state.

RAFFERTY

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Local school boards should consult with a citizens' committee when dealing with controversial issues such as student dress, state school chief Max Rafferty said Thursday.

In a letter to fellow members of the state board of education, Rafferty said he plans to propose that the state board urge each local board to appoint a "broadly based" citizens' advisory committee.

The state superintendent of public instruction said the advisory groups would help formulate policies covering adoption of supplementary reading materials, guest speakers, student dress codes, teacher-parent relations, and how teachers present controversial subjects to students.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Oerweight Person Points Out Big Hole In Dieting Advice

VAN DELLEN

Mrs. A.S. of Cataldo, Idaho, writes: "Several months ago, you wrote on gross obesity but said nothing that was helpful or encouraging. I fought a losing battle with moderate overweight for nearly 50 years.

And, neither my personal physician nor stacks of printed advice ever warned me that many digestive tracts cannot handle the usual low-calorie, high-bulk diet.

"I, MYSELF, FOUND the answer, and it was rice. Rice diets work because they are bland. No wonder fasting works, it is a relief from the harsh diets printed by the thousands for all patients alike. I still don't know why the most sensible diet, long continued, may bring on increased tension, intolerance of semi-bland foods, and other complications. But you doctors could come up with the answer if you approached the problem with sympathy."

I agree that there is no substitute for sympathy and most physicians trying to find the answers to obesity must be genuinely motivated to be of help. There are many organic and emotional reasons individuals are 30 to 50 per cent overweight.

If being empathetic will encourage cooperation, Mrs. A. S. has found the answer. But I'm afraid that she wants us to limit our sympathy to her dietary habits. In other words, she wants no ridicule.

I AM AGAINST standard low-caloric diets and when evaluating weight loss, prefer a tape measure to the bathroom scale. Most fatties will lose weight on a basic diet, provided they eat half as much, avoid alcoholic drinks, and exercise regularly. Of greater importance is establishing new eating habits that will carry them thru the rest of their lives at a lower weight level.

Some people — thin or stout—cannot tolerate roughage in high-bulk foods. The abdominal cramps that ensue are due to a spastic bowel and should not be mistaken for a perverted appetite and used as an excuse to eat calorie-filled menus.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies requst to the I-J.

MSG AND ULCER

M. C. V. writes: I understand that a person with ulcers must be careful about what he eats. Would monosodium glutamate have any adverse side effects on him?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge unless he is overly sensitive to the seasoning. The diet is important but there is considerable evidence that the stress and strain of living are of greater consequence especially in people who are easily disturbed emotionally.

PAINLESS ARTHRITIS

M. A. writes: My friend claims her doctor said she had arthritis of the spine, even though she has no pain. Is this possible?

REPLY

Yes. Many middle-aged and older persons have X-ray evidence of extensive arthritis of the spine, without an iota of distress.

CARDIOVASCULAR SPECIALIST

R. C. B. writes: What do you call a physician who specializes in blood clots and blood vessels?

REPLY

These conditions are handled by specialists in internal medicine who are experts in cardiovascular disease, as well as by vascular surgeons.

BOWEL OBSTRUCTION

M. M. writes: Is obstruction of the bowel completely curable?

REPLY

The majority are. Even if cancer is responsible, the obstruction may be relieved.

TV REVIEW

Margo And Rudy Help Out Dino

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev in a pas de deux from "Sleeping Beauty" was a charming segment of "The Dean Martin Show" Thursday night, even though Martin stumbled over the names and tried to be funny about the ballot.

And the ballet did not even seem out of place following "Shuffle Off to Buffalo" by the Golddiggers and a Corbett Monica monologue along the "take my wife—please!" line.

Producers of public television's "Sesame Street" hope to announce financing for another season of the children's program within two or three weeks.

The original funding, $8 million, paid for one year of research and the current season of 130 programs. This came from federal grants of $4 million, another $2.75 million from the Carnegie and Ford foundations and smaller amounts from other foundations.

Producers of the series want $7 million for another year, partly to hire special personnel to work in inner-city slum neighborhoods—day-care centers, schools and with parent groups—to stimulate use of the series.

Since "Sesame Street" has been so widely acclaimed and used, producers of the series are optimistic about the prospect of receiving the funds it wants.

NBC has announced that Don Knotts will return to weekly television next fall with a comedy-variety hour in the time period now occupied by "I Dream of Jeannie" and "The Debbie Reynolds Show." Neither situation comedy series is expected to be renewed.

The network will put the show in the Tuesday evening spot starting at 7:30. Knotts first came to the audience's attention playing one of Steve Allen's comedy backstops in the latter's NBC variety hour. He played a comedy deputy sheriff for several seasons on CBS' "Andy Griffith Show."

Debbie Reynolds comedy series has been one of the major disappointments of the current season and "I Dream of Jeannie," although it has survived for several seasons, never achieved hit status. Both have received low Nielsen ratings since September.

Float Construction Chairman Is Sought

President John Henman said a chairman must be found soon to begin plans for the local entry in the parade set for mid-May. He said the chairman need not be a chamber member.

Pistol Shots Fail To Stop Fleeing Thief

Maruice G. Henry, 1728 Lincoln Avenue, Apt. A, San Rafael, fired two shots from a .22 caliber pistol at a burglar who was robbing his son's pickup truck at 2:45 a.m. Wednesday San Rafael police said yesterday.

The thief fled, taking with him a $51 butane heater, but dropped two tool boxes he had removed from the truck, police said. The shots apparently missed.

Ford Promises Cleaner Autos

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. has told 19 oil companies it will modify its cars to use a pollution-reducing, lead-free gasoline when such a gasoline is developed.

"The petroleum industry and the automobile industry now have an opportunity to achieve the goal of cleaner air," Henry Ford II, board chairman, wrote in a letter to the heads of 19 major oil firms.

The letter dated Jan. 27, was made public after Atlantic Richfield Co. said Thursday it would produce such a lead-free fuel if the auto industry builds an engine to use it.

A Chrysler Corp. spokesman said he would not comment until the specifications of the fuel under discussion are known. General Motors also declined comment.

Tape Player Stolen

A tape player and tapes worth $90 were stolen Jan. 31 from the car of Dale R. Witzman, 90 Hoag Avenue, Apt. 11, San Rafael, police said yesterday.

Everyone is always saying: "REMEMBER THE GOOD OLD DAYS?"

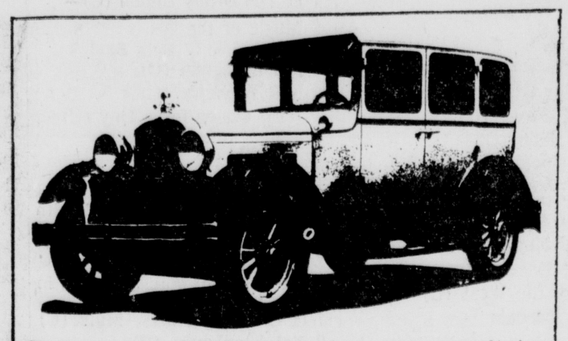
Well...

"THE GOOD OLD DAYS ARE HERE!"

"AT OUR PLACE OF BUSINESS!"



By the time this 1928 Dodge was built, the six cylinder engine had replaced the four cylinder. A pre-depression favorite, this classic car was famous for its ability to "hug the road" because of its low center of gravity. Its attractive wooden spoke wheels were another trademark of this model.

Dynamic Arnold Palmer Is Athlete Of Decade

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Palmer, whose boyish charm and faculty for miraculous comebacks sent profesional golf into a multi-million-dollar piral, was chosen today Athlete of the Decade.

The 40-year-old fairway slugger from the little mill town of Latrobe, Pa., beat out Bill Russell, towering basketball star of the Boston Celtics, in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters to select the top performer of the 1960s.

MAGNETISM

It was a victory for personal magnetism.

Although he did not dominate the game as thoroughly as Bob Jones in the 1920s, Byron Nelson in the 1940s and Ben Hogan in the 1950s and failed to overshadow his rivals as did men in other fields, no individual made such an impact on golf and the sports world generally during the period.

KOUFAX THIRD

Sandy Koufax, the left-handed pitching ace of the Dodgers, was third with 56 votes, followed by Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts, outstanding in a dazzling parade of football quarterbacks, 47, and Mickey Mantle, the home run punch of the New York Yankees, 43.

Rounding out the Top Ten, in order, were Willie Mays, baseball; Bart Starr, football; Jimmy Brown, football; Wilt Chamberlain, basketball, and Bobby Hull, hockey.

Palmer became the epitome of the modern athlete—part actor, part ham, sports idol and business tycoon. He turned into the darling of the TV tube.

He is perfectly equipped for the role.

Son of a professional, he has the build of a light heavyweight fighter with powerful sloping shoulders, arms like wagon tongues and the caloused hands of a blacksmith. He represents the new bold generation of golfer—the go-for-broke swinger who disdains style and hazards, sledge-hammers courses into submission and makes birdies and eagles the target instead of pars.

Palmer created a new breed of fans who dubbed themselves "Arnie's Army." Largely they know little of golf—and cared les. They storm over the course—running, pushing, yelling—exhorting their idol to fresh heroics.

Even when Palmer went into a prolonged slump—in 1968 and 1969, going 14 months without a victory—they refused to desert him.

SEX APPEAL

Palmer is loaded with what the politicians call charisma but which the movie marquees refer to simply as sex appeal. In the 1960s, women turned off the soap operas to watch Arnie make his patented charges. They found him more exciting than Batman and "Love' Last Dream."

Although his hair has begun to thin on top of his strong, rugged face and he fights a losing battle with the paunch—as he alternately kicks and returns to the cigarette habit—Arnie delights his galleries with a gamut of expressions. They have become trademarks.

JIM GILMARTIN

Artie Really Had A Fastball

As a young baseball player, eons ago, my most terrifying experiences were batting against fastball pitchers.

I had a back problem. A yellow streak down it.

Also, my left foot gave me trouble. I kept it firmly entrenched in baseball's proverbial bucket. Even if a pitch was wild OUTSIDE I stepped away from it.

A further handicap was my vision. I couldn't see the ball with my eyes closed.

In high school we usually faced kids who threw r i n k y - d i n k y marshmallow pitches. Garbage stuff. Which was the only reason I survived.

But one memorable day our high school coach had a brainstorm to schedule a scrimmage against the Marin Junior College team, figuring the stiff competition would do us some good. Which was good thinking on the coach's part since he didn't have to bat against the college whizzes. Coaches and fight managers are diabolists.

Hummed, Zipped And Smoked

Well Marin J.C. that year had a pitcher named Artie Schallock. He was a little lefthander but, man, he threw fire. His fast one h u m m e d, zipped and smoked. I'm not saying he threw bullets but he was the only pitcher I knew at the time who had to carry a permit. He was armed and considered dangerous.

For high school kids accustomed to slow motion, Schallock was like a firing squad. I'm not saying we were scared, but I'd liked to have had the laundry concession that day. Luckily our flannel knickers were Sanforized.

And it was my luck to be leadoff batter! They figured if I survived there was hope after all. If I managed to get the bat off my shoulder they would have considered it a moral victory. A foul ball would have been a rally.

Well, I reluctantly took my turn at bat with all the coolness of lemon jello— trembling and yellow. Naturally, I didn't get the bat off my shoulder because I couldn't see anything to swing at. Schallock was a rumor as far as I was concerned. I did hear the ump thrice bellow "stee-rike" and was happy to get out of there alive.

Been A Fan Ever Since

Well, Ive been a fan of Artie's ever since and followed his progress through the minor and major leagues (Yankees, Orioles), cheering his triumps and hurting a little with his losses.

I saw Artie pitch for the Yanks in the 1953 World Series and proudly nudged the guy next to me: "Hey, I batted against that little squirt one time. Had pretty good stuff and a fair hummer as I recall."

But that was long ago and a lot of people forget some of our guys after they hang up the tools of sports. But a lot of people never forget. Like the Knights of Columbus of Southern Marin who tonight will enshrine Schallock, former American League All-Star Joe DeMaestri of Novato, golfer Mat Palacio Jr. of San Rafael and ex-fighter Claude "Kid" Capley of Sausalito in their Marin Hall of Fame. The affair will be held at Mt. Carmel Auditorium, Mill Valley, starting at 8 o'clock.

This Hall of Fame is a far cry from the one in Cooperstown but it's just as important to the principals and to those of us whose pleasure it was to follow their careers. And that's what it's all about.

Ziegler Likes His Hockey

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —The marathon Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic swung into the 54-hole phase today, with 36 more to go, and leading the way through the wreckage of par was Larry Ziegler, a young man who would just as soon watch ice hockey as play golf.

The tall, blond, 30-year-old Ziegler, from Terre Du Lac, Mo., which is somewhere near St. Louis, broke out of a first-round deadlock with a seven-under par 65 Thursday and went into this third round with scores 67-65—132.

DELVIN SECOND

It gave Ziegler a three stroke lead over Australian Bruce Devlin, who had 67-68—135. Tied at 137 were ex U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, 70-67, and Moon Mullin, who followed a 72 with a 65, a competitive course record for the La Quinta Country Club.

The bigger names in the tournament were down the line a bit—Arnold Palmer 71, and Chi Chi Rodriguez, 70 in the 139 group, and Bill Casper in a tie at 140 after a 69.

Of the five who tied in the first round, only Ziegler and Devlin, the one-time master plumber, remained prominent. Bob Rosburg skidded to 142 with a 75 and Charles Coody and Labron Harris to 141 each with a 74.

AGNEW

Gallery interest was heightened with the expectation that Vice Preident Spiro T. Agnew might compete as one of the 408 amateurs in the field. The Vice President originally was teamed with the host, Hope and Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif.

Agnew is definitely set to play Saturday when the amateurs wind up their four rounds, giving way to the pros for their final fling Sunday. Both the Saturday and Sunday rounds will be nationally televised by the National Broadcasting Co.

"I'd like to win here so I can take a break and take in the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs," Ziegler said, explaining that while he could never learn to skate he has a deep passion for the game.

Ziegler played Indian Wells' short but tight course in 33-32—65. He banged out five birdies and finished the day with an eagle-three on the 18th hole. He hit a four-wood 25 feet from the cup and holed the putt.

Clyde Lee Is Providing Bright Surprise For S.F.

PHOENIX (UPI)—Clyde Lee has turned from a low scoring forward to a high scoring center, and his efforts are making the San Francisco Warriors' playoff chances more realistic with each passing game.

Lee scored 25 points Thursday night in aiding a 127-105 National Basketball Association victory over the Chicago Bulls. The win puts the Warriors percentage points behind the third place Phoenix Suns, who host San Francisco tonight.

MUSCLE

When standout center Nate Thurmond was shelved for the remainder of the season by a knee injury a few weeks ago, it was feared Lee would not have the muscle or scoring punch to take up the slack.

But the four-year pro from Vanderbilt has been scoring 20 or more points with regularity at the pivot after having trouble even reaching double figures while at forward. Lee was successful two years ago in filling in for an injured Thurmond and taking the Warriors to the playoffs.

Frontline mates Joe Ellis and Jerry Lucas aided Lee on the boards and in the scorebook Thursday night. Ellis topped all scorers with 26 points, Lucas had 23.

MULLINS OUT

The Warriors got the victory despite missing Jeff Mullins, who has averaged 23.3 points a game. Mullins is out of action for at least 10 days with a knee injury.

McLain Facing Eviction

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (UPI) —Denny McLain's financial problems hit home Thursday when his landlord filed suit in district court here, claiming the Detroit Tigers' $80,000-a-year-plus pitching ace owed $2,450 in back rent.

Vernon B. and Lilian A. Blakely, owners of McLain's suburban Beverly Hills, Mich., home, said the co-winner of the 1969 Cy Young award has not paid any rent in seven months.

Orland H. Ellis, an attorney for the Blakelys, said McLain would be evicted if he doesn't "pay up."

Although McLain was unavailable for comment, Ellis said the Tiger pitcher had indicated the money problem would be straightened out.

The eviction threat was only the latest in a series of money problems which have been creeping up on McLain, who supplements his Tiger salary with incomes from outside business interests.

McLain is also faced with a $9,460 tax lien against property he owns by the Internal Revenue Service and claims by an airport, department store and Consumers Power Co. that he owes them money.

Second Half Of Prep Cage Race To Begin

San Rafael High School's basketball team gets a chance to soothe some of its pride while Redwood's unbeaten Giants face a serious test enroute to a title as the Marin County Athletic League cage race starts its second half of action tonight.

San Rafael will try to avenge one of its two league losses when it goes against Drake in San Anselmo. The Pirates dealt the Bulldogs a 52-51 setback in the league opener at San Rafael in a loss San Rafael really couldn't afford.

HOSTS TAM

Redwood, after its impressive win over San Rafael last Friday, will attempt to get by what could be a big stumbling block when it plays host to Tamalpais in Larkspur. The Indians are tied for second place with San Rafael and still harbor some title hopes. A win over the Giants would do nothing but boost the hopes sky-high.

In other games, San Marin visits Marin Catholic and Novato is at Terra Linda. All varsity games start about 8:15, following junior varsity 7 o'clock games.

SCORING RACE

An interesting aside to the team race will be the race for individual scoring honors. Currently, four MCAL cagers are averaging 20 points or better in league action, topped by Dana LaFerriere, the 6-foot-8 San Marin Center who's roaming along at a 27.4 clip. Don Duryee, another 6-8 boy from San Rafael, is next at 23.8, followed by Bill Secor of Tamalpais, 20.2 and Jeff Meeker of Drake, 20.1.

Giants' Linzy Due For More Rest This Year

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Frank Linzy, the workhorse of the San Francisco Giants bullpen, may get more rest than usual in 1970.

Linzy will be joined this season by newcomer Frank Reberger, who signed his 1970 contract Thursday along with six other Giants.

Reberger came to San Francisco in a December trade that sent Pitcher Ron Herbel, catcher Bob Barton and third baseman Bobby Etheridge to the San Diego Padres.

The 25-year-old fastball exponent hurled 94 innings in his first major league season in 1969. He allowed 92 hits, struck out 68 batters and compiled a 1-2 record and 3.58 earned run average.

Giants manager Clyde King is hoping Reberger can take the load off Linzy, who pitched 116 innings last season and was overworked down the stretch.

The six other Giants signing contracts were pitchers Don Carrithers and Jim Willoughby, catchers Dick Dietz, John Harrell and Dave Rader, and outfielder George Foster.

Dietz, 28, will be entering his fifth season with San Francisco. He batted .230 in 1969, with 11 home runs and 35 runs batted in.

Harrell, Rader, Carrithers and Willoughby are all expected to need more minor league experience in 1970, but thy will be battling for jobs when the Giants open spring training Feb. 23 at Casa Grande, Ariz.

Foster, the 34th Giant to sign, appeared in nine games at the tail end of 1969. He socked two hits in five times at bat.

CHAMPION SKATER

Juli Wears The Crown

On the previous day the 13-year-old eighth grader of Miller Creek School was equally effective in winning the junior ladies compulsory figures title.

Last night's triumph was by far the most important step in Miss McKinstry's determined bid for international recognition.

According to A s s o c i a t e d Press, "Petite Juli, the youngest and smallest competitor in the women's events, was greeted with a resounding round of applause as she completed her program. The 4-foot-10, 83-pound prodigy demonstrated amazing skill and grace, and left no doubt as the eventual winner."

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McKinstry, Juli has been labelled by many ice skating experts as "the new Peggy Fleming" after the former international champion who has turned professional. In the past month Miss McKinstry has added the Pacific Coast and now the national championships to her collection.

In another highlight last night at Tulsa, the favored California team o f Kenneth Shelley and Jojo Starbuck captured the senior pairs championship.

Shelley and Starbuck, a pair of 18-year-olds who have been skating together for almost ten years, showed why they were rated favorites as they swept to first place.

She teamed with her brother Mark, 15, to take second place in the seniors pairs, and then placed third in the junior ladies. Thirteen-year-old Dorothy Hamill, of Troy, N.Y., gained second place in the junior ladies.

An unusual number of falls marred the junior ladies event, as five of the 13 girls spilled to the ice at least once.

Today's competition led off with the senior ladies figures, to be followed by the novice men's free skating and the gold dance compulsory and original in the afternoon.

On tap for this evening are the novice ladies' free skating, the silver dance finals, and the senior men's free skating.

Trackmen Not Pot Smokers, Says Official

SEATTLE (AP) — Four University of Washington athletes used poor judgment, Athletic Director Joe Kearney said Thursday, but they weren't guilty of smoking marijuana as a former teammate charged.

John Davies, British middle distance runner who was attending UW and was a member of the school's track team, said Thursday at his home in Heald Green, England, that he had seen six teammates smoking pot.

INVESTIGATION

Kearney said, however, that an investigation showed Davies was wrong.

"Davies went to Ken Shannon (the track coach) on Monday and accused six trackmen of smoking pot," Kearney said. "Shannon immediately came to me, and we initiated an investigation."

Kearney said the investigation indicated that four, not six, tracksters had been in a dormitory lounge where pot was being smoked, but they had not smoked any.

"Just when we were getting the investigation wrapped up, we found out that John had left for home," Kearney said. "Then we suddenly hear the accusations are public . . .

"Apparently what had hap-

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Destructive Mudhens Wiped Out By Hunters

Most of the mudhens at the Giacomini Ranch at Point Reyes Station have been taken. One group of hunters took 200 Sunday, so the hunting out there is more or less finished for this year. Waldo Giacomini passes along his thanks to those of you who helped him get rid of the birds which were damaging the grass and clover fields on his property.

THE FISHING in San Pablo Bay has continued hot and heavy with the take of sturgeon heading the list. Bob Mevger, the harbormaster at Loch Lomond in San Rafael, has checked a good number of these fish through the launching ramp area there. Last Sunday he said most of the boats that launched there came in with a sturgeon or so.

Big rain years seem to put the fish from the delta in the San Pablo Bay area. The area below the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge was a hot spot. David Schwartz, a 14-year-old Mill Valley lad, called to say that he had taken a 6-foot, 2-inch sturgeon that weighed 103 pounds there this past week.

And Bill Robinson, one of the local pros from San Rafael, had a group of five friends out and everyone took home a sturgeon. I saw Bill's boat which looks like a 36-foot commercial trawler chasing a sturgeon last Sunday. Quite a sight to see this boat as big as it is being maneuvered around chasing a fish.

And what a deal! I heard Robinson had hot dogs, chile beans and beer for any friends who happened to pull alongside. You missed the boat if you know Bill, but there's always a next time.

THE TIDES this weekend being incoming will put the fish in close to shore along the tules. The duck hunters a few weeks ago reported seeing sturgeon in the shallows on the high incoming tides. Things will be tougher this weekend as the fish will be scattered.

THE STRIPED bass just aren't hitting, which happens at this time of the year. Then, about the end of February, the waters begin to warm up which triggers the bass to go on a feeding spree and fishing for these gamey fish gets hot.

To make this point, the other day I was sitting in a boat fishing my head off with just an occasional light hit. If I had said the area was "loaded" with fish, no one would have agreed.

A very large airplane came along, exceptionally low, causing a tremendous vibration. Then at least 20 big bass surfaced and rolled all around the boat. They were there all the time, but just wouldn't hit. Once in a while they would pick up the bait, and if you are lucky with a quick set you will hook one, but most of the time they feel the hook-line-leader resistance and drop the bait. They just aren't very hungry. I think it's the water temperature. Too low is the key factor here. What's your theory? Maybe we should serve them heated baits.

STRIPED BASS fishing at Tomales also is showing some signs of coming to life. Eleven anglers were beating the water a few days ago, but Bill Christiansen of Pt. Reyes caught the only fish.

Jack Mathews of Inverness tried pile worms one day this past week and also connected with a bass. As incoming tides and fishing in the evening usually is the best producing combination, this weekend's afternoon-evening low tides might provide some hot spots. If you go in the P.M. be sure to wear warm clothes.

JIM CRUNK, the Department of Fish and Game man who traps steelhead below Nicasio Dam for transportation to the spawning streams above the dam, has taken only 24 steelheads this season; four the last three weeks.

In checking about 300 anglers in the past month at White House Pool near Pt. Reyes Station Warden Elvin Gunderson has logged in only two steelhead.

And up at Walker Creek near Tomales, 70 fishermen had only one steelhead these past weeks. We definitely need some plants to reestablish runs in these streams.

Here's a letter I received recently:

"DEAR MR. GIDDINGS:

"In regard to your article about all the ghost shrimp you were going to win as a result of your no smoking bet: You said that anyone having a boat with a top and a heater who would like to have you go fishing with them to let you know, and you would supply the bait.

"My dad and I would like to take you up on your offer. We have a boat, a 27-foot Fairliner, a good heater to keep you warm and a top to keep you dry. If you have a Sunday available, let's go fishing.

Sincerely,
CHRIS NARD
Novato"

Well, Chris, I'm off duty Feb. 14-15, the tides are right both days about 9 a.m., so let's go. Give me a call and we'll set it up. I have the bait, so everything is right.

Terra Linda Quint Edges Marin J.V.

Terra Linda High School basketballers edged College of Marin junior varsity cagers 57-55 Wednesday behind the 18 points of Dan Trondsen and 14 points of Gary Wall.

Mike Peden led the Tar jayvee with 19 points. With the Trojans ahead by only two, 55-53, Keith Jackson made two free throws to put Terra Linda up by four with only 30 seconds left in the game.

Disputed Call, Ashe Defeated

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., was eliminated Thursday night from the International Tennis Players Association Open indoor championships with the assist of a linesman's disputed call.

Cliff Richey defeated his Davis Cup teammate 6-4, 4-6, 8-6.

"The ball was four inches out, but I can't overrule him, not unless I'm asked to," stammered match umpire Frank Hammond afterwards.

Linesman Dr. Bernard Davidson called Richey's shot good. The call came on a deep, running backhand. It gave Richey a five points to three lead over Ashe in a 12-point tie-breaking game. It was played after the third set was tied 6-all.

Dr. Davidson said later, "I was calling it through the net. It's an awful distance. If the umpire wished to overrule me I gave him the opportunity to do so. But if I had to call it 12 times, I'd call it the same way."

In other third round matches, Dennis Ralston, U.S., upset Tom Okker, the Netherlands 6-1, 6-8, 6-3. Clark Graebner of the U.S. Davis Cup team, scored 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 over Spain's Manuel Santana.

Australia's Tony Roche overpowered America's top ranked Stan Smith 6-3, 6-2. Roche now will meet Richey.

pened was that John came over to the dorm to visit some members of the team and walked into this room," Kearney said. "Some others in the room were smoking pot, but not the four. They, and everybody concerned, were very adamant about this."

Kearney said he was "thoroughly convinced" the four trackmen weren't smoking marijuana.

"But I warned the four," he said, "that they had to exhibit damned good judgment and hadn't in this case. Athletes, in particular, are subject to guilt by association. It's regrettable that the team has to get labeled by something like this."

Roseboro Suit Settled: $7,500

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 4½-year-old, $110,000 battery suit filed by former Los Angeles Dodgers catcher John Roseboro against San Francisco Giants pitcher Juan Marichal was settled Thursday for a reported $7,500.

The case had been scheduled for trial three time — and postponed each time — before being dropped from the calendar of Superior Court Judge Charles A. Loring.

Roseboro, now with the Washington Senators, contended in the suit that in a game at Candlestick Park on Aug. 22, 1965, Marichal, the batter, struck him on the head with a bat.

SEATTLE — A fund-raising campaign to keep the Seattle Pilots in this city has wound up as a "resounding success," hotelman Edward Carlson said yesterday.

Carlson, board chairman of Western International Hotels, said all but $180,000 of the $6 million cash and credit goal of the group he heads has been reached.

The next step, he said, would be to find out a meeting in Chicago next Tuesday if the American League owners will go along with the arrangement.

Crutch, Cast Standard Gear For This Skier

The first thing you have to do to go skiing, is get the proper equipment.

Ordinarily, I go down to Abbey Rents and get just the right stuff—one crutch and a surgical cast autographed, "Better Luck Next Time — Jean-Claude" or "Even The Slopes Are Crying — Toni Sailer." A "Tough Luck — Robert Redford" can be helpful, too.

YOU GET only one crutch because hobbling about on one foot can be tiring, and, this way, you can switch feet from day to day. One crutch gets you just as much sympathy as two and, when questioned, you murmur with a sigh, "The tibia—caught it on the cornice at Alta. Damn bad show."

I also load up on plenty of cigarettes. I don't smoke, but you've all seen what happens on TV to this guy, sitting in a chair with a busted ankle, waving bravely to his buddies as they go up the T-bar in search of spiral fractures of their own. And this exquisite girl comes hobbling in and asks him for a cigarette. I usually carry a carton in case this happens to me.

IF SOME wise guy happens to notice you've got one foot in the air one day and the other foot the next, just look at him scornfully and say, "Don't you think I KNOW which tibia it is?" The only trouble is, the rest of the stay, DON'T switch feet.

The crutch also permits you to, as the British say, "Jump the queue" at the chairlift. Nobody would keep an injured man standing in line, particularly if you smiled this wan little smile and say, "No, no, that's all right, I'm quite used to it. They've got the bone set temporarily and the operation won't be till morning. They think they can save the leg."

BUT, AS you know, I always go to the mountains a few times a year to shake the smog and printer's ink out of my nostrils, and see snow on the fir trees and gulp in the air of the gold country of the Sierra.

And, now, they're getting wise to me. I hold the record for hot wine consumption by guys on one leg at the June Mountain chalet, and, my pals, Dotti and Andy Oldfield at Boulder Lodge, KNOW I keep the plaster cast in the trunk of the car because, one day, I had to ask them how to spell "Paul Newman" and borrow a pen to write it on the toe area.

SO, I decided I would actually get on skis. I had to brazen it out, because I had to enroll in the June Mountain beginners' class. So, I rented equipment, and showed up and checked in with the young ski instructor.

Now, all ski instructors look as if they should be carrying machine guns and chasing Paul Henreid over the Swiss border. I mean, they have these boots that look as if they were steam-driven. They got more valves and boiler-plate than some locomotives. They look as if they have to be put on a lube rack every thousand miles.

MY INSTRUCTOR was no exception. He looked at me coldly as if I was something he had just captured in the cellar of a French farmhouse. "Name?" he said coldly. "Murray," I told him. "First name?" he said. "Jean-Claude," I answered.

"Ever skied before?" he barked. I bridled. "Skied before?!" I snarled. "Listen! I threw the powder so high at Alta meteorologists in six states thought they were tracking a blizzard. I was a forerunner at six Olympics and beat the eventual winner under three clocks. I've FALLEN more than you've skied, son."

HIS LIPS curled in an Erich von Stroheim sneer. "Then, what are you doing in a beginners' class? Do you take me for a fool?"

I gave him a heartbroken smile. "Listen, Helmut — it is Helmut, isn't it? — I'm phased out for the moment. Amnesia, you know. Got it at Biarritz. The Aly Khan crashed into me. Or maybe it was one of the Kennedys. I forget. It's beginning to come back to me in bits and pieces, but the medics recommend I go back to the beginning."

I THOUGHT I saw a flicker of sympathy cross his face, but it was probably only the sun on his monocle. "Can you snowplow?" he demanded. "Well, yes," I told him, "but I'd rather ski."

He looked at me strangely. "A 'snowplow' IS a ski maneuver," he instructed me. "Can you remember anything from your racing days?" I clasped a hand to my head. "NOW, I remember! Why, when I used to come paralleling down the head wall, my skis used to click like castanets. I was the biggest thing in the Alps since Hannibal's elephants!"

"THEN, take this little run here," Helmut said, indicating a grade of about two degrees. I started down. My eyes crossed, my skis crossed. I crashed. I pounded my fist in the snow and started to sob. "If only I could remember!" I wept. "Me! The toast of two continents! The fastest through the gates at Chamonix!" I sneaked a look up. They all had tears in their eyes.

In the chalet later, I sipped my hot mead contentedly. "It's beginning to come back," I told a well-wisher. "My downhill ski is still a bit lazy. But I should be ready by Sapporo." I gave him my autograph graciously. "Remember," I wrote. "Skiing is also mental."

MOTORIZED SKIING

Donald Steeg of Dearborn, Mich., a tool and die maker, demonstrates his latest invention, "SkiBee." It's an eight horsepower engine with a 24-inch prop that serves as a propulsion unit for motorized skiing. The back pack weighs 30 pounds and Steeg claims that the unit eliminates the need for a steep slope to enjoy the sport. He also says that "SkiBee" can be converted with a boat mount accessory to an outboard motor for summer use. (UPI Telephoto)

OAKLAND MEET

World Vault Mark Is Target Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI)—Dick Railsback and handyman Sam Caruthers take dead aim tonight on the world indoor record of 17-7 in the pole vault.

They are part of a competitive field assembled for the fourth annual Athens Invitational indoor track meet at the Coliseum-Arena. Meet director Dave Maggard, track coach at the nearby University of California, has assembled balanced talent in nearly every event.

Railsback of the Southern California Striders has been the world's best pole vaulter so far this season. His lifetime best is 7-8 3-4 which is considerably over the Athens record of 17' 3-4". Caruthers and Railsback both have beaten Olympic champion Bob Seagren.

DISTANCE ACES

Neil Steinhauer of Oregon and Australian long distance runner Ron Clarke return to the fast rubberized surface of the Coliseum-Arena to defend their titles. Steinhauer's winning toss of 67-1 3-4 at lats year's Athens meet was the best in the world in 1969.

Clarke easily defeated former record holder Tracy Smith of the United States in the world record time of 13:12.0 in the three-mile event last year.

Maggard said the jump field he has assembled is "as fine as in any indoor meet this season, probably the best."

Henry Hines of Sacramento State heads the long jump field which includes Gayle Hopkins, Darrell Horn, Phil Shinnick and Marion Anderson of San Jose State.

TOOMEY, TOO

Also competing in the long jump and on the Southern California Striders' relay team will be Bill Toomey, the Santa Barbara school teacher voted top track and field athlete of 1969 and current Sullivan Award winner as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete. Toomey set a world record in the decathlon in his final 1969 meet.

Other top entries include Geoff Vanderstock, former world record holder in the 400 intermediate hurdles, who will join Ron Whitney and former Villanova flash Don Webster, now attending Hayward State, in the open 500.

Richmond To Show Heavyweight Bout

Richmond Auditorium will be among the nation's 150 closed-circuit television outlets for the Feb. 16 live screening of the heavyweight championship fight between Joe Frazier and Jimmy Ellis.

Louie Miller, promoter of the telecast, announced today that advance tickets, priced at $5, $6 and $7, are on sale in San Rafael at Carmel Barber Shop, 828 B. Street.

The title match will start at 7:30 p.m. The telecast from Madison Square Garden will get underway at 6:30 with another heavyweight bout between 1968 Olympic Games champion George Foreman and Argentina's Gregorio Peralta.

Treadway A High Roller

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Dick Treadway of Larkspur has been bowling for 29 years and he doesn't show any signs of letting up. He still carries averages over the 200 mark.

Secretary of the Marin County Bowling Association since 1963, Treadway, now 41, began bowling at the old Rialto Bowl in San Francisco when he was 12. That first year of bowling he averaged 149 and at the age of 14 bowled a 296 game in a men's league at the old Upstairs Bagdad Bowl in San Francisco. His other games in that series were 225 and 169, giving him a 690 total.

He laid off bowling for three years until 1945 when he started bowling at College Bowl in Oakland. In 1950 he won the most improved bowler award in the Downtown Bowl Invitational League, at the time the best league in the Bay Area, raising his average from 189 to 195. He was also named to the league's all-star team which beat a "big name" team from Detroit that included Bill Bunetta in a match game. That year he was also one of 12 bowlers who were named for a rolloff for a chance to beat the then National Match Game champ Junie McMahon. Treadway finished "around seventh or eighth."

DICK TREADWAY

MARINE SERVICE

The fact that he was averaging 202, second high, in the Bay Area Majors Traveling League didn't stop the Marine Corps from drafting him in 1951. But he spent the two-year hitch in California, part of it in Kentfield at the Marine Corps Reserve post.

Treadway, western administrative officer for Channing Co. of San Francisco, a mutual fund securities dealer, won himself a trip to the Bowling Proprietors Association of America All-Star Tournament at Minneapolis in 1957, one of three Bay Area men to win such honors. Ed Bourdase (now one of the top money pros in the Professional Bowlers Association tour) was a teammate of Treadway and one of the three to make the trip to Minneapolis.

The next year Treadway was a member of the Metropolitan Masters Traveling League, bowling for Downtown Bowl, and won the league rolloff from Brentwood Bowl. Heading that team was the same Bourdase, but Downtown Bowl won eight of the 12 games. Treadway bowled a total of 2,573 pins, an average of 214, high for the match.

In 1961 he won third place in the first California State Masters tournament. The next year, at Greenbrae Lanes, he bowled his highest series of his life and it was in the annual Marin County "City" Tournament team event, a 744 three-gamer. He won the all-events title that year, scoring 1970 pins scratch, highest tourney all-events score on record.

Treadway is quite a money bowler. "Somewhere during this period I shot 298 and then 299 in successive weekends in pot games at Greenbrae Lanes," he said.

Treadway took over as MCBA secretary in 1963 after the death of then secretary Clay Anderson, one of the founders of the bowling association.

Treadway is still bombing the pins. Last year he averaged 206 in San Francisco and 201 in Marin County. Currently he is averaging 206 in S.F. and 197 in Marin. His highest averages have been 210 in S.F. leagues and 201 in Marin.

Treadway feels his greatest bowling accomplishment came in the summer of 1968 at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael. While shooting in the 550 Trios, he rolled a 245 triplicate series which is the highest triplicate ever shot in Northern California and second highest in the state.

PG&E Asks For Another Rate Boost

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) Pacific Gas and Electric Co. yesterday asked the California Public Utilities Commission for an increase of $20.6 million annually in addition to a boost of $16 million that went into effect 11 days ago.

The company said higher prices for gas from Texas, New Mexico and Canada necessitated an increase of $16 million. The other $4.6 million was requested to offset termination by Congress of investment credit for new facilities.

The company asked that the new prices, which would average about 40 cents per month for residential customers, become effective April 13.

The PUC, after extensive public hearings, authorized PG&E to increase its gas rates by 3.48 per cent for a total of $16,155,000 annually. This increase went into effect Jan. 26.

The company had asked for $21,327,000 to give it a 7.5 per cent rate of return. The increase granted by the PUC authorized a rate of return of 7.3 per cent.

Fire Sweeps $60,000 Sausalito Home

A spectacular fire swept a $60,000 Sausalito house at 4:52 a.m. today, burning it to its foundations. Five occupants of the building fled the blaze.

At 10:30 a.m. firemen still were sifting the charred ruins for a possible sixth person, a girl, who may have died in the fire.

Six units from the Sausalito Fire Department and one from the Marin County Fire Department responded to the blaze at 25 Marion Avenue, an expensive residential area. Also destroyed were a Mercedes-Benz and a Jaguar.

The fire, which lit up surrounding hills and could be seen in Tiburon, was brought under control in 45 minutes, a fire department spokesman said.

David Irving, a Tamalpais Valley volunteer fireman, was among the first to arrive on the scene and reported several eucalyptus trees surrounding the house were ablaze.

"Embers were shooting up higher than the trees," he said. "The house was the last one on a narrow road and the larger engines couldn't get to it.

"One of the occupants was standing there dressed only in jeans," Irving said. "A neighbor got a shirt for him."

For a time the fire threatened to spread through the trees to surrounding homes, but firemen managed to confine the blaze to the immediate vicinity of the house.

The house was reported owned by Thomas Smallwood of 114 Filbert Street, Sausalito. Two of the occupants were identified by Sausalito firemen as John Ferrington and Roger Lewis. The names of the other men were not known.

Although cause of the fire is unknown, firemen said one of the occupants of the house thought it started in the furnace room. A report of a man who ran from the house and drove away in a truck is being investigated.

The structure was reported insured for $60,000, the furnishings for $20,000.

600 Commuters At Long Span Session

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

An often unruly crowd of more than 600 commuters jammed the Civic Center last night to heap a mixed bag of praise and condemnation on the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The meeting of the district board's transportation committee was billed as a hearing on the "effect of transit plans on commuter rates," but most bridge directors stressed last month when they set the meeting that they would not reconsider their December vote to jump commuter tolls from $6.50 to $10 for a 25-round-trip book.

The crowd, which freely jeered, booed and clapped through much of the four-hour meeting, was the largest since the Marin County Board of Supervisors' stormy session last year over an abortive move to fire Planning Director Paul C. Zucker. The crowd swamped both the supervisors and planning commission chambers, and overflowed onto the balcony and into the hallways.

Half dwindled away after two hours, but almost 100 still were holding on when adjournment came just before midnight.

A narrow majority of the more than 40 speakers praised the higher commute toll as justified to buy the bus and ferry system the district is working to start. This majority included spokesmen for several large citizens groups.

These groups included the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, Marin Conservation League, League of Women Voters of Central Marin, Marin Transportation Action Committee, and Sleepy Hollow Homes Association.

Also favoring transit financed by higher commuter tolls were Tiburon Mayor Branwell Fanning, Tiburon City Councilman Denis T. Rice, San Anselmo City Councilmen Kenneth L. Anderson and James F. Reed, and former Novato City Councilman Jack Adams, who also has served on the Marin County Transit District board.

The four incumbent councilmen noted they spoke as individuals because their councils had taken no official stand on the hike.

Criticizing the toll hike and generally critical of the bridge district were spokesmen for the

'I MAY BE NUTS, BUT . . .'

Troubled Druggist Ditches Cigarettes

A Strawberry pharmacist, troubled by selling both cigarettes and health products, today removed cigarettes from sale and called upon other pharmacists to follow his example.

"Maybe I'm a little nuts, but I feel as though it's warranted," said Burt Freeman, owner of Village Pharmacy at Strawberry Town and Country Village Shopping Center.

He estimated that his decision will cost him about $1,000 in sales a month, and that his present inventory was worth some $300. He said he would try to return it to wholesalers, but that if he can't, "Well, then it just will not be for sale."

Freeman, 40, a resident of Sausalito, said he had been thinking about taking the action for seven months, and reached his decision yesterday with the encouragement of a customer with whom he happened to discuss it.

"Being a pharmacy, we're primarily concerned with the health and well being of the community," he said. He said he reached his decision "in light of the studies that it is hazardous to health to smoke.

"If we're going to do something about pollution, and we're actually polluting our own bodies, then let's start doing something about it with our own bodies," Freeman said.

Freeman said he used to smoke, but stopped 16 years ago. Most of his eight employees also used to smoke, he said, but none do now.

"I just hope that this might trigger a chain reaction, and that others will do some soul searching themselves and will follow suit." He said he will push the Marin County Pharmaceutical Association for support.

Freeman's removal today included cigars, but not pipe tobacco.

LBJ Details Decision On Bomb Policy

Johnson Credits Rusk's Argument For '68 Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson says Secretary of State Dean Rusk's argument that North Vietnam would not respond to a demand for a concession led him to order a conditional bombing halts on March 31, 1968.

Revealing for the first time the events behind the decision that got the Communists to agree to peace to peace talks, Johnson also said:

-He had been looking for a peace move to tie in with his planned announcement of his retirement from office.

-Defense Secretary Clark Clifford had wanted the North Vietnamese to make a concession.

—That at the same time, and unaware of Rusk's proposal, U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg asked Johnson to "stop all the bombing."

-That he thoroughly explained to Sen. William Fulbright, a critic of the war, what he intended to do with the Tonkin Gulf Resolution.

DURING REVIEW

Johnson said Rusk suggested during a review of Vietnam policy that the bombing of North Vietnam be stopped as "a peace overture."

Johnson said the gesture for peace—which also included his announcement that he would not seek reelection—failed.

"My hopes have faded away, and my dreams have not been realized," he said in an interview to be broadcast Friday night on CBS. (Channel 5, 10 p.m.) "I deeply regret it, but I was constantly trying, just as I'd tried on many other causes that failed."

The televised interview, devoted to Johnson's decision to stop the bombing of North Vietnam, was the second in a series with Walter Cronkite. It was filmed last fall at the LBJ Ranch in Texas.

RUSK A TARGET

The former president said Rusk, whose advocacy of Johnson administration Vietnam policy had made him a target of antiwar demonstrators, argued that the North Vietnamese would not respond to a demand for a concession in return for stopping the bombing.

He said he was going over recommendations from his top advisors in early March 1968 when "Secretary Rusk come back and said—while we were evaluating these things, he said, 'Now I think the time's come where we can stop the bombing.'

"Some of them suggested—I think Secretary Clifford suggested, and we and some of the others joined him—that we stop the bombing on the condition that the North Vietnamese do something.

"And Secretary Rusk said, 'That won't work, this reciprocity won't work. We ought to just stop the bombing.'

"I said, 'Get on your horses and get me a plan!'"

January Jobless Rate Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate took its largest one-month jump in nearly a decade last month, climbing to 3.9 per cent of the country's labor force. Other economic signs continued to reflect a slowing economy under the Nixon administration's anti-inflation policies.

The increase over December from 3.5 per cent to 3.9 per cent, the Labor Department said today, was the biggest since December 1960, when the rate climbed by half a point to 6.6 per cent and the 3.9 per cent rate was the highest since November 1967.

Not only did the jobless rate jump to 3.9 per cent with a total of 3.4 million unemployed workers, the Labor Department said today, but the average work week dropped and overtime for manufacturing workers fell to its lowest level in two and a half years.

The department said the total unemployment increase for January over December was even greater than the usual December-January change. In all, unemployment was up 325,000 over the month, with most of the increase accounted for by teenagers and adult men.

The 3.9 per cent increase was four-tenths of one per cent above the seasonally adjusted December rate of 3.5 and slightly above the revised Septem-

Israelis Sink Arab Warship

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes sank an Egyptian minelayer, which normally carries a crew of 80, in the Gulf of Suez today during attacks on military targets along the Suez canal and deep inside Egypt, the military command announced.

The sinking was reported after Egyptian frogmen blew holes in the sides of two Israeli navy supply ships in Eilat harbor, sinking one and causing the other to be beached.

Egypt claimed the Israeli raid was in retaliation for the frogman attack.

The Israelis said their planes also struck deep in the Nile River valley more than 200 miles south of Cairo.

A LONG WELCOMING STRETCH

Goals Outlined For An Urbanized Nation

Moynihan put the goal of ending those ills at the top of a list of priorities in a new national urban policy.

President Nixon's chief urban adviser unveiled the policy Thursday before a select meeting of nine mayors from medium-sized U.S. cities, the President and his Urban Affairs Council.

"If you want to get rd of crime, get rid of poverty and racial isolation," said Moynihan after the closed-door meeting.

Moynihan cited the side effects of the federal highway program which at times aggravated the inner city housing situation through massive dislocations to make way for the roads while providing the freeway systems which made it easy for the tax-paying middle class to flee to suburbia.

—Strengthening local government so it can become more efficient and meaningful to city dwellers.

Moynihan said it was important to encourage consolidated government such as the merger of Indianapolis with the suburbs and Marion County.

—Restoring fiscal vitality to the cities by such means as the sharing of federal revenues which the Nixon administration has proposed.

—Equalizing public services in different government jurisdictions.

He cited the difference in quality between school districts often within the same counties as an example of the problem.

—Focusing special attention on the mass movement of people from the country-side to the city and from the city to the suburbs.

—Supporting state involvement in urban affairs.

—Developing a more efficient system for state, local and private involvement in meeting the goals the federal government hopes to achieve.

—Improving informational services available to the cities so that they can better gauge the current and future situation.

Moratorium On Railroad Strike Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike-lockout moratorium until Feb. 21 has been agreed to by the nation's railroads and four shopcraft unions.

The disputants were already subject to parallel court orders barring strikes by the unions or lockouts by the carriers through Wednesday.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz who announced the agreement Thursday, also said bargaining talks in the dispute are being transferred Monday from Washington to Miami Beach. He said the move was being made because many of the principles are committed to AFL-CIO midwinter meetings in Miami Beach during the next two weeks.

There was still no break in the continuing talks. They focus on a work rule change in last month's tentative settlement. The change was accepted by three of the unions but rejected by the membership of the sheet metal workers.

The other union involved are the machinists, boilermakers and electricians.

Sentence Passed In Bad Check Charge

Johnnie Martin Polk of San Jose was sentenced to a year in jail yesterday in Marin Municipal Court after he pleaded guilty to passing a bad check at Wells Fargo Bank in San Rafael March 10, 1069.

Judge Hadden W. Roth ordered Polk to repay the $150 and serve the jail term concurrently with a term he is now serving in San Jose.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Cahill Dinner?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto has named a committee to prepare a testimonial dinner for Thomas Cahill, the man he fired as police chief. But there is some doubt the guest of honor would attend.

"I don't even know whether I'll be in town," Cahill commented Thursday.

"I don't want anyone to feel that I have to be rewarded for the job I've done," he added. "I feel the people deserved my efforts."

Several officers queried praised Cahill and also praised his successor, former Dep. Chief Alfred J. Nelder.

They seemed not to know exactly why the change was made but expressed cautious optimism.

Bug Poison Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson introduced a bill today to outlaw eight long-lived insecticides, including one pest killer that has been called deadlier than DDT.

The eight insecticides are members of the family of chlorinated hydrocarbons. All are first cousins of DDT.

The step marked the first time that sweeping legislation to ban the widespread application of persistent pesticides have been introduced in Congress.

Nelson's legislative package would outlaw interstate sale or shipment of dieldrin, aldrin, chlordane, endrin, heptachlor, DDD-DDE, lindane and toxaphene.

Ralph MacMullan, director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, has called dieldrin a far greater hazard for fish and wildlife than DDT. He made the statement after watching the amounts of dieldrin and DDT build-up in Lake Michigan fishes to the point where they threaten natural reproduction.

Dollar In Bermuda

BERMUDA (AP) — Bermuda, where the U.S. dollar has held sway for nearly 50 years, got a dollar of its own today as this British colony abandoned pounds and pence and went over to the decimal system.

The aim of the move is to keep Bermuda in step with other Commonwealth countries which are changing to the more convenient decimal system. Britain will make the switch next year.

Postage stamps will bear the old pence and shilling denominations until a new issue comes out but they will be purchased in decimal currency.

Pompidou Tour

PARIS (AP) — President Georges Pompidou and aides, opening a tour of the United States, will be guests of President Nixon at his Camp David retreat the night of Feb. 22.

An official announcement to this effect Thursday gave no further details of Pompidou's itinerary. The tour will last until March 3 and will take him from New York to the West Coast.

Prince Has Rules

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip said, "There are rules, you know"; a portrait painter said he was 'upset," and a photographer said he was "extremely humiliated." Result: Prince Philip did not have his picture taken.

Turkish newsman Dogan Uluc said he went to Buckingham Palace to photograph a Turkish artist named Rahmi painting a portrait of the prince consort.

Rahmi said Philip refused and remarked: "You have to learn there are rules in life," and Uluc was escorted out.

"I've had pictures taken in palaces all over Europe, so why not here too?" Rahmi told newsmen today.

Buckingham Palace said only that the incident occurred Wednesday and no permisison for photographs had been given.

Brown Acquitted

Brown, 33, now a Hollywood actor, had been accused in connection with a traffic collision in West Hollywood last Aug. 1.

Charles Brush, a 52-year-old printer, alleged that after the accident Brown drove his car toward him at 45 miles per hour and that he was forced to leap onto the vehicle's hood to escape injury.

Brown testified that Brush was yelling at him and, for no apparent reason, jumped on the hood of the car. He said he drove about 300 feet at 10 miles an hour, stopped and removed the heavy-set printer from the hood, placing him on his feet.

G.E. Hike Prices

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The General Electric Co. resuming production following a three-month strike, says prices on all major GE and Hotpoint appliances are going up approximately three per cent today.

Walter Bennett, public relations spokesman for the appliance and television group, said the price increases would apply to goods sent to distributors and "I have no idea when the cost will be passed on to the consumer. That all depends on the dealers."

Bennett said the price rise would be on air conditioners, home laundry units, ranges, dishwashers, garbage disposals, refrigerators and freezers.

Blast Probe Widens

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Shaker Heights Police Chief Carl Longstreet says the bombing of the suburb's municipal building "may be broader in scope than just one person." Previously Martin Berns, 21, had been named as the probable perpetrator.

"Something important has happened in the case," Longstreet said at a news conference Thursday night. Then he clamped news blackout on the case and refused to elaborate.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer reported that police were seeking information on associates of Berns, believed to have been killed when the blast ripped through the building Monday, injuring 15 persons.

The newspaper said it had learned that Berns, missing since the blast, had close ties with several social and political groups.

Alarming Venereal Disease Report On Today's Youth

BERKELEY (UPI)—One out of every 10 young Californians will have venereal disease this year, the state's top VD fighter said today.

Dr. Warren A. Ketterer, head of the VD program for the State Public Health Department, made the prediction concerning teen-agers and young people under 25 on the basis of 1969 venereal disease reports.

Public health agencies have voiced concern in recent months about the "epidemic" of gonorrhea among young people—who now account for more than half of all reported VD cases in the state.

Ketterer said the one in 10 figure was based on last year's 101,000 reported cases—which is one-fifth to one-tenth the actual number of VD cases in California.

Pollution Measures Fail To Make Ballot

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Leaders of an unsuccesful campaign to recall Gov. Ronald Reagan two years ago failed Thursday to qualify two tough antipollution measures for the ballot.

The secretary of state's office declared the measures ineligible for the election ballot when the people's Lobby, Inc., fell far short of submitting the required number of qualifying signatures.

Only 242,273 voter signatures were turned in on the initiative. A minimum of 325,173 was needed to qualify it for the November election.

The People's Lobby, Inc., is headed by Mrs. Joyce Koupal of Hollywood who conducted an unsuccesful campaign in 1967 and 1968 to recall Reagan.

In Los Angeles, Koupal said, "We didn't figure on coming in. We're going to court immediately."

He and his wife said they would file suit in San Bernardino and Los Angeles Counties seeking to force county clerks to accept petition signatures they had ruled contained errors.

The initiative would have required polluters such as factories to declare publicly how much pollution they discharge and to cut back pollutants upon citizen demand. It also would have placed even tighter smog control restrictions on automobiles starting in 1972.

The constitutional amemdment would have placed the major burden on eliminating pollution on those who caused

Young Conservationists Urge Ecology As Priority

Youthful conservationists last night urged the Petaluma River Study Committees to consider pollution, preservation of ecology and recreational programs as top priorities.

The 26 students from Petaluma Senior High School told how marine biology classes use the river as an outdoor classroom and spend afternoons collecting samples to be studied later in the classroom.

The students told committee members that they value the river highly and that pollution should be eliminated to promote other forms ot river life for scholastic, recreational and aesthetic purposes.

The committees last night considered the possibility of a local or regional airport in the Lakeville area of the river and said strong opposition should be included in the group's final report in April to governments in Marin and Sonoma Counties.

They said an airport would seriously damage ecology and prevent many possible recreational facilities. Many said they felt it would be more economically sound to expand the airport operated by Marin County rather than develop a new Sonoma County site.

The group also considered a possible park site on Neal's Island, near the junction with San Antonio Creek. Many agreed with the proposed site, but said pollution must be controlled before recreational programs become practical.

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—A state proposal to widen Richardson Bay Bridge, due for a vote yesterday by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, was postponed to Feb. 19.

The BCDC staff reported that the postponement was to give time for state and Marin officials to work out the county's proposal to include a pedestrian and bicycle walkway on the bridge.

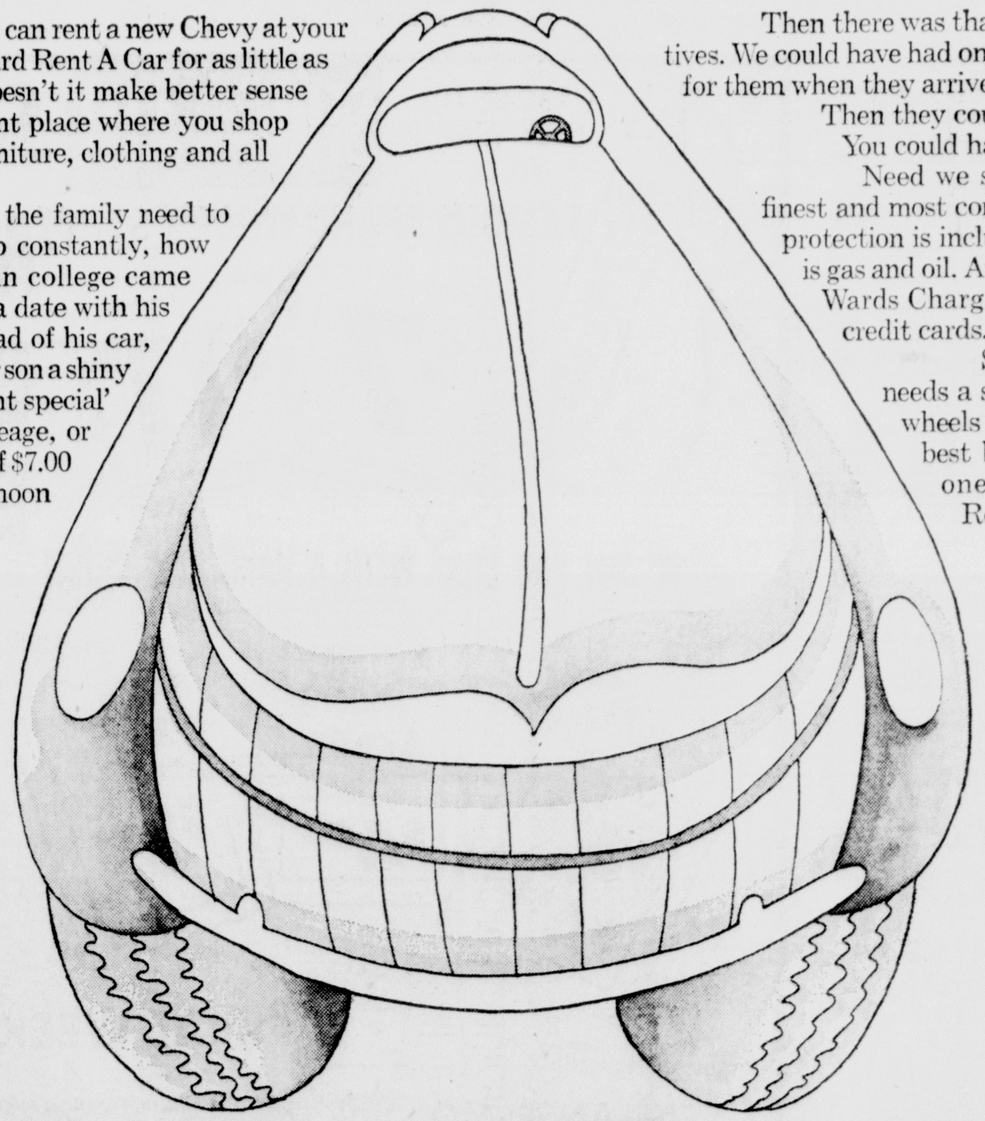
(But you can rent it.)



And now that you can rent a new Chevy at your neighborly Montgomery Ward Rent A Car for as little as $6.00 a day plus mileage, doesn't it make better sense to rent at the one convenient place where you shop and save on appliances, furniture, clothing and all your family needs?

And if you think the family need to rent a car isn't cropping up constantly, how about the time your son in college came home for the weekend and a date with his girl. Instead of depriving dad of his car, we could have delivered your son a shiny new Chevy for our 'overnight special' price of just $6.00 plus mileage, or our 'weekend special' price of $7.00 per day plus mileage, from noon Friday to noon Monday.

Then there was that visit from your wife's relatives. We could have had one of our new Chevys waiting for them when they arrived.

Then they could have gone their way.

You could have gone yours.

Need we say more? Except that the finest and most complete package of insurance protection is included in the one low rate. So is gas and oil. And you can put it all on your Wards Charg-all account or other major credit cards.

So the next time the family needs a second or even a third set of wheels for awhile, remember: Your best buy in a new car is renting one from Montgomery Ward Rent A Car.

Johnson's presidency, succeeding Robert S. McNamara.

Johnson said he had been planning to announce his retirement from the presidency in a speech in early 1968. "I wanted to use the announcement that had to come as a predicate and as a basis for getting all the steam I could toward a possible peace move," he said.

After the Tet offensive in February 1968 he dispatched Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to Vietnam. Wheeler's report was turned over to the top Vietnam advisers and Rusk's suggestion came out of that.

On either March 5 or March 6, after his verbal suggestion, Rusk "came back and he read a paper, and the paper was not far different from the proposal in my speech," Johnson said.

Regarding the bombing halt proposals, Johnson said, "Secretary Clifford took the position that you would endanger your troops in the DMZ area, endanger many American lives and be gambling on something that you weren't justified in gambling on, that if there's any disposition on the part of the North Vietnamese to respond, they'd respond if you eliminated the bombing of 90 per cent of their population area."

Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker in Saigon was asked for his reaction to the two proposals, Johnson said.

On the one by Goldberg, Bunker "come back strong and said, 'I just can't. That dog won't hunt. We just cannot get that over, it would just blow everything.'" Johnson quoted him as saying. "Then what do you do about the second one? 'Well,' he said, 'it's got its problems, and there are many, and I don't know what we could do about it,' and finally ending up, 'If you decide to go that way I'll do my best from this end of the line.'"

A week or so before he was to give his speech, Johnson asked some unofficial advisers to the White House, among them Abe Fortas, then a Supreme Court justice; former Secretary of State Dean Acheson; McGeorge Bundy, an architect of Vietnam policy under John F. Kennedy and Johnson as White House adviser on national security affairs; Gen. Omar Bradley, and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, who had been an ambassador to Saigon.

"The substance of their recommendation was, as presented by Mr. Bundy and Secretary Acheson, was that our time was limited, that we should do two things, really," Johnson said. "One, find some way to increase the build-up that the Vietnamese were making themselves, and Second, that down the road to try to find some negotiating stance and find some reason to go to the table."

Johnson said he had hoped a move toward peace would come out of the bombing halt because "no one that sits in the chair of the president wants to be regarded as an unreasonable, unfair, unjust person who lives to wage war . . .

Concerning the difference of opinion between Johnson and Sen. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, on the limits of the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution, Johnson said, "Don't tell me a Rhodes scholar didn't understand everything in that resolution, because we said to him at the White House and every other member of that committee that the president of the United States is not about to commit forces and undertake actions to deter aggression in South Vietnam to prevent this Communist conspiracy, unless and until the American people through their Congress sign on to go in.

Ross Patient Struck By Auto

A San Francisco woman walked out of the psychiatric unit at Ross General Hospital last night and attempted to take her life by jumping in front of a moving auto, the California Highway Patrol said.

The patrol said the woman, Avril E. Weber, 28, left the hospital about 11:40 p.m. and dashed into Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, where she was struck by a westbound auto driven by Robert T. Wilson, 31, of 77 Taylor Avenue, Woodacre.

The woman was taken to a psychiatric unit at Marin General Hospital, where she was reported in satisfactory condition today with body cuts.

Fred Harris To Quit Demo Chairman Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma is resigning as Democratic National Chairman, it was learned today.

Sources close to him said Harris would step down effective when a successor is chosen.

Harris called a news conference later today to announce his plans.

Harris has headed the party for just over a year.

Jim Monroe, Harris' administrative assistant and press secretary, would not directly confirm the report, but he said at Oklahoma City that Harris "has brought the party through this transition period and has accomplished much of what he set out to do."

His decision to step down comes a day after the party's first major fund raising effort of 1970, a dinner in Miami Beach.

Sources close to Harris said the chairman had been planning to leave the party post, but had waited for what he considered the proper moment.

"We've had a successful fund raising dinner, and now he can leave with cash on hand," one source said. But if that is true for the current operating budget, the party remains nearly $8 million in debt, a deficit left over from the 1968 presidential campaign.

There was no immediate word as to who might succeed Harris.

One source said Harris would remain active in Democratic politics, particularly as a spokesman on the issues.

That is certain to promote speculation that Harris is seeking more freedom to buid his reputation in a fashion which might propel him into contention for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

JOBS

ber-October level of 3.8 per cent.

The department said jobless rates for most major groups of the labor force rose significantly over the month, although total employment declined less than usual.

It also reported a rise in the state insured unemployment rate to its highest level since 1967.

For workers between 16 and 19 years old, the jobless rate rose 2 per cent over the month, up to 13.8. For men 20 years and older, the unemployment rate rose from 2.2 to 2.5 per cent, the highest level since mid-1967.

This increase hit hardest among men between 25 and 54, the government said. Many in this group lost their jobs in production cutbacks.

The work week for rank and file workers declined by a half hour in January, which the government said was in line with seasonal expectations.

In manufacturing, it dropped much more than seasonally and was down four-tenths of an hour over the month to 40.2, the lowest level in about two years.

After remaining steady at 3.5 hours for three consecutive months, factory overtime declined to 3.2 hours, with the drop concentrated in the durable goods sector.

The average hourly earnings for all production and nonsupervisory workers on private payrolls rose two cents in January to $3.14, up 20 cents from a year ago. But because of what the department called the usual January drop in the work week, average weekly earnings fell by 81 cents to $116.81. Over the year, average weekly earnings increased by 6.56 or six per cent.

Youth Group Urges Teen Vote Support

Marin County should join the initiative drive giving the vote to 18-year-olds on the statewide ballot in November, Marin County youth commissioners decided unanimously last night.

The youth commission, headed by Novato teen-ager Mark W. Tracy, passed a resolution asking the Marin County Board of Supervisors to endorse the campaign to lower the voting age from 21 to 18, and to put the measure on the November ballot.

The commission decided to serve as Marin County coordinator for gathering petitions for the drive. The rallying day for the petition collection is Feb. 23, the day after Washington's birthday.

Next meeting of the youth commission is set for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 19 in the Civic Center.

Gwen M. Monroe, youth coordinator, said the commission now meets on the first third and fourth Thursdays at 7:30 p.m., but from April, the meetings will be held on Tuesday nights instead of Thursdays.

Cotati Sets $100,000 Bond Vote

The Cotati City Council last night called for a $100,000 bond election for sewage improvements on April 14 and heard a complaint from a citizen which illustrated the need.

The bonds would finance the construction of newer mains and a connection with the Rohnert Park sewage treatment plant.

Savera Wilford Sr. of 7582 Commerce Boulevard, told the council that a sewage line had backed up on his property three weeks ago during heavy rains. He said the runoff was nearly up to his home and the multicolored paper had littered his yard.

Councilmen Kenneth Garner and John L Groom said they had investigated his problem and found that heavy rain waters had infiltrated the sewage line and caused pumps to overload and stop functioning.

City Mgr. Gordon C. Howe said that auxiliary pumps rented by the city would stem the problem temporarily, but that City Engineer Paul Schock reported no permanent solution could be found until the tie-in with Rohnert Park is complete.

The bond election will be held in conjunction with the city council election with the poll at the Cotati School open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Howe said a meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Cotati fire hall for persons interested in serving on a citizen's committee to promote passage of the issue.

The Cotati City Council also:

RAILROAD — Approved 3 to 2 a resolution asking the state Public Utilities Commission for a feasibility study on requiring railroads to beautify rights-of-way. Groom and Alfred Falletti dissented, saying the study would be too costly.

COMMITTEE — Accepted the offer of T. Jeffrey Hughes, a Sonoma State College student, to serve on the bond election promotion committee.

POLLUTION — Heard Mayor Frank J. Dolinsek report he would send air pollution control information to the council as supplied by the Sonoma County Mayors and Councilmens Association.

Teachers Salary Study Approved

A study on a possible mid-year salary increase for teachers was agreed to last night by the Old Adobe School District Board, Petaluma.

School Supt. Dean D. Magowan reminded the board that last year it had promised teachers a salary-evaluation in February.

Magowan said he anticipated that budget reserves would be maintained, but that the district may not have much extra money.

He said he would prepare a report with recommendations for Feb. 19.

Teachers had requested that salary levels in higher brackets be increased so that the top salary would double the starting salary.

The old adobe school district board also:

Book — Received for study a copy of "How We Are Born," as a proposed text for family life education classes. A decision will be made Feb. 19.

Released—Approved the release of Mrs. Ruth Anderson as a fourth grade teacher because she had neglected to renew her state credential.

Employed—Hired Mrs. Sandra Bishop to replace Mrs. Anderson at a salary of $3,648 for the remainder of the school year.

Drainage—Received a report from McKay and Somps Civil Engineers that a drainage basin at the new school site on St. Francis Drive will cost between $1,000 and $1,100.

Far-Flung Crime Hearings Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Upcoming congressional hearings on crime will deal with everything from the organized Mafia variety to extortion in which school children are robbed of their lunch money by older students.

Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., chairman of the House Select Committee on Crime, also said Thursday the panel expects to announce soon appointment of a new chief counsel with a background in Mafia investigation.

Youth Arrested With Stolen Car

A Petaluma youth has been arrested in Oregon for driving a car that had been stolen in Petaluma Tuesday night.

Oregon State police said they arrested Alan Ray Miler, 20, Wednesday. He was accompanied by a 16-year-old Petaluma boy and a 16-year-old girl from Santa Rosa. No complaint against the teen-agers is anticipated, police said.

The 1966 Mustang had been stolen from Sanderson Ford Co. used car lot, Petaluma Boulevard South and B Street.

Miler, who told police he would not fight extradition, will be returned to Petaluma.

Store Reports Window Breaking

A steel nut was thrown through a plate glass window at Klein's TV store, 509 Francisco Boulevard, Wednesday night, owner George A. Klein reported to San Rafael police yesterday.

Klein said that an employee received a phone call at the store the day before. The caller asked how the store felt about the Independent-Journal.

Klein also said he received a letter and printed material Wednesday morning from the Marin Labor Union Council protesting advertising in the I-J, which has been struck by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Three other stores reported yesterday that they had been similarly damaged. All said they had been asked not to advertise in the I-J.

Reimbursement Bill Introduced By McCarthy

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to correct the amount of state reimbursement to counties under the business inventory tax exemption has been introduced by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Because the 30 per cent exemption set by the Legislature reduced the local property tax base, the state reimburses counties for the cost of the exemption. The formula for making the reimbursements, however, last year provided some counties with too much money and some with too little.

Under McCarthy's bill, Marin would have to return to the state its overpayment of $7,491. Sonoma, however, would gain $11,464.

Forty-one counties were shortchanged $1.5 million, and 17 counties received excess payments totaling $818,000, McCarthy said.

Asemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, introduced a similar bill last month, but McCarthy's staff said it had no knowledge of Bagley's bill. Bagley's bill would not require the counties to repay excess reimbursements.

Assault Charge For Fairfax Man

Samuel Wesley James, 46, of 174 Scenic Road, Fairfax, was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of being drunk, assaulting a police officer and resisting arrest at a San Rafael bar.

San Rafael police reported that Charles Lipori, owner of the La Casa Restaurant, 903 Lincoln Avenue, called them when James returned to the restaurant after having been asked to leave, blocked the front door of the restaurant and took a swing at Lipori.

James left the restaurant before police arrived, but they located him at the Travelers Inn at 706 Third Street. When asked for identification, he shouted an obscenity, spit in the face of the police officer, and attempted to strike him, according to police.

Bail was set at $1,250, and James was held for appearance in court today.

Attack On Gas Lead Is Urged

"The more we look at it," he said, "the more it is evident that the elimination of lead from gasoline will be the key to opening the door which will allow us to combat air pollution from automobiles."

Rogers, a ranking member of the House commerce subcommittee on public health, said testimony before the California state legislature estimated it would take about $200 million to convert that state's refineries and this could be projected to about $2 billion nationwide.

Judge Refuses To Set Aside Manson Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge refused today to set aside a murder indictment against Charles M. Manson, who disclosed in court he is being held in solitary confinement.

Manson, 35, head of a hippie type clan whose members are charged with murder and conspiracy in the killings of actress Sharon Tate and six others, was ordered to return to court Monday for setting of a date for trial.

Trustee Hits Academic Role, Seeks Review

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy urgedlast night that the College of Marin "review its effectiveness" in light of a large number of students academically disqualified after the fall semester.

There were 1,118 disqualified and a high number readmitted, she told fellow trustees. "This number deserves serious study"

With a large number of disqualifications, the college 'is an apparently wasteful and expensive operation," she asserted. "Perhaps the college needs a review of its effectiveness."

WANTS REPORT

Mrs. Deedy sugegsted the board call for a full report on disqualifications, readmissions and extenuating circumstances, which are considered in readmission cases.

She also rapped the committee system at the college, which was criticized in an accreditation team report last fall.

There has been concern by some members of the board that the committee system is not representative of the "total collge community" and not an efficient operation, she said.

She called for a review of the committee system, and suggested that when recommendations come to the board, they include minority opinion.

Mrs. Deedy also pointed out a story in the Independent-Journal which told of the social studies department calling for an election in September on replacing the department head, Robert Becklund.

REMOVAL RUMOR

Teachers in the department reportedly called for Becklund,s removal because of "dissatisfaction over leniency with which courses that have traditional content have been permitted to be taught without any content whatever."

Mrs. Deedy said she hoped other departments will "seek to correct any wrongs that have developed."

There was no comment on Mrs. Deedy's remarks from other trustees, as she had to leave immediately after making them, reportedly because of a back ailment .

Five Students Receive YMCA Board Spots

One college and four high school students have been elected to membership on the board of managers of the Young Mens' Christian Association in Marin County.

The five young people — the youths elected to the board in the 21-year history of the local branch — will plan YMCA programs for children and youth, executive director Martin N. Hanzlick announced.

The new managers are: Dee Politi of San Anselmo, College of Marin freshman; Pandy Arbo of Kentfield, San Rafael High School junior; James Hasik of Novato, Novato High School senior; Marti Melville, Terra Linda High School senior and Steve Jensen of San Anselmo, Sir Francis Drake High School junior.

Elected to the executive cabinet were: Peter Treanor, chairman; Mrs. Samuel G. Crowell and Paul Hartman Jr., all of San Rafael.

Purse Stolen

A purse containing four credit cards and $2.50 cash was stolen Tuesday from La Casa Restaurant, 903 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, police said yesterday. The purse belonged to Delgene Lienenbrink, 228 Railroad Avenue, Woodacre, a waitress at the restaurant.

College Trustees Reach Impasse Of Granting Of Six Sabbaticals

Marin Junior College District trustees reached an impasse last night on granting sabbatical leaves, amid debate on cost and priorities in light of a financial squeeze.

Faculty members contended that the leaves were a contract inducement that should be honored, and delay in granting them could wreck long thought-out plans.

Supt.-President John A. Grasham recommended that six leaves be granted at an additional cost to the district of $34,871 during the next college year.

Trustee Harry J. Moore, who wanted to consider the expense in relation to the entire budget, moved that action on sabbaticals be delayed one month.

Trustees deadlocked 2-2 on the MOTION WITH Moore and Elizabeth M. Deedy backing it and Robert E. Rogers and Robert E. Oliver opposing it. Trustees Theodore C. Wellman, Donald K. Felt and Charles W. Gray were absent.

Oliver moved that the leaves be granted and the board consider cutting the additional costs by reducing class schedules or replacements. There was no second.

Mrs. Deedy said she felt apprehensive in view of the financial plight of the district. "I will not vote for sabbaticals when I don't have the total budget before me," Mrs. Deedy said.

Samuel Schwartz, political science instructor and one of the six recommended for a leave, said the staff has consistently worked to "save this district money."

Under present policy, sabbaticals are limited to four per cent of the total faculty and those on leave receive 60 per cent of their salary.

College To Proceed With $3 Million Library Plan

Marin Junior College District trustees last night approved preliminary plans for a $3 million library center, a two-story concrete structure to house a variety of activities.

The library could house up to 75,000 volumes and seat more than 700 students, explained Joseph Feil of Corwin Booth and Associated Architects of San Francisco.

The library would be in the upper level along with study halls, faculty reading room and periodicals area.

The lower level would house the college bookstore, a data processing center including three classrooms, duplicating and mailing room, audio visual center and studio areas.

There also would be a mall between Olney Hall and the library center.

The Marin College District Board Also:

POLICY — Delayed proposed policy revisions regarding due process procedure and district responsibility for financial aid until further study is made, and set Feb. 19 for action on revision of the policy on retirement, and an addition to the policy on duties and responsibilities of the board.

CATALOGUE — Awarded Pacific Printing Arts of Berkeley, lowest of three bidders, a contract to print 7,500 College of Marin catalogues for 1970-71 at a cost of $6,610.

MAINTENANCE — Heard a report from Don H. Thwaites, supervisor of plant operations and maintenance, on the effects of budget cuts in his department, the need for preventive maintenance funds next year and the increase of trash and vandalism on campus.

PLANNING — Approved a letter to Sidney W. Brossman, chancellor of California Community Colleges, urging a speedup of regional planning as it affects a north campus near Novato.

TEACHER TRAINING — Approved an agreement with Sonoma State College for the use of student teachers at the College of Marin.

LAWSUIT — Heard from Supt.-President John A. Grasham that the suit against the district, filed by two out-of-state students who were denied admission to the college because they were not Marin residents, has attracted statewide interest among junior colleges because of its potential impact on residency requirements.

ADULT DEFINITION — Advocated elimination of the "defined adult category," in computing state apportionments, because it reduces apportionment to the district for students more than 21 years of age who enroll for less than 10 class hours per week. The district receives $643 for each full-time student and $125 for each "defined adult," and the board felt the system was a hardship for part-time students working their way through college.

LAND LEASE — Agreed to consider at its Feb. 19 session the possibility of leasing North Campus land near Novato on a short-term basis.

PART-TIME LIBRARIAN — Accepted the resignation of Cynthia Bennett as part-time librarian and authorized the hiring of Linda Stone to succeed her for the spring semester at a salary of $2,143.

Suit Switched To Marin Court

A $250,000 damage suit for the death of Shirley Lee Sunke of Bel Marin Keys has been transferred to Marin Superior Court from San Francisco.

Mrs. Sunke's husband, William, and their six children are suing Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schonfeld, Sidney Schonfeld, Neville (Tex) Chillson, Continental Lodge, Inc., and the Pacheco Ranch for $250,000.

Mrs. Sunke was thrown from a horse at Pacheco Ranch, off Indian Valley Road near Novato, on Nov. 27, 1968. She died of head injuries the next morning at Marin General Hospital.

The suit alleges that the defendants should have known the horse given Mrs. Sunke was dangerous.

The suit was originally brought in San Francisco, but the defendants won a change of venue, claiming that all the defendants and the plaintiffs live in Marin.

Hearing Set

Preliminary hearing for Michael Edward Finn, 31, of no fixed address, on a charge of stealing a car Nov. 4 in San Rafael, was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for 10 a.m. March 3.

Bagley Is Most Expensive State Legislator

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California legislators charged taxpayers $2.6 million during 1969 for salaries and expenses that included trips to Mexico, Canada and Hawaii.

A survey of the state controller's disbursing records Thursday showed the average lawmaker was paid $22,300 last year in wages and expenses.

The basic salary for each of the 120 legislators is $16,000. They also receive a $25-a-day living allowance when in session and traveling on legislative business in California or elsewhere.

Additionally all lawmakers are supplied with a car and an oil company credit card which entitles them to unlimited purchases.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, totaled $24,980 in salary and expenses to lead all other colleagues in the most money received from the state.

Bagley, chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, traveled extensively during the between-session months for hearings on tax revision.

Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, dean of the lower house, collected the least amount, $20,002. Thomas was absent because of illness for extended periods last year.

Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, led upper house colleagues in salary and expenses paid with $24,464. Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, was low in the Senate, drawing $21,050.

Many legislators were authorized by the leadership in both houses to travel widely on official business. They criss-crossed the continent and visited neighboring nations.

Democratic Sens. Randolph Collier of Yreka and Alfred H. Song of Monterey Park collected $900 between them for a trip to Hawaii last April during Eastertime.

Their claim justified the trip by saying they attended an "interstate cooperation" meeting.

Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, submitted a claim for $177.20 and Sen. Lewis F. Sherman, R-Berkeley, claimed $236.20 for trips to La Paz, Mexico.

The lawmakers attended a meeting of the Commission of the Californias held last October in Baja California.

A contingent of California legislators attended a meeting last November of the National Conference of Legislative Leaders in Atlanta, Ga., costing taxpayers more than $6,000.

Claims filed with the controller from the upper house were by Sens. Clair W. Burgener, R-San Diego; Robert S. Stevens, R-Los Angeles; Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach; George Moscone, D-San Francisco, and GOP Senate President Pro Tempore Howard Way of Exeter.

Chairman John F. Foran of the Assembly Transportation Committee, ran up a $702.15 expense tab during September. The San Francisco Democrat took a first-hand look at transit systems in Washington, D.C., and Chicago.

Their living expenses were: Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, $374.75; Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, $375; Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, $427; and Sherman, $375.

The quartet also ran up $1,886 in air fares, which was paid for by taxpayers.

Assemblymen Jack Fenton, D-Montebello, and James Hayes, R-Long Beach, claimed and were refunded $470.86 and $466.38 apiece for attending a New Jersey conference on medmen are attorneys in private cal malpractice insurance. Both life.

Meeting Feb 11

The Shoreline Unified School District board will hold its regular meeting Feb. 11 at 8 p.m. at Tomales High School, instead of Feb. 8 as reported Jan. 15 in the Independent-Journal.

Bill For State Auto Insurance

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A Democratic Assemblyman wants to give the state the opportunity to offer automobile liability insurance at chapter rates than insurance sold by private companies.

Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr. of San Francisco Thursday introduced a bill to prohibit the registration of any motor vehicle starting in 1972 unless it was insured either by the state or a private firm.

An aide said Brown wanted to put the state in the insurance business on the theory it could offer less expensive coverage and to "prevent the possibility of wholesale and capricious underwriting rules."

The bill would create a state automobile accident liability fund along with an administrative board of governors who would set rates. The fund would be self sufficient and nonprofit.

Mobile Home Plea Denied

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—The Sonoma County Planning Commission yesterday denied the request of Joseph Krsul for a single mobile home at 9239 old Redwood Highway, Cotati.

The commission said the mobile home would not be compatible with the area and that spot zoning should be avoided.

Willow Creek Properties, Inc., withdrew its request to rezone ten acres on old Redwood Highway at North McDowell Boulevard, near Petaluma, from agricultural to commercial. The firm had planned a department store and restaurant.

Employee's Shots Crack Reflector

FORT DAVIS, Tex. (AP) — An employe of the McDonald Observatory used a 9mm pistol to fire seven shots at a huge million-dollar reflective mirror at the observatory Thursday night, the Jeff Davis County sheriff said. The amount of damage to the reflector was uncertain.

The sheriff, W.B. Medley, said the employe who shot the mirror "was just plain drunk." The university spokesman said the man, identified as Jack Hyde, a technician, was "under the influence of extreme personal depression."

Sheriff Medley said Hyde "completely destroyed the telescope. It was ruined."

On the other hand, Dr. Harlan Smith, director of McDonald and chairman of the University of Texas astronomy department, said in Austin, "There is trifling surface damage and (it) will not noticeably degrade the future performance of the telescope. We probably will use it again tonight.

At Fort Davis, in Far West Texas, the sheriff and McDonald observatory personnel went into conference in midmorning at the courthouse. A sheriff's office spokesman said observatory officials at the conference indicated there was considerable damage. "They said they will have to call in a special team of opticians and other experts to assess the exact damage," the spokesman said.

Ballot Bussing Issue Snagged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A proposal to have San Francisco voters express an opinion on the busing of school children may require signatures of more than four supervisors to get on the ballot.

The city attorney's office noted Thursday that a third of the board could place a matter on the ballot in the case of a general election, but that this June's would be a special election and a direct primary.

In the case of such an election, a majority vote by the 12 supervisors may be necessary, lawyers said.

Six supervisors said Wednesday they would ask a policy statement from voters on whether they approved of buses as a means of achieving racial integration. Since then one has changed his mind.

Slain Union Leader's Son Tells Of Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five days before he was beaten at a rally, word was sent down from United Mine Workers headquarters "to discipline Jock Yablonski," a Senate group investigating the union has been told.

Joseph A. Yablonski Jr. told a Senate labor subcommittee Thursday the beating at a union rally in Springfield, Ill., was one of the first indications of the "reign of terror" that enveloped his late father's campaign for the union presidency and still haunts his family and supporters.

"I now go to sleep at night with a loaded pistol under my pillow," he said.

Yablonski, who unsuccessfully challenged incumbent UMW President A. W. "Tony" Boyle in the union's Dec. 9 election, was found shot to death with his wife and daughter at their Clarksville, Pa., home Jan. 4.

Three men, Paul Eugene Gilly, Aubran Wayne Martin and Claude Edward Vealey, have been charged in a Pennsylvania court with murder in the Yablonski deaths. Gilly's wife, Annette Lucy Gilly, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Cleveland Thursday and charged with interfering with the rights of a union member by force or violence, obstruction of justice and conspiring with others to interfere with a union member's rights by force or violence.

The slain unionist's son said his father accused Boyle of "playing Russian roulette with UMW pension funds" shortly after Boyle became a trustee of the union's welfare and retirement fund June 13.

Within days, Yablonski said, "word went down from Boyle to discipline Jock Yablonski, and don't worry how rough you are about it."

"Five days later, in Springfield, Ill., my father was beat up," he said.

Yablonski forces furnished the FBI with names of persons who attended the meeting and asked for an investigation, he said. At the same time, they requested FBI protection.

Wife Of Yablonski Murder Suspect Named Conspirator

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Annette Gilly, 29, a slender blonde, has been named by a federal grand jury as a fourth conspirator in an alleged murder-for-hire plot to kill Joseph Yablonski.

Mrs. Gilly, whose husband, Paul, 36, also is charged in the case, was to be arraigned today. Her attorney, Gerald S. Gold, said he would seek a reduction of her $250,000 bond.

The grand jury, which was expected to conclude its second week of hearings today, earlier indicted Gilly along with Claude E. Vealey, 26, and Aubran W. Martin, 21, on the conspiracy charges. All are from Cleveland.

The three men also face murder charges in Washington County, Pa., where Yablonski, 59, a United Mine Workers union executive board member, his wife Margaret, 57, and daughter, Charlotte Joanne, 25, were found fatally shot in their Clarksville home Jan. 5.

The indictment Thursday charged that Mrs. Gilly and her house-painter husband had joint control of a murder fund from which Vealey and Martin were paid and that she helped buy the murder weapon.

Mexico City has 29 daily newspapers, according to the National Graphic Arts Industry Chamber.

While spelling out details of the alleged plot, the grand jury has not said where the money came from.

Nixon, Team In Chicago For Session

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon and his Cabinet committee on environmental problems took a look at an innovative sewage plant today after viewing a sign saying "sewage 10 cents a glass" and getting a warm welcome on a chilly, windblown suburban airport.

The sign elicited a chuckle from the President at the Schaumberg Airport where, hatless and coatless, he plunged into a cheering crowd of 4,000, exchanging greetings and handshakes.

He spoke to the crowd briefly before he and his entourage, including governors of four states bordering Lake Michigan with whom he had an afternoon meeting scheduled, proceeded by car to the suburban Hanover Park sewage treatment plant that turns raw sewage into 99 per cent pure water.

Acknowledging the presence in the crowd of the shivering musicians of the Lake Park High School band, Nixon said: "I am here to work with the governors for the younger generation . . . to see that it has a proper environment in the future."

He said "key decisions" would be made at his conference with the governors in the afternoon.

In Assam, India, the men of the Khasi tribe spend the day lolling in the sun and tending the baby while their wives do most of the work, own the property and run family affairs.

Golden Gate Commuters association and Homeowners Improvement Association of San Rafael Meadows. Also, the Sausalito Artists and Merchants filed a written statement urging the bridge become toll-free and made a part of the state highway system.

The Golden Gate Commuters Association was formed in December after commuter tolls were hiked without any public notice that the bridge board would take such action. Its criticism was, that occasional users of the bridge, not commuters, should pay for transit.

Also speaking were several bridge directors, although they were silent until most of the crowd had gone. Twelve of the 18 directors attended.

Responding to many calls from the audience that rail rapid transit was needed, chairman Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere said that the directors were aware of this, but that buses and ferries would buy time to get rapid transit.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring estimated that rapid transit would take nine years to build--after bonds could be voted and sold. But meanwhile traffic is leaping 5 to 7 per cent a year, he said.

Kaiser Engineers' long-range transit plan for the district, now being drawn, will consider "any and everything that will work," Luehring said. He noted that a second deck for bus transit would cost about $50 million, compared with $495 million for a rail tube under the bay "just shore to shore."

Kaiser also will consider light-weight trains for the bridge, he said. Bridge engineers concluded eight years ago that the cars planned for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District would be too heavy for the bridge.

Luehring's attempt to read a four-page explanation of what the district was doing to get into transit was drowned out by shouts of "we can read it."

Mrs. John West of San Anselmo, chairman of the Marin Conservation League's transit committee, defended the toll hike as needed to cut air pollution by discouraging automobile commuters and to accumulate funds for development of transit.

She said that the league's board of directors also voted to urge the district to reverse its vote to hike Greyhound bus tolls to encourage transit patronage, and to delete or defer the proposed $3 million southbound roadway project at the toll plaza. The money "is more urgently needed for transit," she said.

Harold Gregg, president of the league, reported that in December about 2,193,000 noncommuters had used the bridge, and 1,552,000 commuters had used it.

He urged full development of a water transportation system, fed by an intracounty bus system, to preserve the county's environment.

Margaret Azevedo, chairman of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, said the council had urged higher tolls five years ago to finance transit, and that MCCA had been working on the problem of transportation for seven years, "longer than any other group here.

"So we don't take very kindly to groups that want to hamper or even wreck our chances for a good, effective transit system this year," she said in a pointed reference to the Golden Gate Commuters Association.

Martin L. Strauss of Fairfax, association founder, argued that Marin voters should have a chance to ballot on any proposed transit system. Transit should be paid for by hiking tolls for occasional bridge users to 75 cents for each round trip, he said.

Director Lowell Edington of Napa County later noted that 78 per cent of toll revenue comes from noncommuters, arguing that meant that would pay the bulk of the cost of transit, "but won't get any of the benefit."

Paul N. Brand, speaking for the San Anselmo Homes Association, urged the district to shift to transit money earmarked for both the $3 million southbound roadway and the $6 million owed the state for the second Waldo Tunnel. But the association took no position on the commute toll, he said, pending a vote by the full membership.

San Anseslmo City Councilman Kenneth Anderon argued that it was cheaper to finance transit by cash tolls than by bonds, which now are very costly because of high interest rates.

Alan Chase of Mill Valley interrupted the meeting after Anderson spoke, claiming he had heard enough favorable comment. But he was gaveled down by Sheeks, who told Chase "this is one meeting you won't take over." Chase sat down as a uniformed bridge lieutenant approached the lectern.

After the meeting, a bridge director conceded he was relieved Chase had sat down, since bridge officers had no authority off district property.

Chase, speaking later, cited Luehring as "the greatest deadpan comedian since Buster Keaton" for showing slides of bus and ferry that Luehring said were not the ones the district was about to buy.

Jack Adams, against a background of boos, insisted that while the bridge district "may not be the most perfect instrument, it's the only tool we have, and without it we're not going to have any relief in this county."

Several speakers called for immediate development of rail transit, but were silent on how it should be financed.

Herman Hein of San Anselmo, a landscape architect, proposed that the bridge district issue tickets good for both automobile and transit users--but with a new twist. He suggested that automobile commuters pick up passengers at bus stops, collect the tickets themselves, and then redeem them from the district for cash.

Sheeks praised Hein's proposal, and asked Luehring to consider it. Several directors nodded in agreement.

Only John Crane of Mill Valley questioned whether Marin ever should be served by rail transit. "How good a system do we want?" he asked, adding, "I don't think we want it to be too good if we are to keep our little piece of green."

Taking no position was the Marin Ecology Center, but it offered to act as an information clearing house on forming car pools, and urged commuters seeking pools to write it at 17 Madrona Street, Mill Valley.

Dutch Hospitals

UTRECHT, Holland (UPI)—One-tenth of Holland's population occupies the nation's hospital beds each year, Prof. T. M. de Vreeze, president of the National Hospital Council, said in a speech. De Vreeze said that on a per capita basis each Dutchman spends a few days a year in a hospital. Holland's hospitals have 85,000 workers, or 1.36 per bed, he said.

Sonoma State Professor In Sausalito Council Race

Stephen Fraser, Professor of Government at Sonoma State College and Executive Director of the Sausalito Coalition for an Open Waterfront, has announced he will seek election to the Sausalito City Council April 14.

Fraser, a consultant for a San Francisco urban planning firm and the Sonoma State representative to the Sonoma County Planning Commission, is running for the council seat on a 21-point program of environmental improvement.

If elected, he has promised to work for development of parks and open space on the Sausalito waterfront, federal, state and local funding to eliminate traffic congestion in Sausalito and establishment of a parking authority to acquire parking facilities north of the downtown area of the city.

He is also seeking traffic restrictions in the city's business district, elimination of parking on central Bridgeway, anti-litter and sign ordinances for the downtown area and more landscaping in the business district.

Fraser's other goals include increased police foot patrols in central Sausalito, establishment of a Richardson Bay Planning Commission, a waterfront youth center, day care center for children of working parents and promotion of businesses that serve Sausalito residents.

Fraser said he would also work for programs of tax relief for property owners (especially the elderly) in Sausalito.

Before joining the Sonoma State College faculty, he taught at San Francisco State College. He holds a doctoral degree from Johns Hopkins University.

Couple Injured In Auto Collision

A San Francisco couple was injured yesterday when their car was struck by an auto attempting to avoid a truck on northbound Highway 101 near Highway 17 in San Rafael.

Vincent Gamba, 56, and his wife, Norene, 54, said they would see a private physician for treatment of minor injuries.

The California Highway Patrol said their auto was struck at 11:40 a.m. by a car driven by Marilu Portugal, 29, of 109 Gregory Avenue, Fairfax.

Werber Weeps At Boyhood Story

By WAT TAKESHITA

Frank N. Werber, former manager of the Kingston Trio, wept openly in Marin Superior Court yesterday as Dr. Alan Wilson Watts, specialist in Asian philosophies, came to his defense.

With Watts on the stand before Judge E. Warren McGuire, attorney Terence Hallinan retraced Werber's painful boyhood experiences in a Nazi concentration camp, his escape to France and later to the United States to reach success in the entertainment field, and finally his attaining religious experience through marijuana.

Like a pastor delivering a sermon, Hallinan intoned:

"Only through marijuana is he able to attain the religious state . . . When the spirit of marijuana enters his body and takes over, he loses fear of the future and concerns of the past. He loses all hostility and fear, and it is easy for him to love others."

"In your opinion," Hallinan asked Watts, "is he undergoing a religious experience of which marijuana is an essential part?"

"Yes," replied Watts. "This is without any question the description of a mystical experience."

Watts testified that religious experience includes a broad spectrum covering everything from the use of marijuana by individuals to group chanting by Mexican Indians using peyote for inspiration. The philospher-author even tossed in a high-pitched demonstration of the peyote chant to illustrate his testimony.

Hallinan contended that marijuana is Werber's only vehicle to religious experience and therefore should be exempt from state law against marijuana just as wine used in the eucharist was exempt during Prohibition.

Under cross examination by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, Watts acknowledged that he had tried "all kinds of psychedelic drugs" including LSD, peyote marijuana, Mexican mushrooms and even morning glory seeds. But these were all in connection with investigating the psychology of religions, added Dr. Watts.

He also testified he knew former Harvard professor Timothy Leary. But when Bales began asking Watts whether this was the same Dr. Leary who was convicted of marijuana possession in Texas and was accused of a similar offense in Southern California, defense lawyer Hallinan leaped in with a loud objection, which the judge sustained.

Watts was the last witness for the defense. Preceding him was Roman Catholic priest Timothy Conway of Berkeley, who testified that marijuana is one of many "vehicles" used for religious experience. Father Conway said he talked to Werber for about two hours 10 days ago.

Under cross-examination by Bales, Father Conway agreed that there are many and varied vehicles to attain religious experience, but "Frank considers marijuana the best vehicle."

Yesterday afternoon, with the jury dismissed until next Wednesday, Bales and Hallinan argued the legal question: Whether Werber's use of marijuana has constitutional immunity on religious grounds.

McGuire announced he will meet the two attorneys again at 10 a.m. Tuesday to decide whether the constitutional immunity argument has merit. If the judge decides no such immunity exists, then Werber's main defense argument crumbles.

If the judge rules that the religious argument may be considered by the jury, then Werber has a chance when he faces the 10-women, two-men panel again on Wednesday at 10 a.m.

Arguing for religious exemption, Hallinan cited legal decisions which upheld the use of peyote as part of the religious services of the Native American Church. "You can't say peyote can be exempted as an aid to religious experience while marijuana cannot" declared Hallinan. "Peyote is even stronger than marijuana!!"

Bales countered with other legal decisions in which marijuana users were convicted despite their argument that it is needed for religious purposes. "The Constitution protects religions but not religious acts which conflict with current laws," said Bales.

314 Confiscated Guns Given Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — From the beginning of 1967 through last Oct. 2, a total of 314 confiscated guns have been distributed by San Francisco judges, the city Crime Committee says.

Committeemen, checking because of a gun scandal in another city, said Thursday that judges had promised more care in their distribution.

TV Policy On Cultural Idea Backed

Local television programming as a means of promoting cultural and civic events received support last night from the Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission.

Chairman Nancy Thiesfeld said that Storer Cable Television Co. is considering bringing local programming to the city and may develop a plan by next month.

Mrs. Thiesfeld said the commission may take the primary responsibility if it becomes available. She said programming would probably begin with broadcasts of city council meetings and later be extended to sports events, musical and dramatic programs in schools and Sonoma State College and community events such as Founders Day celebrations and Miss Rohnert Park beauty pageant.

The Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission also:

NONPROFIT—Heard a report that all necessary signatures have been gathered for the incorporation papers for the commission and that the city attorney will be filing them with the state so that it can assume nonprofit status and accept tax deductible gifts and donations.

SYMPHONY — Agreed to pay $93 for buses to transport sixth grade students from the Cotati School District to the Santa Rosa Junior Symphony performance on March 17.

BALLET — Heard a report from Anita Kane that she is starting a ballet class under the recreation program and may later ask commission assistance in setting up recitals.

RESIGNATION—Received the resignation of Commissioner Jason Seale, who had been appointed three months ago, but cannot attend regular meetings because of the press of business.

Two Convertible Tops Slashed

Two convertible tops were slashed on cars in Marin City early yesterday and clothing valued at $400 was stolen from one vehicle, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Leo A. Baker of 79 Cole Drive, Apt. 3, told deputies someone slashed the top of his car between midnight and 8:25 a.m. and took the clothing.

Douglas Goff of 953 Drake Avenue told deputies the top of his convertible was slashed between midnight and 7:15 a.m., causing an estimated $120 damage.

Outboard Motor Is Reported Stolen

An outboard motor was stolen Wednesday night from a boat parked at Channel Boat Sales, 115 Third Street, San Rafael, William Braunstein, owner of the boat company, has reported to San Rafael police.

Braunstein said the boat was owned by Irvine Walker, 25 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera. Value of the motor was estimated at $1,000.

Cease-Fire Action Count: 91 Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — The 24-hour allied cease-fire for Tet ended tonight, and preliminary reports said there were at least 91 enemy attacks in which 117 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, three Americans and four South Vietnamese were killed.

The allied cease-fire for the festival of the lunar new year expired at 5 a.m. EST. A four-day cease-fire declared by the Viet Cong ends at 6 p.m. Sunday EST.

The heaviest fighting was reported midway through the allied cease-fire six miles south of the demilitarized zone. Field reports said 45 North Vietnamese were killed, most of them by allied artillery and mortar fire.

South Vietnamese headquarters also reported an attack on a Special Forces camp at Ba Xoai, in the Sevem Mountains area of the western Mekong Delta near the Cambodian border. First reports said two Vietnamese in the camp were wounded, but there was no word of enemy casualties.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese said they suspended combat operations for the cease-fire, but they kept up aerial reconnaissance and security patrols on the ground.

The U.S. Command announced today that the U.S. Army will asume over-all command from the Marines March 9 of U.S. forces in the five northern provinces of South Vietnam, called the 1st Corps Zone.

The change will put the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force, located at Da Nang, under the Army's 24th Corps, now headquartered at Phu Bai, near Hue.

There are indications however, that the move may foreshadow the pulling out of all remaining U.S. Marine forces from Vietnam within a few months as part of President Nixon's withdrawal program.

The new commander for the area will be Army Lt. Gen. Melvin L. Zais, who heads 24th Corps and who commanded the 101st Airborne Division during the Battle of Hamburger Hill last May.

Fair-Marin Agrees To Sever All Connections

Fair-Marin, spurned by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, agreed last night to bow gracefully out of all official connection with the new auditorium and fairgrounds.

At the same time, directors of Fair-Marin served notice it will continue as a private, non-profit corporation to act as catalyst for arts, cultural and recreational organizations in the county.

President Harold Stockstad and directors Richard H. Miehling, Lotte McWatters, and Dudley F. Miller attended the meeting last night at the Fair-Marin office in Northgate Industrial Park. Of the three others, Stephen Zellerbach and W. P. (Doc) Duhamel are away on a trip, and Marilyn Miskimen has resigned.

Stockstad announced that the county administrator had informed Leon G. Kalimos, executive director of Fair-Marin, that the county does not want Fair-Marin to do any more work on the Fair-Marin budget for next year or the 1971 fair.

Kalimos and secretary Anna Johnson, therefore, have no work to do and should be released, said Stockstad.

On a motion by Smith and a second by Mrs. McWatters, directors voted unanimously to release Kalimos and Mrs. Johnson in one month, as of March 6, and to notify supervisors that the two employees would be released before then if the county wants to hire them.

Last Tuesday, supervisors decided they want background information on Kalimos and on Marcelle McCoy, manager of the Marin County Fair, before deciding who should manage the new auditorium and fair.

On a motion by Smith and a second by Miehling, directors recommended this general policy on fees for auditorium use:

Up to 25 per cent of all bookings in the auditorium, including weekend booking, should be reserved for local, nonprofit organizations as opposed to commercial profesional groups. Fees for local groups should be based on a percentage, about 20 per cent, of gross revenue from each performance. Public service events, such as graduations, where no admission is charged, should use the auditorium free.

Kalimos had recommended that fees for local groups should range from $75 for mid-week use of the exhibition area to $225 for use of the entire auditorium on a Friday, Saturday or Sunday.

This, said Stockstad, seems too high because campfire girls might sponsor a fund-raiser that would gros only $100 or $150.

The Fair-Marin Board Of Directors Also:

GRAND OPENING—Urged supervisors to allow the Marin Symphony to open the new auditorium, as promised by Fair-Marin directors and by the previous board of supervisors. John F. McInnis, chairman of the supervisors, declared last month he wants the auditorium opened by a performance of national stature."

BYLAWS CHANGE—Asked Miller to contact the county counsel to see if Fair-Marin can change its bylaws so that it can function as a private corporation, independent of the county. Presently, all actions by the directors, such as filling vacancies on the board, must be with approval by the county supervisors.

NEXT MEETING—Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. Feb. 23 at 45 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park. Stockstad said the main topic will be to plan for a future building at the Civic Center to handle activities for such groups as the senior citizens and museum organizations.

Regulation Meeting For Fire District

The Kentfield Fire District board will hold another special meeting to discuss department regulations at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the fire station, Chief Kenneth T. Kamp said today.

The board reviewed the regulations at a special meeting Monday but reached no decision, Kamp reported. The rules cover such things as job descriptions, uniform regulations, clothing allowances, and department administration.

Warrant Issued

A warrant of arrest was issued Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court for Renatal Brogioli of San Anselmo when she failed to appear for arraignment on suspicion of signing another's name to a credit card on three occasions last July and August in San Rafael.

Neighbors Object To Boys' School

Irate objections to increased noise and traffic has contributed to postponing the opening of a private school for boys in Kentfield until next year.

Disputed is the establishing of Mount Tamalpais School for Boys, an affiliate of the Katharine Branson School in Ross, on the Dominican Fathers Novitiate property at 217 Laurel Grove Avenue.

More than 50 neighbors have signed a petition opposing the school because it would increase noise and traffic in the quiet neighborhood, Louis F Hawkins of 4 Hanken Drive reported.

The opponents also object to plans for a gymnasium, amphitheater and athletic field, he added.

Neighbors met with school officials at the Branson campus on Jan. 26 and last Monday to thrash out their differences, Hawkins said. He said at last Monday's meeting about 20 opposed the plans and another 10 to 20 persons favored the school.

A group of opponents was slated to meet last night at the home of Howard A. Leif, 201 Laurel Grove Avenue, to possibly form a neighborhood association against the school, Hawkins said.

Those against the plans claim the use permit given by the county to the Dominican Fathers in 1947 for the building of a novitiate in an area zoned single family does not apply to a boys' school, Hawkins explained. They feel the school could change the character of the neighborhood, he added.

Opponents have notified school authorities, they will file a lawsuit to halt plans for the school, Hawkins said.

The school will not open this year, but as originally planned in September 1971, reported Branson headmaster H. Leonard Richardson. Reasons for the delay are to allow necessary time to prepare curriculum, plan space, hire teachers as well as the neighborhood objections, he added.

Plans for the school are continuing, Richardson said, with trustees seeking an architect.

Trustees are also working to explain inaccurate rumors circulating about the school to neighbors, he added.

Rumors have 500 hot-rod and motorcycle riding boys attending the school, Richardson said. Plans call for a total enrollment of 150 students, he noted.

Another false rumor has a bleacher being built in the athletic field when bleachers have never been considered for the field. Another sore point, night lighting in the same field, has never been contemplated either, Richardson said.

Neighbors on the south side of the novitiate have expressed vocal hard-core oposition to the school, Richardson said. Directors of the Del Mesa Property Owners Association on the north side have voiced no objection, he added.

Financial support has "been pouring in" Richardson noted and 211 inquiries about registration have been received from across the country.

DDT Banned

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Agriculture Minister Douglas J. Carter today banned the use of DDT on all farmlands in New Zealand after June 30. Carter said the government feared contamination of the country's meat and dairy products, two of its most important exports.

Jail Term Given For Stolen Property

Larry English Hamilton 25, of Mill Valley, was sentenced in Marin Superior Court Wednesday to serve weekends in Marin County Jail for 60 days for receiving stolen property.

Hamilton was also given a suspended 9-month jail sentence and placed on a year's summary probation. He pleaded guilty in December to receiving a stolen motorcycle in 1967.

Bob's Of Marin In Corte Madera Slated For Big Operation Change

There is a complete change in the restaurant and bar operation at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera—and it will no longer be known as Bob's of Marin.

The Wyman F. (Bob) Campbell Estate has given up its sub-lease from the Gene Compton Corp., and the latter, which holds the master lease, has taken over control. Some remodeling is going on and, last I heard, a reopening under the name of Edgewater Inn Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge was being planned for next Tuesday.

All this has nothing to do with the Edgewater Inn Motel, which is being operated by a subsidiary of the Hyatt Corp.

Food service will be under the supervision of Frits Verburg, who owned the former L'Europe Restaurant on the San Rafael Miracle Mile before selling out to the Normandie. Also in the management picture is George Loizos, manager of the Pepperwood in the Red Hil Shopping Center, San Anselmo — another Compton-owned restaurant.

Complete information on the proposed new operation in Corte Madera was not available at this writing, but no doubt the coffee shop will continue more or less as before, serving breakfast, lunch and dinner. And I understand the dining room will be put to good use to try to catch more of the family trade. I imagine Frits will have some new ideas for the menu.

Former Bob's of Marin manager Frank de Natale has not made any definite plans for his future, but I shouldn't be surprised to hear of a new connection shortly, for he is a capable restaurant man.

MEANWHILE, song stylist and pianist Dori Green, who has been at Bob's, has moved across the highway to Gregory's on Paradise Drive. You'll find her at the new piano bar there Wednesday through Saturday nights. Trust John Napoli, also a musician, to pick up talent like this fast.

With any kind of good weather it's worth the ride to visit there and have dinner, which is priced from $3.25 to $6.95, with Carl Holm as the chef. Some say they can make it in two hours driving from San Rafael, but it took us two and a half hours for the trip last weekend.

Go up through Calistoga, Middletown and the Cobb Mountain resort area to Buckingham Golf and Country Club on Soda Bay. While lake waters are high, there is no road trouble along this route. Franchini's Tee House has a commanding view of the entire golf course.

DORI GREEN
Now at Gregory's

You may be surprised to find some of your old friends in this area. Among several former Marinites, last week we ran into Ted Weitzel (of the Lady Baltimore Bakery Weitzels), who now lives near Hoberg's — and John Harlan, former owner of the Sausalito News, now editor of the Lake County Record-Bee. There are numerous others who have summer homes there but live in Marin.

ON THE CALENDAR for next week:

Thursday — Lin Fa Gardens, Northgate Shopping Center has its sixth anniversary celebration, with Polynesian entertainment in the dining room area. Performances are at 8:30 and 10 p.m.

Saturday, Feb. 14— Holiday Inn, Terra Linda is holding a Bridal Open House from 1 to 3 p.m. Fashions, flowers and wedding things. Music and refreshments and honeymoon prize.

ONE OF THE THREE big family restaurants at Occidental, Sonoma County — Fiori's Italian Restaurant — has changed hands after being in the Fiori family over 30 years.

It has been purchased by two young couples — Robert and Marilou Ranch and Tony and Irene Bonoaccorso. I believe they have been teaching school. Plans are to continue the same type of family operation as in the past and there probably will be few changes.

PIANO ENTERTAINMENT in Tiburon Lodge's cocktail lounge (now called the Mansail Lounge) is provided by Ed Miller on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

AT THE TIDES on Coast Highway 1, Bodega, the rebuilding of the restaurant, which has been under way for some months, is expected to be completed in another 60 days. It will have three times the space of present facilities.

AND DOWN in Sausalito, The Alta Mira Hotel has undergone a facelifting. That exterior Sonoma stone work was done by Charlie Chan of San Francisco.

PATERSON'S Scotch pub in Sausalito came in for some excitement last week when cameramen and actors swooped in for some local flashback scenes to go into a forthcoming television play on San Quentin. Channel 4 will show it.

THE BLUE BONNET COFFEE SHOP at 357 Third Street, San Rafael, has been sold by Larry Hice and his associates to Andrew Depoli of Tamalpais Valley. A former San Francisco restaurant man, he and his wife Lucille will continue to operate it as the Blue Bonnet.

Transaction was handled through Harry Abras of Don Timmer Realty and Verne Wilson of Home and Land Co.

IN THE CITY OF SONOMA, both Au Relais Restaurant and the Swiss Hotel are closed both Mondays and Tuesdays during the winter season. Au Relais may start serving on Tuesdays again sometime in March, but I am not sure about the Swiss Hotel changing back.

Incidentally, Au Relais features a Spanish paella on its dinners — but you'll have to order this in advance.

GOBBLERS ROOSTAURANT at Sebastopol is now closed for the winter season until March 14. On reopening there will be some menu changes, though you can look for its smoked meats and turkey to be featured. And preparations are being made to handle groups and parties.

Guidelines To Pry News Sources Set

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California Freedom of Information Committee has announced a set of voluntary guidelines for newspapers and broadcasters designed to open news source doors the committee chairman says "are being shut in our face."

The guidelines set forth ways in which newspapers and broadcasters can report crime news and at the same time cooperate with courts to assure the accused a fair trial.

They were drafted over a period of 20 months by representatives of the news media and the legal profesion. The committee approved them unanimously at a meeting here Thursday.

Dick Fogel of the Oakland Tribune, head of the group which developed the guidelines, told the committee, "The objective has been to come up with some sensible alternatives to the American Bar Asociation's Reardon rules."

"With the various restrictive orders and attempts at concealment which have abounded since the Reardon Report," Fogel said, "it would seem that this approach is well worth a try."

Giorgi To Run For Supervisor

Albert J. Giorgi, a Healdsburg councilman, has announced he will challenge incumbent Arthur R. Rounavaara for Sonoma County Supervisor from the fourth district in the June 2 primary.

Giorgi served as chief of police in Healdsburg for 20 years before his retirement in 1968 and election to the council. Ruonavaara, who said he will seek reelection, is in his second four-year term representing Northern Sonoma.

A lifelong resident of Healdsburg, Giorgi, 59, works part time as a bailiff in the Northern Sonoma County Municipal Court.

Marinite Enters Innocent Plea

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—A Tiburon man has pleaded innocent in San Francisco Superior Court to a charge of possession of stolen property, in connection with the sale of stolen tires from the city-owned garage where he worked as a mechanic.

Howard Gettle, 48, of 271 Cecelia Way, was arrested on the charge last September after police said an undercover patrolman purchased stolen tires from Gettle.

His case was severed from that of James C. Duda, a truck driver, who was charged with grand theft for allegedly supplying stolen tires to Gettle.

Gettle had been employed by the City of San Francisco as a mechanic for four years.

Peninsula Court Officers Picked

A. Walter Olson has been elected president of the Tiburon Peninsula club, succeeding Alan W. Cundall.

Other officers chosen were Paul J. Gebo, vice president; Robert Brunstetter, secretary; and Frank Holzinger, treasurer.

Ross Psychiatrist Will Head Discussion

"Mental Health and the Law" will be discussed by Dr. William J. Lamers Jr., staff psychiatrist at Ross General Hospital at the dinner meeting of the Marin County Legal Secretaries Association on Feb. 11 at 6:30 p.m. at the San Rafael Holiday Inn.

Batten Leaps Into Tiburon Council Race

Donald L. Batten, recently re elected to his third term as president of the Belveron Home owners Association, has entered the race for the Tiburon City Council.

Batten, 48, an engineer with KIPX Television, has filed nomination papers at city hall.

The seats of Mayor Branwell D. Fanning, William R. Bremer and Thomas E. Drohan are up at the April 14 election. Drohan has announced he will not seek reelection and neither Fanning nor Bremer has filed candidacy papers yet.

Batten said drainage problems are crucial in Tiburon. "I would like to see the city fathers expedite some programs as soon as possible to give residents . . . some protection against any further flood threats . . , as well as some sort of assurance that future construction and developments will consider flood and drainage problems, as well as landslide problems before excavating and construction begins."

Batten said he also sought speedy creation of a bicycle paths program and attractive development of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property for this purpose.

Batten, a native of El Cerrito now living at 29 Mercury Avenue, has worked for KPIX since 1951, coming from KSFO Radio.

He is a member and past master of Occidental Lodge 22, Free and Accepted Masons, is public relations director of the California Bodies of the Scottish Rite in San Francisco, serves also as public information officer of the Grand Lodge of California and Hawaii, F & AM, and belongs to the Masonic Press Club of San Francisco, Press Club of San Francisco and the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee.

Two Killed In Apartment Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A five-alarm fire ripped through a four-story apartment building early today, killing two elderly women and injuring two firemen.

Fire Chief William Murray said the blaze started in the dwelling of one of the victims, who was identified as Lecia Isnardi, a woman in her 90's.

No cause was determined immediately for the fire which roared through the structure at 1915 California Street, near the Gough Street intersection.

The other victim was identified as Mrs. Lolita Hopper, who was in her 80s.

Junior High Plans Approved

The Petaluma Board of Education yesterday approved final plans for an addition to Rohnert Park Junior High School and applied for $467,411 in state aid to finance construction.

The plans, as outlined by architect Malcolm Reynolds, include six classrooms, a wood shop, an arts and crafts center, an instrumental music room and a mechanical drawing room.

He said the 16,125 square foot addition would permit enrollment to be increased from the present 890 to 1,100 students.

First grade students from Bel Aire School in Tiburon were guests of a bilingual first grade class at Commodore Stockton School in San Francisco yesterday for a preview of the Chinese New Year celebration. Mrs. Fred Rudow, first grade teacher from the Tiburon School, has lunch in a Chinatown restaurant with Mrs. Peter Chun and a group of first grade students from both schools.

Marin Women

A PLAY explaining the Chinese New Year customs was performed by the students at Commodore Stockton, who are immigrants from Hong Kong and who spoke no English when they visited the Tiburon school twice last year to use English in play with the children and to learn American Thanksgiving customs. Here Peter Lee and Norman Wong explain that this is the "Year of the Dog."

BELVEDERE FIRST grader, John Goff, right, was a little worried about just how to use the chop sticks but Homer Hom came to the rescue to demonstrate the technique. John had Won Ton soup, Cha siu bow (barbeque pork buns) and sweet and sour pork at a Chinatown restaurant.

TWO OF THE 49 first graders from the two schools who toured Chinatown streets yesterday peer into a shop window at the duck, squab and piles of tangarines and oranges shoppers were purchasing to celebrate the Chinese New Year which begins today. The two took an immediate liking to each other even though they could exchange few words. (See photo page 18.)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Most Working Girls Could Care Less About The Men At The Office

DEAR HELEN:

Reading your recent column about office parties, I thought I should let you know they are mostly a thing of the past, at least in the East. Even 20 years ago, when I first began work as a secretary, the trend was away from the Christmans party that excluded mates. Big business long ago learned about the headaches that arose from these get-togethers.

I have a hunch that the people who write letters about the hanky-panky at office parties are harking back to the old days and simply want to get a few of their lines in print.

Also, I get the impression from advice columns that many housewives who have spent no time in business think men and women workers devote half their time to running around desks after each other. 'Tain't so! Wheels of industry would stop altogether. What some of these women don't realize is that many working gals do not find their spouses irresistible. They couldn't care less.

So why don't stay-at-home wives just relax? — NUF SAID

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter gets mail from boys, even postcards, that are signed, "Love ya," or "Love and Peace" or something else with "love" in it.

I found her signing "Love Always" to a fellow she only knows slightly. When I remonstrated, she said I was a square — everybody loves everybody these days and its doesn't mean anything at all, because there is brotherly and sisterly love, didn't I know? Am I — BEHIND THE TIMES?

DEAR MR. BTT:

Yup. According to the kids, some kind of love is the sign-off, though they often start their letters with a simple "Mary," "Jack," or "June," leaving off the "Dear."

Not to worry. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I know this really isn't a problem, but it's a big worry to me.

For a long time my husband and I have tried to have a baby. Now, finally, I have skipped a month, and I think I may be pregnant. But I discover I'm so embarrassed about an examination that I'm afraid to see a doctor. I've only had one real physical check-up in my life, and I think I blushed all over.

My husband is so anxious to know for sure that he's urging me to make an appointment. Is there any way I could be positive (at this stage) that I'm going to have a baby without going through the torture of seeing a doctor? — BLUSHING ALREADY

DEAR B. A.:

There's no "home rabbit test" to determine early pregnancy. But here's a home remedy for "examination embarrassment:"

Choose a woman doctor, or if none is available, assure yourself that a nurse is always in the room at examination time. In eight months, you'll be so accustomed to that table you'll look back and laugh at your fears.

P.S. You aren't alone. Many young-marrieds blush all over at the thought of a "pelvic" — until they discover how routine and impersonal it is. — H.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen of organizations which are interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is now available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

LEARNING TO sing a Chinese song are left, Kent Fung and Bob van Epps who also watched a play explaining the customs of the seven-day celebration beginning the "Year of the Dog," 4668 on the lunar calendar. The Tiburon children took home little packages of traditional foods, reciprocating gifts of Thanksgiving and Christmas foods made by the Bel Aire School mothers last year. (More photos page 17). Co-ed Dorm For Honor Students

By LEE LINDER

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Men and women honor students are living in a Pennsylvania State University dorm and learning it's better for their brains.

"It proves that smart people can help other smart people get smarter," says Dr. Robert W. Frank Jr., an English professor who is the project's faculty representative.

Fourteen men and 55 women —volunteers whose grades are all A's and B's—participate in the experiment in intellectual togetherness which began last fall. It's family-style togetherness that includes eating, discussing, studying, socializing and entertaining.

There are frequent guest speakers at the coed dorm, with topics ranging from drugs to civil rights to environment. And there are informal student-faculty mixers which Frank says are "head-filling and mind-stretching."

The dorm residents have organized a new class on the history of Western music, for which they get credit. And they plan two other new courses to be taught by teachers of their choice: one on the Czechoslovak political situation and the other on art.

"It is an example of students running on their own, and in the right direction, for learning," Frank says. "We're enthused that it works, and we're going to continue it."

The men sleep on the top floor of Irvin Hall, a former woman's residence on Penn State's main campus of 25,000 students. The girls live on floors below.

"The coed dorm is an important facet of academic life," says Judi Friedman, 19, a broadcasting junior from Redding, Conn. "Other more formal areas in school activities are sometimes frustrating, and you end up learning less."

"The speakers, the courses, the activities are left to the students to work out themselves, and this freedom to act makes the program," Kittelberger says. "It's a great place to study. There's no racing around in the hallways, or men looking for girls, and vice versa."

Daniel Schuresko, 21, a math-

Mrs. Rannells will also lead a series of group discussions for the YWCA with sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls at the West Marin Elementary School on "Baby Sitting and Child Development."

BIKE AND TRIKE registration will be held tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Del Mar School, Tiburon. The Reed District Parent-Teacher Club is sponsor of the program. The one dollar fee registers a bike for two years. Funds raised will be used for books and school equipment.

A short program concerning adoptive children with special needs—the child of minority or mixed racial background, the child with a medical problem, and the youngster past infancy—is planned. Speakers will be Abe Woodson, former 49-er and member of the S. F. Minority Adoption Committee of Children's Home Society, and two caseworkers Miss Mildred Anderson and Mrs. Ronnie Moss, from the San Francisco area office of the Golden Gate District.

In charge of planning are Mrs. Lee Moon, membership chairman, and her committee, Mmes. Edward Brown, Phillip Baker, Charles Jones, Kenneth Howard, Robert Taverna, Roger Brink, and James Winter, publicity.

ematics major from Belle Vermon, Pa., finds "the atmosphere and environment are extremely good for people who want to learn more than they can get in class."

"Personal relationships are the program's strong point because they are based on academic motivation," Schuresko adds. "There is such a varied cross section of life here, from all parts of America, that you hear a lot of things, and get a lot of new ideas. That's mentally widening.

Stuart Hammel, 21, a speech senior from Reading, Pa., who brainstormed the project and got the administration to give it a try, says, "The biggest thing is being able to interact with people of varied academic interests in a living, unstructured situation."

"It's the idea of having three girls, and three or four guys, able to sit down in the evening and discussing, for example, premarital sex," Hammel says.

"Or to go to a movie Saturday afternoon and come back and discuss it until 4 a.m. because you don't understand it."

"Don't get the notion we're a bunch of eggheads walking around in an academic fog," says Louise Evans, 19, an anthropology sophomore from Portage, Pa.

"I was looking for a higher level of maturity. There are no freshmen and very few sophomores

'Hair' Will Move Into New Theater

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—"Hair," the American tribal love rock musical, will move to San Francisco's Orpheum Theater, Hyde and Market streets, after the conclusion of its current engagement at the Geary Theater.

Now in its sixth month in San Francisco and still playing to capacity audiences, "Hair" will close at the Geary after final performances on Sunday, March 8. The show will then re-open at the Orpheum on Tuesday, March 17, for an extended run.

The search for a new theater to house the international hit musical ended this week as final negotiations were completed between producer Michael Butler and the Orpheum management. Tickets for "Hair" at the Orpheum will go on sale next week by mail only.

The current cast, musicians, crew, staff and management of the San Francisco production will remain intact when the show moves into its new home.

There will be no increase in ticket prices or in the present performance schedule of Tuesday through Friday curtain times at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 6 and 10 p.m., and Sunday at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The Orpheum seating capacity will be substantially reduced so that every theatergoer is in a good location for seeing and hearing the show.

Jazz Concert At Novato High

The stage band of the Novato High School Bank will present a jazz concert at 2 p.m. Sunday at the old gymnasium.

Included in the concert will be "Cute" by Neal Hefti featuring drummer Dennis Edwards; "Kenny's Blues" by Ralph Mutchler, with guitarist William Burgess and trumpeter Dale Anderson, and "Lonely Street" by Sammy Nestico, with saxaphonist Gregory Gillen.

Admission will be charged, according to band instructor Gordon Moore.

Larkspur Gallery Has New Show

Furniture, jewelry, paintings and sculpture by most of the gallery's stable of talent will be on view Wednesdays through Sundays from noon to 6 p.m.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and from Parents' Magazine, unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Italian Job"—A wildly satirical comedy about a gang of thieves who hijack a shipment of gold with an assist from a computer progamed to cause a gigantic traffic jam. Wild, imaginative nonsense, with stunt driving to congeal the blood.

"Oliver" — A musical spectacular with superb settings and acting. Vividness of some of the violence of story may be frightening to very young children.

"2001: Space Odyssey" — A long epic space adventure that is a fantastic and overwhelming experience. The ending is subject to any interpretation the viewer may put on it.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Bullitt" — San Francisco police are assigned to protect a prime witness in a crime hearing. Steve McQueen adds dimension to a crackling, fast moving thriller.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — True story of two bandits told in farcical tone but documentary in presentation. Film does not deny the violence attendant on their lives and deaths.

"Cactus Flower" — Middle-aged playboy dentist drafts his nurse to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated situation with his current mistress.

"Down Hill Racer" — A brilliant study of the development of ski champion. Action sequences are complemented by an equally absorbing story about the dynamics of sports competition.

"How to Commit Marriage" — Ridiculous farce which pokes fun at marriage and at youths who drop out and form their own society. Several very funny sequences.

"Jenny" — An honest, quiet little film that doesn't preach, yet its social and moral ramifications are clear. It depicts a human encounter and subsequent growth in maturity, responsibility and love. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"On Her Majesty's Secret Service" — Winter scenery in Swiss Alps and skiers performing amazing feats are assets to this James Bond film. Violence and sex make it unsuitable for children.

"Planet of the Apes" — Provocative mixture of comedy, satire and melodramatic but cynical science fiction about our astronauts who crash land on a desolate planet in an era 2,000 years hence.

"Some Kind of Nut" — Spoof on present day rebellion against conformity. A mild mannered bank clerk, quite by accident, throws tradition of a bank into complete confusion.

BORDERLINE

(MOST SOURCES SAY ADULTS ONLY)

"Bonnie and Clyde" — A chapter in the gangster history of the 30's brought to vivid life. An account of immature human beings caught in a fatal web of their own creation.

ADULTS ONLY

"Easy Rider" — Far-out cross-country trip of two hippy motorcyclists creats a vision of America that is by turn beautiful and horrifying. Poetically photographed but has overlong LSD sequence.

"John and Mary" — In Manhattan, two very different young people meet, mate and spend the next day getting acquainted. Dialogue is intelligent ty, direction tasteful. ways present nude sc... prominent.

"Midnight Cowboy" — Off-beat hardhitting story of a male prostitute and a crippled hustler who meet in New York. Sordidness is tempered by skill and compassion, told in an uncompromising way.

Drug Charge

John Milo O'Neill, 20, of Mill Valley, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possessing methamphetamine Tuesday in Mill Valley. He was to appear today with counsel to enter a plea.

Plan To Relax Housing Density Is Turned Down

...posal that Marin cities ...x limitations on density to permit private individuals to construct additional housing on the land for use as low-income housing has been rejected by the Sausalito Planning Comission.

According to H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director, the commission turned down the plan of Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum Wednesday because it would not be practical for Sausalito.

"The commission felt real doubt that any additional units constructed in Sausalito, with its aesthetic appeal and proximity to San Francisco, would be offered by private individuals as low-cost housing," he said.

Borgwardt said the rejection of the proposal does not mean the commission is opposed to the concept of low-cost housing for Sausalito, but he indicated the commissioners would like to see a more feasible plan.

Tiburon Firemen ... Essay Contest Prize

Tiburon volunteer firemen have decided to donate $100 for prizes for an essay or poster contest for National Fire Serv... Recognition Day on Ma... according to Robert Hamilton association secretary.

He said details of the contest, which will be open to school children, is to be discussed at future meetings.

Hamilton said the volunteer firemen are already making plans to celebrate the day locally and have decided to again hold open house at Tiburon's two fire stations and provide fire truck rides for children.

Lobbyist Pay Hike Asked

A $9,000 salary hike for the Golden Gage Bridge District's Sacramento lobbyist was recommended unanimously yesterday by a district committee after a closed session salary discussion.

The closed meeting by the legislation-public relations committee was called to discuss the annual hiring of former Assembly Speaker Gordon Garland, who has been the district's lobbyist since 1959.

The recommendation to hire Garland with a pay boost from $16,000 to $25,000 was approved without discussion in open session.

Committee chairman Lowell Edington of Napa County acknowledged later that Garland's salary had been discussed in the closed session. The state's Ralph M. Brown Act allows closed meetings of public bodies only to hire or fire, or to hear charges against an employee or officer of the public body.

The committee's recommendation will go to the full board for its ratiffcation Feb. 13.

Edington told the Independent-Journal that Garland needed the salary hike "to step up our educational program in the Legislature. The future existence of this district is going to be determined in the next two years," he said.

In other business, the committee rejected Edington's suggestion that the district board control the appearances of its members before the Legislature. "No one's going to stop me from going up there and popping off," said director Daniel F. Del Carlo of San Francisco.

The committee also recommended publication of a bimonthly district newsletter for about $125 for each edition of 700 to 800 copies. It will be distributed to public officials.

Also recommended was payment of $2,500 to Clifford Paine, one of the engineers who built the bridge, to add a supplement to the chief engineer's report, due to be reprinted by the district.

Earlier yesterday, the insurance committee heard from chairman L.E. Castner of Sonoma County that work was progressing on pooling all major bridges in the nation for insurance purposes.

Former Shooting Victim Is Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R-Iowa, one of five congressmen shot 15 years ago in the House chamber by four flag-waving Puerto Rican terrorists, died Thursday of cancer. He was 77.

Jensen, a member of the House for 26 years, had been confined to George Washington University Hospital since Jan. 19.

The shootings occurred March 1, 1954. Jensen was shot in the shoulder.

Of the four other victims, Rep. George H. Fallon, D-Md., is the only one still a member of the House. He was shot in the hip.

Victim Of Larkspur Candle Blaze Held In Candles Theft At Church

A 37-year-old Larkspur man—whose apartment was the scene Monday of a spectacular fire started by an untended burning candle—was arrested today leaving Redwoods Presbyterian Church, carrying candles said to have been stolen from the church.

Booked into the Marin County jail on suspicion of burglary was David T. Williams after he was observed ransacking the church at 3 a.m. by Sgt. Raymond Deleon, the Larkspur Police Department said.

Patrolman Deleon was cruising Magnolia Avenue when he saw lights in the church. Inside, he noted several rooms had been ransacked. Watching from the church's second story balcony, he said, he saw Williams searching a room.

Sgt. Deleon said he then slipped outside and arrested Williams as the latter walked out the front door carrying the candles.

Williams' apartment and two others at 557 Magnolia Avenue were destroyed in two fires Monday.

Larkspur fire chief William C. Schurtz said yesterday Williams had told him he left a candle burning in his apartment. Chief Shurtz blamed the first fire on the untended candle. The cause of the second fire is still under investigation.

Police said they also found a box in the church containing books, coffee and a coffee pot collected from various church rooms. Williams was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court later today.

A Warning On Dunlop Tires

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Transportation has warned that one type of tire manufactured by the Dunlop Tire & Rubber Corp. could be hazardous because of endurance and strength defects revealed by testing.

The department's National Highway Safety Bureau said it issued the unusual public advisory because Dunlop has refused to accept the government's recommendation and recall the 90,000 French-produced CT650-13 four-ply rayon tires manufactured in the first seven months of 1968. The bureau lacks power to require recall.

Library Post Deadline Set

ann$- The Mill Valley Library Board said last night applications for the librarian's post should be filed by March 15.

Librarian Dorothy M. Thomas, who is retiring in April, told the board that announcements of the job opening have been sent out.

In other business, the board discussed the county's refusal Tuesday to reimburse the library for services to nonresidents but took no action.

San Rafael Architect Heads Fairfax Board

San Rafael landscape architect Paul C. Steinmetz was appointed chairman of the Fairfax Design Review board last night to succeed Norman T. Gilroy who has resigned; according to secretary Eileen Foster.

Steinmetz and Gilroy, Mill Valley designer, were special appointments to the board, Mrs. Foster said.

Though not Fairfax residents, they were appointed to meet ordinance requirements calling for a planning commission member, a designer and a landscape architect if possible. No Fairfax resident was available for the post, she added.

Applications are being accepted at city hall for a designer to replace Gilroy on the board, Mrs. Foster said. If a designer fails to apply for the volunteer post, a board member in another line of work will be chosen, she added.

The board approved plans for a duplex owned by Mr. and Mrs. Perry A. Ratcliff of San Francisco to be constructed at the corner of Wreden Avenue and Park Road.

NO REASON FOR HOLLYWOOD

One Of The New, Young Breed Sees Growing Marin Film Center

By C. P. McCARTHY

Marin County may not be the next Hollywood, but it is becoming an important filmmaking center, one of Marins new breed of filmmakers said yesterday.

"Most of the new, young, creative filmmakers are Marinites. It offers the atmosphere they wish to function in.

"San Francisco has the offices, but the people involved don't have to live in San Francisco. Marin offers the kind of climate where they want to live and work," said Evan White of 341 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

"There will never be another Hollywood," he said. "There's no reason for one."

It has a lot to do with age, the 32-year-old filmmaker said. "The Hollywood filmmaking society is old and decrepit. Films designed for the over-30 group are not making money."

It is the young people who are going to the movies and it is young people who are making them, he said.

Marin comes in because the San Francisco area has always had a climate for creative people and for young people, White said.

He cited Medion, a San Francisco filmmaking company which was formed in 1968. It's in San Francisco, he said, because they felt it was conducive to filmmaking. "But more important, there is a tremendous volume of very high quality talent in the area."

Medion operates with a small permanent staff and draws on the pool of Bay Area free-lance film talent—much of it in Marin—for each film it produces.

White recently returned from seven weeks in Africa where he served as production manager and assistant director for a Medion film produced for the United States Information Agency on the need for regional development and cooperation among the emerging black nations of Africa.

"I won't go to work full time for any one company ever again," he said. "The climate in filmmaking has changed. Independence is important to people now. They don't want to be under the big company.

"Filmmakers are refusing to go to Hollywood. I know ten or twelve people involved with filmmaking in Mill Valley alone. Ten years ago this would have been impossible. You wouldn't have been able to eat or pay the rent," he said.

"This is the beginning. The Bay Area is becoming an important filmmaking center." But the Los Angeles native was quick to add that he "wouldn't like to see it get so large that it develops Hollywood's problems."

Marinites Head Seismic Boards

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Melville Owen of Kentfield and Jack Schoop of San Rafael have been elected chairmen of two of the five advisory groups to the Joint Legislative Committee on Seismic Safety.

Owen, an attorney and representative on the joint committee from the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, was elected to head the advisory group on governmental organization and procedures.

Schoop, chief planner for the BCDC and planner for the city of Anchorage, Alaska, at the time of its 1964 earthquake, was elected to chair the advisory group on postearthquake recovery and redevelopment.

The five advisory groups will report their findings to the Legislature by June 1974. Owen has recommended a resolution postponing any major earthquakes until Jan. 1, 1975.

Religion Headline Is Incorrect

A headline in Thursday's Independent-Journal stating that a panel on the proposed de-emphasis of religion agreed on Christmas for schools was incorrect.

The panel, speaking on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" agreed that Christmas and other religious holidays should be observed but differed on whether the observance belonged in public schools.

One member of the panel was incorrectly identified as Mr. Marion Cedarblade. She is Mrs. Cedarblade.

Board Backs Off Policy Making

Marin's Board of Building Code Appeals toyed with the idea of expanding its role into the policy-making field but has decided against it.

Last December, the Marin County Board of Supervisors asked county building inspector Hans J. Berge to eliminate inspectors specializing in one field and re-train them into combination inspectors.

Several members of the board of appeals suggested that the board expand its role so that it can discuss and make recommendations on policy matters such as the change from special to combination inspectors.

But a majority on the board of appeals decided Wednesday not to expand their role beyond interpreting the county's building code.

Berge said the county supervisors' suggestion that building permit fees be raised will be discussed at the next meeting, date to be set.

INVENTORY CLEARANCE SALE

THE BIGGEST SALE EVER IN OUR 7 YEARS OF BUSINESS!

We're overstocked and our bank has told us to reduce our inventory. To do so we are offering you some fantastic buys. On sale are the finest qualities and designs from Denmark in teak, rosewood and walnut.

THANK YOU SO MUCH!

We have never sold as much furniture as during the past two weeks.

WHY? Our selection of beautiful Danish furniture is the finest in the Bay Area. And our honest sale prices have been fantastic. Our store was packed with customers during the past 2 week-ends, and you actually had to wait your turn before a salesman could take your order. But everybody had fun, and we made a lot of happy customers. We sold fine furniture to hundreds of home-owners in Marin and San Francisco as well as nearly every other community in the greater Bay Area, from San Jose to Santa Rosa. We even sold furniture in our San Rafael store to be shipped to Reno, Chicago, Honolulu and other U.S. cities during these two weeks. If we must say so ourselves, this is a pretty good record.

We have nearly emptied our warehouse in order to restock the store for this coming week-end, and we also just received a new shipment that we will include in this sale at very low clearance prices.

The Buildup In Laos Reviewed By An Expert

The United States' involvement in Southeast Asia continues to be a cancerous affair. And like cancer, its spread is hard to detect until, perhaps too late.

While senators renew debate over Vietnam, attacking the so-called "Vietnamization policy," attention is again diverted from neighboring Laos and Thailand, where the U.S. role continues to be largely one of mystery but certainly fraught with danger.

The Laos involvement was so well reviewed by John S. Knight, president of Knight Newspapers, in his "Notebook" column in last Sunday's Detroit Free Press that we quote what he has to say rather than trying to review it ourselves. What follows is by Mr. Knight:

SOME NINE YEARS go — Jan. 1, 1961 to be precise — I was saying something like this:

"What should concern us today is the possibility of U.S. military intervention in Laos, a mountainous little Buddhist country about the size of Idaho which lies between Thailand, Burma to the west and the two Vietnams on the east.

"Since 1954 (mark the date), the United States has given an increase of $398 million to sustain Laotian independence and keep Laos out of the communist orbit.

"The forces which hope to dominate Laos comprise the Pathet Lao, a communist guerilla movement, and the communists of North Vietnam. The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization has charged that troops from North Vietnam have infiltrated Laos...

"Our military involvement there would be, as President-elect Kennedy stated in the campaign, 'the wrong war at the wrong place and at the wrong time' — unsound militarily, unnecessary to our security and unsupported by our allies.

"No Russian soldiers died in Korea and none will die in Laos if we are silly enough to get caught in a conflict where there is no chance of winning decisively and achieving permanent peace in that region."

NEARLY A DECADE has elapsed since that warning was first printed, a period in which Vietnam and not Laos was to provide the setting for a bloody war in which more than 40,000 Americans have died.

Yet we have never been idle in Laos, despite reassurance from Sec. of State William P. Rogers that "we are not going to fight any major wars on the mainland of Asia . . . We are not going to send American troops there."

As revealed by James McCartney of the Knight Newspapers, here is a brief summary of American activities in Laos:

THE U.S. IS PROVIDING massive air support to the Royal Laotian Army now combatting the communists.

United States bombers from both Vietnam and Thailand are attempting to interdict infiltrators into South Vietnam on the Ho Chi Minh Trail which travels through Laos.

U.S. fighters are being used for tactical air support to Laotian forces.

U.S. advisers are all but running the Laotian army. Some are Central Intelligence Agency employees attached to the American embassy with innocent sounding titles.

There are 2,150 Americans in Laos, 830 of them in official government positions. The U.S. has lost at least 100 pilots on Laotian missions and about 25 other Americans have been killed in line of duty.

THIS SUMMATION of U.S. engrossment shows a marked similarity to the Vietnam war buildup in the early 1960s.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

State Budget Higher Yet Lower; Too High, Yet 'Holds The Line'

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's fiscal experts had quite a job with the state budget this year, and apparently accomplished the impossible. For they came up with a budget that indicates the administration is spending more money next year, but actually shows less of an outlay.

Of course, it's all in how one looks at it. In a general budget summary, which includes revenues and expenditures of all state funds and activities, the total budget for the next fiscal year amounts to $6,152,982,902, which is $79,669,384 more contemplated expenditures than the previous fiscal year.

However, in another table, entitled expenditures by character and source of funds, the fiscal experts claim the 1970-71 budget is $37.1 million under the current year's figures.

GOVERNOR REAGAN indicates the budget is too high, despite the fact that he submits the same to the legislature as a "hold-the-line" document.

He said he has long felt that the budget should be prepared as two separate documents, one showing the expenditures made by state government for and on behalf of its citizens, and the other listing those revenues which are collected by the state and returned directly to local government entities, as the state is acting solely as a tax collector.

"If such a distinction were made," he said, "and I think it should be, each of us would have a much clearer understanding of just what it costs to run state government."

AMONG THE ITEMS the governor points to as among the beneficent expenditures are continuation of the $120 million increase for public schools granted last year; higher educational opportunity programs for $9 million; environmental programs which merit study and experimentation and meeting demands for more recreational opportunities.

Also, recognizing at least some of the needs of state employees to meet 1970 economic standards, he is asking that the equivalent of a five per cent increase in salary be granted for some $81 million. This will include increased payment by the state for health insurance.

The governor's budget is based primarily on the programs the administration offers, rather than a line-item expenditures, which makes it difficult to locate particular expenditures. However, the administration contends this is the result of need for a stringent review of all expenditures to determine the necessity of state expenditures.

Young Convert To Pollution War

I am only 11 but I am very concerned about the air pollution and the polluted water. I think we should do something about these non-deposit Coke bottles. I think the people that thought of making them do not care about the air pollution and the polluted waters. We have so much garbage in the world now, that we don't even know what to do with it. The garbage is not only polluting the water, it is polluting the air with its bad smell. If we keep polluting the water and air we will not have any clean water to drink or any clean air to breathe. I am going to try all I can to save this world from garbage and pollution.

Student Behavior Reason For Pride

If the behavior and attitude of the young people at last Tuesday's (Jan. 27) San Rafael Board of Education meeting was representative of the majority of our high school students (and I have no reason to believe differently), and the schools and their faculty are as influential as many of the community seem to believe (I have reaseon to believe differently) then I feel that the efforts to educate successfully our young people have been misinterpreted or misunderstood by man. Last Tuesday's meeting compelled me to express publicly my pride in being able to have my two daughters attend San Rafael High School and to be a part of the San Rafael school system.

JANE LEVINSOHN

Citizen Differs With Committee

At the recent San Rafael Board of Education meeting (Jan. 27), a report was presented by a citizens' advisory committee on goals and philosophy for our school district.

Included in the recommendations for the elementary district were (1) elimination of grades, and (2) non-graded class levels. I mention specifically these two theories because once they are instituted, they will be difficult to recall...

It is a known fact that administrators and teachers in San Rafael favor non-gradedism and grading systems other than A-F. It is also a fact that many parents in our elementary district are unhappy with the non-graded system and prefer traditional grades. This became evident to me last year when the district reportrdcmmittee, on which I served, surveyed parents in May with revealing results: a clear majority favor traditional A-F. Also, in our non-graded schools where A-F is not being used, parents were strongly supporting the traditional grading system.

The board may well decide to adopt the measures suggested by the committee — a committee guided by 12 of our district educators. Parents are urged to attend these board meetings when decisions are forthcoming that will affect the future of all our children!

Bridge Lighting Needs Correction

The Golden Gate Bridge District, in another effort to perpetuate itself, has decided to go into the transit business. In order to help finance this empire, the district has once again "socked it" to the hapless commuter by raising over 50 per cent the cost of commute trip books.

In return for this holup the yet undefined utopian form of commuter is promised some transit system that will relieve all the Main commute-hour traffic congestion.

This move by the district, along with memories of such things as second deck studies, district salaries, and the carte blanche remodeling of the district's office building, must cause many a commuter to throw up his hands in complete frustration.

If the district really wants to do something for the bridge traveler instead of to him, then they should consider a long-time serious condition, that for some reason, has never been corrected. This condition is the dangerous, inadequate and below-standard lighting system on the bridge deck . . . those pretty orange spots that in non-daylight hours decorate the roadway across the span. These fixtures, especially during the rainy season, cast shadows and almost blinding reflections on the pavement, managing to leave the roadway, itself, in almost total darkness.

Contrast In Two Dog Accidents

Something happened in our neighborhood last night that made me so angry I had to voice an opinion. I know with all that is going on in this world it may seem an insignificant occurrence. However, to the people involved and especially the children involved it's left a lasting impression.

Our neighbor's pup, who looks like one of Walt Disney's creations, and is one of those dogs that is loved by every child in the neighborhood, was hit by a car. Now the woman who hit him would have went merrily on her way except for the fact that around six neighborhood children chased her down Fifth Avenue until she stopped. When the children came crying to the owners that their dog was hit they immediately grabbed a blanket and ran to see how badly he was hurt. When the owner asked this woman if she would please drive him to a vet she answered, "I will not, this is a new car and I do not want dog hairs on it" — She also stated there is a leash law in San Rafael.

The one thing that immediately came to mind was an incident I saw on Jan. 23, one of the wettest and windiest days in Marin. I work on Lincoln Avenue, and on that day I spotted a scantily dressed, barefoot, long-haired "hippie" dripping wet, holding a dog's head in his lap and petting him. When asked if it was his dog, he answered no, someone had hit the animal and he was just trying to comfort it until the SPCA came to pick it up.

Why Not Scrubbers On Trucks, Buses?

Diesel trucks, front end loaders etc. are now operating deep down in underground mines, the exhaust being scrubbed in water spray so men can breathe the air.

Why don't trucks and buses have water scrubbers to remove the harmful elements from their exhaust so we can breathe the air?.

"Obviously," an angry wife charged her husband, "you offended my mother with one of your uncouth remarks the last time she came here for dinner. THE DRUMMONDS

Democrats Put On Defensive Because They Misjudged Nixon

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—The Democrats in Congress are in trouble. By now they are pretty sure why.

They are in trouble because they misjudged at three crucial points the kind of President Richard Nixon would be:

THEY GREATLY underestimated Nixon's political skill and purposes.

They couldn't believe that he would succeed in pre-empting the major issues so that in an election year they are going to have to pass most of the President's programs on welfare reform, environment, crime and other matters.

2—THE DEMOCRATS had their minds so fixed on the Nixon of the past that they thought they pretty much could ignore the Nixon of the present. They just couldn't give up their own image of Nixon as the intensely partisan, tough, gut campaigner against Helen Gahagan Douglas and the stiff, unpersuasive high school debater against Sen. John Kennedy.

In consequence the Democratic Congress last year simply waited around for the President to fall on his face, and when he didn't it was too late for them to adjust to reality.

3—FINALLY, the Democrats simply couldn't conceive that Nixon could so soon emerge from an embarrassingly minority election—43 per cent of the vote—to a position consistently commanding a nearly two-thirds public support.

They knew that when Lyndon Johnson was Senate majority leader he helped the Democrats win every congressional election during President Eisenhower's two terms by recognizing Ike's popularity and supporting him most of the time.

They knew this but gravely misjudged Nixon's popular potential. They assumed they would be dealing with a harassed and constantly criticizable President. They assumed national opinion would be almost continuously on their side.

BECAUSE OF THESE miscalculations this Democratically controlled Congress has now lost the initiative to a President they thought would be a pushover, and has lost control of the big domestic issues.

They threw away the opportunity last year to pass legislation at a time when they could have emerged—as the Democratic Congress did under Senator Johnson's guidance—as the responsible law-making arm of the government. And now, on the eve of the congressional elections this fall, the Democrats in Congress will almost certainly have to give Nixon nearly everything he asks.

The Democrats got their own priorities reversed: They stalled last year when they should have acted and are acting this year because it is no longer safe for them to stall.

NIXON HIMSELF is moving faster and farther in adjusting his spending priorities than he intended. He showed at first that on domestic matters he wanted to keep the spending lower than that which he is now supporting, until Vietnam costs could be radically cut and inflation put under control.

But he saw that the problems wouldn't wait and that the voters wouldn't wait, and he saw that he would likely go the way of Herbert Hoover unless he responded. This is where his political critics again miscalculated. They figured he couldn't and wouldn't respond.

THE PRESIDENT has defused the demagoguery that he is against people and for economy for its own sake. He has cut the military to a lower percentage of the budget than at any time in 20 years. He is proposing to spend more on welfare, health and education than any previous administration.

So it now seems clear that the central issue of the fall campaign is almost fully shaped. The issue is national priorities—how much federal money is spent on what?

The Democratic stance is that we ought to spend more, even if inflation isn't checked, and the Nixon stance is that we are spending all that can safely be spent until inflation is checked.

Our guess is that anti-inflation policy, designed, as Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott has aptly put it, "not just to save a dollar but to save THE dollar," is good politics.

Panther Fund Raisers Ignore Criminal Records

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON—There is grisly irony behind those carefully publicized socialite affairs to raise "defense" funds for the Black Panthers.

While the "beautiful people," jet-setters, show buz personalities and other exotic bleeding-hearts and do-gooders gather in swank apartments and ornate salons to deplore and decry police "brutality" and "violence," police records throughout the country reveal a different story.

POLICE RECORDS disclose that last year more than 350 Black Panthers were arrested for committing upward of 150 serious crimes--including murder, armed robbery, rape, auto and various other thefts, bank holdups, purse snatching, narcotics violations, rioting, illegal possession of guns, and defiance of the Selective Service Act.

More than 100 guns of various kinds were confiscated from Black Panthers, also a number of bombs.

These facts are never mentioned at the socialite money-raising wallows. There is much hand-wringing and wailing over claimed police abuses, but never a word about Black Panther depredations and criminality.

NOR IS ANYTHING ever said about the widespread prevalence of criminals among the Black Panthers, and the open advocacy by Panther leaders and their official publication of attacking police.

Since the Panthers' inception in 1967, they have killed five policemen and wounded 42 others.

The 1969 police records show that wherever Black Panthers congregated they were in the forefront of crime and vice.

ANOTHER REALITY never mentioned in the socialites' fund-raising soirees is that Black Panther ranks are filled with hoodlums and thugs with long criminal records.

Following are some examples:

Jorge Aponte Jr., Brooklyn, convicted of attempted robbery with a sawed-off shotgun.

In Newark, N.J., Black Panther Jerome Chambers has over 20 arrests, for larceny, assault, robbery and narcotics violations. And Black Panther Isaiah Rowley has a long arrest record for armed robbery, breaking and entering, looting, narcotics violations and assaulting a police officer.

Fred Alan Hampton, field director of the Chicago Black Panthers, recently killed in a gun battle with police, had a long criminal record, including arrests for robbery, aggravated assault and mob action.

The Black Panther propaganda line is that they resort to armed force to "defend" themselves. In no instance does the record bear that out. The record does show that they openly call for "off the pigs"--meaning kill the police.

Shooting Death Of Youth Seen As Result Of Disillusionment

Ronald Gustafson came back from a year and a half in the Navy a "completely changed, embittered" young man, disillusioned by his experiences in military life, according to his father, Dr. Joel F. Gustafson of Mill Valley.

Dr. Gustafson said he felt his son's death Sunday from gunshot wounds, received as the boy and two companions attempted a holdup, was a reflection of the tragedy of many young persons today who become frustrated by the injustices and unsolved problems they see around them.

While in the service, young Gustafson was court-martialed 13 times, each time for "objecting to the way he or other men were treated by superior officers," according to his father, who said the youth was not found guilty at any of the military trials.

BEFORE JOINING the Navy, his father recalled him as being "A likeable boyish kid, a good boy, warm and open, close to his family.

He was a young man with a history of involvement in social problems and had collected food and clothing to aid the early civil rights movement in the South and, more recently, joined the grape boycott fight to improve conditions and wages for farm workers," the father recalled.

"The world situation . . . the problems in this country . . . they just got to be too much for Ronnie," Gustafson said sadly. "He just couldn't handle the idea of so much injustice.

"Finally, he just gave up trying to do something constructive about the things that were wrong," he continued. Oh, he still cared very much, but he didn't fell there was anything he could do to help."

The young man became disillusioned and "wary" with everyone, his father said.

BEFORE HE LEFT for the Navy, Dr. Gustafson said Ronnie told his family he would not go to Vietnam even if ordered to do so because he "could never take up arms to hurt anyone."

He said the youth, who was stationed at a dry dock in the Phillippines and assigned to repair ships which were to return to Vietnam, wrote to his family that he was having a real problem on conscience in working on ships to return them to possible combat.

Even though young Gustafson was killed while holding a pistol on two men during a robbery attempt, his father is convinced he had no intention of firing the gun.

When the first bullet him him, police said, Gustafson dropepd his gun and turned to flee without returning the fire. His father is certain his son did not shoot back "Because Ronnie was just not going to harm anyone; he felt so strongly about violence."

Panel To Make Drainage Check

A three-member citizens committee studying community drainage toward possible flood relief has told the Strawberry Recreation District Board it would conduct an inspection tour of occasional trouble spots tomorrow.

In another matter, the board set May 4-9 for the semi-annual refuse pick up under which residents may obtain free disposal of up to three cubic yards of rubbish.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Free Ride For Transit Boss, But Not For The Taxpayers

Fusselman

"Ferry Feeder Bus System Begins Monday." The four-column spread topped with a picture of the interior of one of the mini-buses of the new Marin City firm, Marin County Transit Systems, headed by Theophus Barron Jr.

Seymour Kashin (manager (?) of the county's transit district) is seen with eager posture looking over at young Barron in the driver's seat. Kashin, unless he's awfully thick skinned, must be saying to himself to the same tune, "Man, he passed me by, he passed me by." And did he ever pass him by!

THE MARIN COUNTY Transit District, which is dominated by the five supervisors, has taxed you to the tune of $262,545. Of this Kashin has received in salary and fringe benefits $59,093.

Besides this, Planning Director Paul C. Zucker has been handed juicy budgets to come up with "balanced transportation." Kashin has been supplied with one of the new offices out at Brasilia and until recently a staff of three people.

The layout has been reduced to a secretary, but somewhat like the Doctor Miller case he gets paid for what amounts to a vacation—a ride on a minibus that he didn't produce.

BRUCE, BARROWS, Campanella, Jackson, Crystal and Renne receive in salaries and fringe benefits $128,433. Each has an office and staff with all the costs incident to such an operation.

The board of supervisors, composed of five members, receives in salaries and fringe benefits $56,640 annually. This makes the combined yearly costs of the brain trust $185,073—the Establishment of Brasilia, if you will.

Let's go into deep meditation together. Let's consider the gross annual product of this exclusive club, for the past five years.

All right, we have considered. It cost us $925,365 in salaries and benefits alone, which all means considerable more than $1 million total. Do you think you got your money's worth? The answer is obvious.

CONSIDERATION of this will have to be carried over to another issue, because of space limitations.

However, before signing off, here is something that should be said now—this week.

In Monday's I-J: "Bruce will recommend that the Veterans Memorial Auditorium be called "Marin Memorial." "May we ask memorial of what? His Fair-Marin flop? Then in the Wednesday issue: "Baar wanted to know why 'Veterans' should be deleted if the original money was veterans' money?"

Answered the other half of the two voices which speak as one, McInnis: "This is a misconception. It is not veterans' money."

The throne has missed the point. I'll explain how he has next week.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Wikel

If you had more than one employer in 1969, and your total earnings were over $7,800 your employers may have deducted more than $374.40 from your paychecks for FICA taxes. The maximum that you are required to pay for FICA taxes is $374.40, that is, 4.8 per cent of $7,800.

Any over deduction by two or more employers of FICA tax can be claimed as a credit against your income tax on Line 20 of Form 1040.

The W-2 slips your employers give you show the amount of FICA tax withheld, as well as the amount of income tax withheld.

If you worked for more than one employer in California during 1969 you may have had more than $74 deducted from your paychecks for Unemployment Disability Insurance Tax.

If so, you should file a claim for refund on Form DE 1964 if: You worked for two or more employers, and; deductions for disability insurance were made from your wages, and; such deductions totaled more than $74.

Do not use Form DE 1964 if refunds are due you because: Disability insurance deductions of more than the required maximum were deducted from your pay by only one employer. Claim your refund from that employer. You worked for a business which had a change of ownership during the year. The combined deductions made by both owners should not total more than the required maximum. If more than the required maximum was deducted from your pay by the two employers, claim your refund direct from the last employer.

DISABILITY RULES

Disability insurance deductions are shown on your check stubs or deduction slips (not on your Forms W-2). Some voluntary plans require deductions of less than the required maximum. You can claim only the deductions actually made.

Most federal, state and local government agencies and religious or nonprofit organizations are not subject to the insurance law. Do not include these wages in your claim unless deductions were actually made.

Do not deduct the amount of this claim from your state income tax.

Do not include in your claim: Deductions made from wages paid to your wife or dependents. A separate claim must be filed by each individual. 2. Deductions made from your wages for Federal Old Age Benefits or Federal Withholding (income tax). 3. Deductions made from wages earned in states other than California unless such wages were reported to the state of California. 4. Seaman's wages that come under the jurisdiction of states other than California.

MUST CLAIM IT

You must claim this refund if you are to receive it. The claim must be filed before June 30, 1970.

Claims are filed with the California Department of Employment, Attention Accounting Section, 1025 P Street, Sacramento, 95814.

Claims must be filed on Form DE 1964. These forms can be secured from uour local office of employment, or by writing to Sacramento.

Larkspur Blaze Traced To Candle

Shurtz said Williams told special investigator Earl Guisness he left the burning candle Sunday night, and that he did not return home until after two fires had raced through the apartment building.

Shurtz added that the cause of the second fire is still under investigation.

Checks Stolen

Social Security and state compensation checks worth $152 were stolen Tuesday from the apartment of Frank Gobbi, 1330 Fourth Street, Apt. 1, San Rafael, polio reported yesterday.

Reluctant Approval For Tower

A proposed 50-foot microwave tower to be built by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. on the hills above San Rafael has been given reluctant approval by directors of the Loch Lomond Homeowners Association.

According to president Andrew J. Ring, the directors also voted Wednesday to support other homeowners groups closer to the tower site which want the tower camouflaged with earth-toned paint and landscaping.

He said approval of the tower was given "as the lesser of two evils." The group had been told that telephone communication would be impaired and video telephone impossible without the tower, Ring said.

Plans call for the tower to be erected on land owned by Frank Sinatra and partners south of the Nike Missile site above the Dominican area of the city. They will be presented to the San Rafael Planning Commission Feb. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.1

Association officers for 1970 will be elected at the general meeting of the association March 4 at 8 p.m. in the Kindergarten Room at the San Pedro School, Ring announced.

In 1778 Massachusetts ratified the Constitution.

A thought for the day: Henry Clay said, "If you wish to avoid foreign collision, you had better abandon the ocean."

The commission still has one vacancy, president William H. Thomson said. It was caused by the resignation of Clifford Hannsen for business reasons.

HOW TO PLAY

And then if his plot doesn't work he complains that his luck is bad. If you think that I'm complaining about a partner, you're quite right.

TAKES SECOND TRICK

South held off the first trick but took the second trick with the ace of clubs since he was pretty sure that the clubs were evenly divided. He wanted to run the diamonds and hoped to drive out the king only on the third round of the suit so that the diamonds would then be unblocked.

With this in mind, South cashed the ace of diamonds and then craftily led the jack of diamonds. If West happened to start with K-x-x of diamonds, he might hold off the second trick for fear of capturing his partner's queen.

It wasn't much of a plot, but it had no chance at all since West started with only two diamonds.

TAKES CLUBS

West took the king of diamonds and two more club tricks, after which South needed the rest. Since declarer had discarded two low hearts from the dummy on the clubs, West next led the nine of hearts to dummy's ace.

The diamonds were still blocked, and South had to lead from his hand, losing two more heart tricks. Down two.

PERFECT SETUP

South had a perfectly straightforward play for his contract if he hadn't been blinded by his own craftiness. After taking the ace of clubs, South should cash the top spades before leading the ace and jack of diamonds.

West takes the king of diamonds and his clubs, then leads a heart to dummy's ace. Declarer cashes dummy's queen of spades to discard the queen of diamonds from his hand. Dummy then remains in the lead to take the rest of the tricks with diamonds.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Senate Locked In Leadership Battle

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate today was in the midst of a tug-of-war over leadership in the upper house.

However, Senate leader Howard Way said Thursday that Republican Sen. Jack Schrade of San Diego does not have the votes to wrest control of the Senate away from him.

"I think he is playing the old puff game," Way said. "The name of the game around here is 21 votes and if he has them, I wonder why he doesn't move.'

Schrade's only official comment to reports he is trying to oust fellow Republican Way as Senate president pro tem was a terse "no comment."

Way formed a Republican-Democrat coalition last year to unseat Sen. Hugh Burns, D-Fresno, as Senate leader. But this year, some senators who backed Burns have indicated they are unhappy at being demoted by Way on Senate committees. Some also have complained Way is too partisan in the traditionally bi-partisan Senate.

"I don't think he's clearly understood he was representing a coalition of both Democrats and Republicans when he was elected," said Sen. George Danielson, D-Los Angeles.

Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, a backer of Way, estimated that Schrade has about 20 votes. Other estimates ranged from 15 to 29.

POLLUTION

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Only $1 out of every $516 in Gov. Reagan's 1970-71 budget is earmarked for anti-pollution programs, slightly less than 63 cents per resident for the year.

That's a 33 per cent increase over this year, but cleaning up California's environment — the favorite speechmaking cause of both political parties this year—still appears to be winning more verbal than financial support.

Gov. Reagan devoted more than half of his State of the State address to environmental quality, and about one-sixth of the legislation proposed so far this year deals with the fight against pollution.

But only $12.6 million — one-fifth of one per cent — of the $6.48 billion budget submitted to the legislature this week by the governor was devoted to programs to improve California's environment.

Education accounts for 39.6 per cent of the budget, health and welfare 24.3 per cent and highways 10.0 per cent, compared to 1.8 per cent for all natural resources programs, including the State Water Project.

The biggest anti-pollution item in the new budget is $5.5 million to fight air pollution, up from $3.04 million this year. A $1.6 million appropriation for construction of an air pollution research laboratory and $1.1 million for a Highway Commission study account for the increase.

The Water Resources Control Board, which finds nine regional water quality control boards, has a $4.54 million budget proposed for next year. In addition to that, $415,000 in the Department of Fish and Game budget and $55,000 from the Colorado River Board budget are earmarked for water quality control.

ENVIRONMENT

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A highly select panel of experts has bluntly told Gov. Reagan and legislators "Our beautiful state is in severe danger of being destroyed as a desirable place to live."

In fact, the admittedly pessimistic group declares, "It is even questionable whether major portions of the state will be capable of supporting tolerable human life within several more decades."

The comments came Thursday in a progress report by the Environmental Quality Study Council, established by the legislature in 1968. Members were named by the governor and legislators and included lawyers, professors, businessmen and high-ranking state officials.

The group has held public hearings and plans more. In fact, it recommended that its life be extended for a year past the original expiration date next year.

The group produced a series of recommendations to fight air, water, noise and land pollution — some on an emergency basis. Included were some of the most far-reaching proposals ever made to cope with the decline in the environment.

The word "urgent" was underlined. Without such a plan, the committee said, the very fabric of life — personal freedom and privacy — will be torn apart. Rising mental illness and crime it said, are warning signs.

No specific population control steps were suggested, but the group noted that large areas of sparsely-settled land remain for development — and must be tightly controled by the state.

RAFFERTY

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Local school boards should consult with a citizens' committee when dealing with controversial issues such as student dress, state school chief Max Rafferty said Thursday.

In a letter to fellow members of the state board of education, Rafferty said he plans to propose that the state board urge each local board to appoint a "broadly based" citizens' advisory committee.

The state superintendent of public instruction said the advisory groups would help formulate policies covering adoption of supplementary reading materials, guest speakers, student dress codes, teacher-parent relations, and how teachers present controversial subjects to students.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Oerweight Person Points Out Big Hole In Dieting Advice

VAN DELLEN

Mrs. A.S. of Cataldo, Idaho, writes: "Several months ago, you wrote on gross obesity but said nothing that was helpful or encouraging. I fought a losing battle with moderate overweight for nearly 50 years.

And, neither my personal physician nor stacks of printed advice ever warned me that many digestive tracts cannot handle the usual low-calorie, high-bulk diet.

"I, MYSELF, FOUND the answer, and it was rice. Rice diets work because they are bland. No wonder fasting works, it is a relief from the harsh diets printed by the thousands for all patients alike. I still don't know why the most sensible diet, long continued, may bring on increased tension, intolerance of semi-bland foods, and other complications. But you doctors could come up with the answer if you approached the problem with sympathy."

I agree that there is no substitute for sympathy and most physicians trying to find the answers to obesity must be genuinely motivated to be of help. There are many organic and emotional reasons individuals are 30 to 50 per cent overweight.

If being empathetic will encourage cooperation, Mrs. A. S. has found the answer. But I'm afraid that she wants us to limit our sympathy to her dietary habits. In other words, she wants no ridicule.

I AM AGAINST standard low-caloric diets and when evaluating weight loss, prefer a tape measure to the bathroom scale. Most fatties will lose weight on a basic diet, provided they eat half as much, avoid alcoholic drinks, and exercise regularly. Of greater importance is establishing new eating habits that will carry them thru the rest of their lives at a lower weight level.

Some people — thin or stout—cannot tolerate roughage in high-bulk foods. The abdominal cramps that ensue are due to a spastic bowel and should not be mistaken for a perverted appetite and used as an excuse to eat calorie-filled menus.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies requst to the I-J.

MSG AND ULCER

M. C. V. writes: I understand that a person with ulcers must be careful about what he eats. Would monosodium glutamate have any adverse side effects on him?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge unless he is overly sensitive to the seasoning. The diet is important but there is considerable evidence that the stress and strain of living are of greater consequence especially in people who are easily disturbed emotionally.

PAINLESS ARTHRITIS

M. A. writes: My friend claims her doctor said she had arthritis of the spine, even though she has no pain. Is this possible?

REPLY

Yes. Many middle-aged and older persons have X-ray evidence of extensive arthritis of the spine, without an iota of distress.

CARDIOVASCULAR SPECIALIST

R. C. B. writes: What do you call a physician who specializes in blood clots and blood vessels?

REPLY

These conditions are handled by specialists in internal medicine who are experts in cardiovascular disease, as well as by vascular surgeons.

BOWEL OBSTRUCTION

M. M. writes: Is obstruction of the bowel completely curable?

REPLY

The majority are. Even if cancer is responsible, the obstruction may be relieved.

TV REVIEW

Margo And Rudy Help Out Dino

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev in a pas de deux from "Sleeping Beauty" was a charming segment of "The Dean Martin Show" Thursday night, even though Martin stumbled over the names and tried to be funny about the ballot.

And the ballet did not even seem out of place following "Shuffle Off to Buffalo" by the Golddiggers and a Corbett Monica monologue along the "take my wife—please!" line.

Producers of public television's "Sesame Street" hope to announce financing for another season of the children's program within two or three weeks.

The original funding, $8 million, paid for one year of research and the current season of 130 programs. This came from federal grants of $4 million, another $2.75 million from the Carnegie and Ford foundations and smaller amounts from other foundations.

Producers of the series want $7 million for another year, partly to hire special personnel to work in inner-city slum neighborhoods—day-care centers, schools and with parent groups—to stimulate use of the series.

Since "Sesame Street" has been so widely acclaimed and used, producers of the series are optimistic about the prospect of receiving the funds it wants.

NBC has announced that Don Knotts will return to weekly television next fall with a comedy-variety hour in the time period now occupied by "I Dream of Jeannie" and "The Debbie Reynolds Show." Neither situation comedy series is expected to be renewed.

The network will put the show in the Tuesday evening spot starting at 7:30. Knotts first came to the audience's attention playing one of Steve Allen's comedy backstops in the latter's NBC variety hour. He played a comedy deputy sheriff for several seasons on CBS' "Andy Griffith Show."

Debbie Reynolds comedy series has been one of the major disappointments of the current season and "I Dream of Jeannie," although it has survived for several seasons, never achieved hit status. Both have received low Nielsen ratings since September.

Float Construction Chairman Is Sought

President John Henman said a chairman must be found soon to begin plans for the local entry in the parade set for mid-May. He said the chairman need not be a chamber member.

Pistol Shots Fail To Stop Fleeing Thief

Maruice G. Henry, 1723 Lincoln Avenue, Apt. A, San Rafael, fired two shots from a .22 caliber pistol at a burglar who was robbing his son's pickup truck at 2:45 a.m. Wednesday San Rafael police said yesterday.

The thief fled, taking with him a $51 butane heater, but dropped two tool boxes he had removed from the truck, police said. The shots apparently missed.

Ford Promises Cleaner Autos

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. has told 19 oil companies it will modify its cars to use a pollution-reducing, lead-free gasoline when such a gasoline is developed.

"The petroleum industry and the automobile industry now have an opportunity to achieve the goal of cleaner air," Henry Ford II, board chairman, wrote in a letter to the heads of 19 major oil firms.

The letter dated Jan. 27, was made public after Atlantic Richfield Co. said Thursday it would produce such a lead-free fuel if the auto industry builds an engine to use it.

A Chrysler Corp. spokesman said he would not comment until the specifications of the fuel under discussion are known. General Motors also declined comment.

Tape Player Stolen

A tape player and tapes worth $90 were stolen Jan. 31 from the car of Dale R. Witzman, 90 Hoag Avenue, Apt. 11, San Rafael, police said yesterday.

Everyone is always saying: "REMEMBER THE GOOD OLD DAYS?"

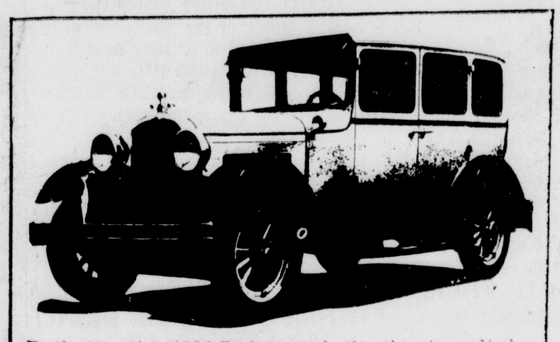
Well...

"THE GOOD OLD DAYS ARE HERE!"

"AT OUR PLACE OF BUSINESS!"



By the time this 1928 Dodge was built, the six cylinder engine had replaced the four cylinder. A pre-depression favorite, this classic car was famous for its ability to "hug the road" because of its low center of gravity. Its attractive wooden spoke wheels were another trademark of this model.

Dynamic Arnold Palmer Is Athlete Of Decade

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Palmer, whose boyish charm and faculty for miraculous comebacks sent profesional golf into a multi-million-dollar piral, was chosen today Athlete of the Decade.

The 40-year-old fairway slugger from the little mill town of Latrobe, Pa., beat out Bill Russell, towering basketball star of the Boston Celtics, in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters to select the top performer of the 1960s.

MAGNETISM

It was a victory for personal magnetism.

Although he did not dominate the game as thoroughly as Bob Jones in the 1920s, Byron Nelson in the 1940s and Ben Hogan in the 1950s and failed to overshadow his rivals as did men in other fields, no individual made such an impact on golf and the sports world generally during the period.

KOUFAX THIRD

Sandy Koufax, the left-handed pitching ace of the Dodgers, was third with 56 votes, followed by Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts, outstanding in a dazzling parade of football quarterbacks, 47, and Mickey Mantle, the home run punch of the New York Yankees, 43.

Rounding out the Top Ten, in order, were Willie Mays, baseball; Bart Starr, football; Jimmy Brown, football; Wilt Chamberlain, basketball, and Bobby Hull, hockey.

Palmer became the epitome of the modern athlete—part actor, part ham, sports idol and business tycoon. He turned into the darling of the TV tube.

He is perfectly equipped for the role.

Son of a professional, he has the build of a light heavyweight fighter with powerful sloping shoulders, arms like wagon tongues and the caloused hands of a blacksmith. He represents the new bold generation of golfer—the go-for-broke swinger who disdains style and hazards, sledge-hammers courses into submission and makes birdies and eagles the target instead of pars.

Palmer created a new breed of fans who dubbed themselves "Arnie's Army." Largely they know little of golf—and cared les. They storm over the course—running, pushing, yelling—exhorting their idol to fresh heroics.

Even when Palmer went into a prolonged slump—in 1968 and 1969, going 14 months without a victory—they refused to desert him.

SEX APPEAL

Palmer is loaded with what the politicians call charisma but which the movie marquees refer to simply as sex appeal. In the 1960s, women turned off the soap operas to watch Arnie make his patented charges. They found him more exciting than Batman and "Love' Last Dream."

Although his hair has begun to thin on top of his strong, rugged face and he fights a losing battle with the paunch—as he alternately kicks and returns to the cigarette habit—Arnie delights his galleries with a gamut of expressions. They have become trademarks.

JIM GILMARTIN

Artie Really Had A Fastball

As a young baseball player, eons ago, my most terrifying experiences were batting against fastball pitchers.

I had a back problem. A yellow streak down it.

Also, my left foot gave me trouble. I kept it firmly entrenched in baseball's proverbial bucket. Even if a pitch was wild OUTSIDE I stepped away from it.

A further handicap was my vision. I couldn't see the ball with my eyes closed.

In high school we usually faced kids who threw r i n k y - d i n k y marshmallow pitches. Garbage stuff. Which was the only reason I survived.

But one memorable day our high school coach had a brainstorm to schedule a scrimmage against the Marin Junior College team, figuring the stiff competition would do us some good. Which was good thinking on the coach's part since he didn't have to bat against the college whizzes. Coaches and fight managers are diabolists.

Hummed, Zipped And Smoked

Well Marin J.C. that year had a pitcher named Artie Schallock. He was a little lefthander but, man, he threw fire. His fast one h u m m e d, zipped and smoked. I'm not saying he threw bullets but he was the only pitcher I knew at the time who had to carry a permit. He was armed and considered dangerous.

For high school kids accustomed to slow motion, Schallock was like a firing squad. I'm not saying we were scared, but I'd liked to have had the laundry concession that day. Luckily our flannel knickers were Sanforized.

And it was my luck to be leadoff batter! They figured if I survived there was hope after all. If I managed to get the bat off my shoulder they would have considered it a moral victory. A foul ball would have been a rally.

Well, I reluctantly took my turn at bat with all the coolness of lemon jello— trembling and yellow. Naturally, I didn't get the bat off my shoulder because I couldn't see anything to swing at. Schallock was a rumor as far as I was concerned. I did hear the ump thrice bellow "stee-rike" and was happy to get out of there alive.

Been A Fan Ever Since

Well, Ive been a fan of Artie's ever since and followed his progress through the minor and major leagues (Yankees, Orioles), cheering his triumps and hurting a little with his losses.

I saw Artie pitch for the Yanks in the 1953 World Series and proudly nudged the guy next to me: "Hey, I batted against that little squirt one time. Had pretty good stuff and a fair hummer as I recall."

But that was long ago and a lot of people forget some of our guys after they hang up the tools of sports. But a lot of people never forget. Like the Knights of Columbus of Southern Marin who tonight will enshrine Schallock, former American League All-Star Joe DeMaestri of Novato, golfer Mat Palacio Jr. of San Rafael and ex-fighter Claude "Kid" Capley of Sausalito in their Marin Hall of Fame. The affair will be held at Mt. Carmel Auditorium, Mill Valley, starting at 8 o'clock.

This Hall of Fame is a far cry from the one in Cooperstown but it's just as important to the principals and to those of us whose pleasure it was to follow their careers. And that's what it's all about.

Ziegler Likes His Hockey

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —The marathon Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic swung into the 54-hole phase today, with 36 more to go, and leading the way through the wreckage of par was Larry Ziegler, a young man who would just as soon watch ice hockey as play golf.

The tall, blond, 30-year-old Ziegler, from Terre Du Lac, Mo., which is somewhere near St. Louis, broke out of a first-round deadlock with a seven-under par 65 Thursday and went into this third round with scores 67-65—132.

DELVIN SECOND

It gave Ziegler a three stroke lead over Australian Bruce Devlin, who had 67-68—135. Tied at 137 were ex U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, 70-67, and Moon Mullin, who followed a 72 with a 65, a competitive course record for the La Quinta Country Club.

The bigger names in the tournament were down the line a bit—Arnold Palmer 71, and Chi Chi Rodriguez, 70 in the 139 group, and Bill Casper in a tie at 140 after a 69.

Of the five who tied in the first round, only Ziegler and Devlin, the one-time master plumber, remained prominent. Bob Rosburg skidded to 142 with a 75 and Charles Coody and Labron Harris to 141 each with a 74.

AGNEW

Gallery interest was heightened with the expectation that Vice Preident Spiro T. Agnew might compete as one of the 408 amateurs in the field. The Vice President originally was teamed with the host, Hope and Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif.

Agnew is definitely set to play Saturday when the amateurs wind up their four rounds, giving way to the pros for their final fling Sunday. Both the Saturday and Sunday rounds will be nationally televised by the National Broadcasting Co.

"I'd like to win here so I can take a break and take in the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs," Ziegler said, explaining that while he could never learn to skate he has a deep passion for the game.

Ziegler played Indian Wells' short but tight course in 33-32—65. He banged out five birdies and finished the day with an eagle-three on the 18th hole. He hit a four-wood 25 feet from the cup and holed the putt.

Clyde Lee Is Providing Bright Surprise For S.F.

PHOENIX (UPI)—Clyde Lee has turned from a low scoring forward to a high scoring center, and his efforts are making the San Francisco Warriors' playoff chances more realistic with each passing game.

Lee scored 25 points Thursday night in aiding a 127-105 National Basketball Association victory over the Chicago Bulls. The win puts the Warriors percentage points behind the third place Phoenix Suns, who host San Francisco tonight.

MUSCLE

When standout center Nate Thurmond was shelved for the remainder of the season by a knee injury a few weeks ago, it was feared Lee would not have the muscle or scoring punch to take up the slack.

But the four-year pro from Vanderbilt has been scoring 20 or more points with regularity at the pivot after having trouble even reaching double figures while at forward. Lee was successful two years ago in filling in for an injured Thurmond and taking the Warriors to the playoffs.

Frontline mates Joe Ellis and Jerry Lucas aided Lee on the boards and in the scorebook Thursday night. Ellis topped all scorers with 26 points, Lucas had 23.

MULLINS OUT

The Warriors got the victory despite missing Jeff Mullins, who has averaged 23.3 points a game. Mullins is out of action for at least 10 days with a knee injury.

McLain Facing Eviction

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (UPI) —Denny McLain's financial problems hit home Thursday when his landlord filed suit in district court here, claiming the Detroit Tigers' $80,000-a-year-plus pitching ace owed $2,450 in back rent.

Vernon B. and Lilian A. Blakely, owners of McLain's suburban Beverly Hills, Mich., home, said the co-winner of the 1969 Cy Young award has not paid any rent in seven months.

Orland H. Ellis, an attorney for the Blakelys, said McLain would be evicted if he doesn't "pay up."

Although McLain was unavailable for comment, Ellis said the Tiger pitcher had indicated the money problem would be straightened out.

The eviction threat was only the latest in a series of money problems which have been creeping up on McLain, who supplements his Tiger salary with incomes from outside business interests.

McLain is also faced with a $9,460 tax lien against property he owns by the Internal Revenue Service and claims by an airport, department store and Consumers Power Co. that he owes them money.

Second Half Of Prep Cage Race To Begin

San Rafael High School's basketball team gets a chance to soothe some of its pride while Redwood's unbeaten Giants face a serious test enroute to a title as the Marin County Athletic League cage race starts its second half of action tonight.

San Rafael will try to avenge one of its two league losses when it goes against Drake in San Anselmo. The Pirates dealt the Bulldogs a 52-51 setback in the league opener at San Rafael in a loss San Rafael really couldn't afford.

HOSTS TAM

Redwood, after its impressive win over San Rafael last Friday, will attempt to get by what could be a big stumbling block when it plays host to Tamalpais in Larkspur. The Indians are tied for second place with San Rafael and still harbor some title hopes. A win over the Giants would do nothing but boost the hopes sky-high.

In other games, San Marin visits Marin Catholic and Novato is at Terra Linda. All varsity games start about 8:15, following junior varsity 7 o'clock games.

SCORING RACE

An interesting aside to the team race will be the race for individual scoring honors. Currently, four MCAL cagers are averaging 20 points or better in league action, topped by Dana LaFerriere, the 6-foot-8 San Marin Center who's roaming along at a 27.4 clip. Don Duryee, another 6-8 boy from San Rafael, is next at 23.8, followed by Bill Secor of Tamalpais, 20.2 and Jeff Meeker of Drake, 20.1.

Giants' Linzy Due For More Rest This Year

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Frank Linzy, the workhorse of the San Francisco Giants bullpen, may get more rest than usual in 1970.

Linzy will be joined this season by newcomer Frank Reberger, who signed his 1970 contract Thursday along with six other Giants.

Reberger came to San Francisco in a December trade that sent Pitcher Ron Herbel, catcher Bob Barton and third baseman Bobby Etheridge to the San Diego Padres.

The 25-year-old fastball exponent hurled 94 innings in his first major league season in 1969. He allowed 92 hits, struck out 68 batters and compiled a 1-2 record and 3.58 earned run average.

Giants manager Clyde King is hoping Reberger can take the load off Linzy, who pitched 116 innings last season and was overworked down the stretch.

The six other Giants signing contracts were pitchers Don Carrithers and Jim Willoughby, catchers Dick Dietz, John Harrell and Dave Rader, and outfielder George Foster.

Dietz, 28, will be entering his fifth season with San Francisco. He batted .230 in 1969, with 11 home runs and 35 runs batted in.

Harrell, Rader, Carrithers and Willoughby are all expected to need more minor league experience in 1970, but thy will be battling for jobs when the Giants open spring training Feb. 23 at Casa Grande, Ariz.

Foster, the 34th Giant to sign, appeared in nine games at the tail end of 1969. He socked two hits in five times at bat.

CHAMPION SKATER

Juli Wears The Crown

On the previous day the 13-year-old eighth grader of Miller Creek School was equally effective in winning the junior ladies compulsory figures title.

Last night's triumph was by far the most important step in Miss McKinstry's determined bid for international recognition.

According to A s s o c i a t e d Press, "Petite Juli, the youngest and smallest competitor in the women's events, was greeted with a resounding round of applause as she completed her program. The 4-foot-10, 83-pound prodigy demonstrated amazing skill and grace, and left no doubt as the eventual winner."

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McKinstry, Juli has been labelled by many ice skating experts as "the new Peggy Fleming" after the former international champion who has turned professional. In the past month Miss McKinstry has added the Pacific Coast and now the national championships to her collection.

In another highlight last night at Tulsa, the favored California team o f Kenneth Shelley and Jojo Starbuck captured the senior pairs championship.

Shelley and Starbuck, a pair of 18-year-olds who have been skating together for almost ten years, showed why they were rated favorites as they swept to first place.

She teamed with her brother Mark, 15, to take second place in the seniors pairs, and then placed third in the junior ladies. Thirteen-year-old Dorothy Hamill, of Troy, N.Y., gained second place in the junior ladies.

An unusual number of falls marred the junior ladies event, as five of the 13 girls spilled to the ice at least once.

Today's competition led off with the senior ladies figures, to be followed by the novice men's free skating and the gold dance compulsory and original in the afternoon.

On tap for this evening are the novice ladies' free skating, the silver dance finals, and the senior men's free skating.

Trackmen Not Pot Smokers, Says Official

SEATTLE (AP) — Four University of Washington athletes used poor judgment, Athletic Director Joe Kearney said Thursday, but they weren't guilty of smoking marijuana as a former teammate charged.

John Davies, British middle distance runner who was attending UW and was a member of the school's track team, said Thursday at his home in Heald Green, England, that he had seen six teammates smoking pot.

INVESTIGATION

Kearney said, however, that an investigation showed Davies was wrong.

"Davies went to Ken Shannon (the track coach) on Monday and accused six trackmen of smoking pot," Kearney said. "Shannon immediately came to me, and we initiated an investigation."

Kearney said the investigation indicated that four, not six, tracksters had been in a dormitory lounge where pot was being smoked, but they had not smoked any.

"Just when we were getting the investigation wrapped up, we found out that John had left for home," Kearney said. "Then we suddenly hear the accusations are public . . .

"Apparently what had hap-

By AL GIDDINGS

Destructive Mudhens Wiped Out By Hunters

Most of the mudhens at the Giacomini Ranch at Point Reyes Station have been taken. One group of hunters took 200 Sunday, so the hunting out there is more or less finished for this year. Waldo Giacomini passes along his thanks to those of you who helped him get rid of the birds which were damaging the grass and clover fields on his property.

THE FISHING in San Pablo Bay has continued hot and heavy with the take of sturgeon heading the list. Bob Mevger, the harbormaster at Loch Lomond in San Rafael, has checked a good number of these fish through the launching ramp area there. Last Sunday he said most of the boats that launched there came in with a sturgeon or so.

Big rain years seem to put the fish from the delta in the San Pablo Bay area. The area below the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge was a hot spot. David Schwartz, a 14-year-old Mill Valley lad, called to say that he had taken a 6-foot, 2-inch sturgeon that weighed 103 pounds there this past week.

And Bill Robinson, one of the local pros from San Rafael, had a group of five friends out and everyone took home a sturgeon. I saw Bill's boat which looks like a 36-foot commercial trawler chasing a sturgeon last Sunday. Quite a sight to see this boat as big as it is being maneuvered around chasing a fish.

And what a deal! I heard Robinson had hot dogs, chile beans and beer for any friends who happened to pull alongside. You missed the boat if you know Bill, but there's always a next time.

THE TIDES this weekend being incoming will put the fish in close to shore along the tules. The duck hunters a few weeks ago reported seeing sturgeon in the shallows on the high incoming tides. Things will be tougher this weekend as the fish will be scattered.

THE STRIPED bass just aren't hitting, which happens at this time of the year. Then, about the end of February, the waters begin to warm up which triggers the bass to go on a feeding spree and fishing for these gamey fish gets hot.

To make this point, the other day I was sitting in a boat fishing my head off with just an occasional light hit. If I had said the area was "loaded" with fish, no one would have agreed.

A very large airplane came along, exceptionally low, causing a tremendous vibration. Then at least 20 big bass surfaced and rolled all around the boat. They were there all the time, but just wouldn't hit. Once in a while they would pick up the bait, and if you are lucky with a quick set you will hook one, but most of the time they feel the hook-line-leader resistance and drop the bait. They just aren't very hungry. I think it's the water temperature. Too low is the key factor here. What's your theory? Maybe we should serve them heated baits.

STRIPED BASS fishing at Tomales also is showing some signs of coming to life. Eleven anglers were beating the water a few days ago, but Bill Christiansen of Pt. Reyes caught the only fish.

Jack Mathews of Inverness tried pile worms one day this past week and also connected with a bass. As incoming tides and fishing in the evening usually is the best producing combination, this weekend's afternoon-evening low tides might provide some hot spots. If you go in the P.M. be sure to wear warm clothes.

JIM CRUNK, the Department of Fish and Game man who traps steelhead below Nicasio Dam for transportation to the spawning streams above the dam, has taken only 24 steelheads this season; four the last three weeks.

In checking about 300 anglers in the past month at White House Pool near Pt. Reyes Station Warden Elvin Gunderson has logged in only two steelhead.

And up at Walker Creek near Tomales, 70 fishermen had only one steelhead these past weeks. We definitely need some plants to reestablish runs in these streams.

Here's a letter I received recently:

"DEAR MR. GIDDINGS:

"In regard to your article about all the ghost shrimp you were going to win as a result of your no smoking bet: You said that anyone having a boat with a top and a heater who would like to have you go fishing with them to let you know, and you would supply the bait.

"My dad and I would like to take you up on your offer. We have a boat, a 27-foot Fairliner, a good heater to keep you warm and a top to keep you dry. If you have a Sunday available, let's go fishing.

Sincerely,
CHRIS NARD
Novato"

Well, Chris, I'm off duty Feb. 14-15, the tides are right both days about 9 a.m., so let's go. Give me a call and we'll set it up. I have the bait, so everything is right.

Terra Linda Quint Edges Marin J.V.

Terra Linda High School basketballers edged College of Marin junior varsity cagers 57-55 Wednesday behind the 18 points of Dan Trondsen and 14 points of Gary Wall.

Mike Peden led the Tar jayvee with 19 points. With the Trojans ahead by only two, 55-53, Keith Jackson made two free throws to put Terra Linda up by four with only 30 seconds left in the game.

Disputed Call, Ashe Defeated

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., was eliminated Thursday night from the International Tennis Players Association Open indoor championships with the assist of a linesman's disputed call.

Cliff Richey defeated his Davis Cup teammate 6-4, 4-6, 8-6.

"The ball was four inches out, but I can't overrule him, not unless I'm asked to," stammered match umpire Frank Hammond afterwards.

Linesman Dr. Bernard Davidson called Richey's shot good. The call came on a deep, running backhand. It gave Richey a five points to three lead over Ashe in a 12-point tie-breaking game. It was played after the third set was tied 6-all.

Dr. Davidson said later, "I was calling it through the net. It's an awful distance. If the umpire wished to overrule me I gave him the opportunity to do so. But if I had to call it 12 times, I'd call it the same way."

In other third round matches, Dennis Ralston, U.S., upset Tom Okker, the Netherlands 6-1, 6-8, 6-3. Clark Graebner of the U.S. Davis Cup team, scored 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 over Spain's Manuel Santana.

Australia's Tony Roche overpowered America's top ranked Stan Smith 6-3, 6-2. Roche now will meet Richey.

Kearney said he was "thoroughly convinced" the four trackmen weren't smoking marijuana.

"But I warned the four," he said, "that they had to exhibit damned good judgment and hadn't in this case. Athletes, in particular, are subject to guilt by association. It's regrettable that the team has to get labeled by something like this."

Roseboro Suit Settled: $7,500

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 4½-year-old, $110,000 battery suit filed by former Los Angeles Dodgers catcher John Roseboro against San Francisco Giants pitcher Juan Marichal was settled Thursday for a reported $7,500.

The case had been scheduled for trial three time — and postponed each time — before being dropped from the calendar of Superior Court Judge Charles A. Loring.

Roseboro, now with the Washington Senators, contended in the suit that in a game at Candlestick Park on Aug. 22, 1965, Marichal, the batter, struck him on the head with a bat.

The next step, he said, would be to find out a meeting in Chicago next Tuesday if the American League owners will go along with the arrangement.

One of the fastest-rising new products in the lucrative automotive field is Sta-Power engine conditioner. And its home base is in Marin. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown tells the story of Sta-Power and the company that produces it, as well as the racing drivers who test it, in tomorrow's issue of the Independent-Journal's weekend supplement. It is another Marin business success story.

Student exchange programs are the growing thing in schools throughout the country. Nowhere is the movement stronger than in California. And no Northern California school is more active than Redwood High School at Larkspur. How this across-the-ocean traffic in eager-to-learn youth operates, and why, will be explained in a special feature story in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

JIM MURRAY

Crutch, Cast Standard Gear For This Skier

The first thing you have to do to go skiing, is get the proper equipment.

Ordinarily, I go down to Abbey Rents and get just the right stuff—one crutch and a surgical cast autographed, "Better Luck Next Time — Jean-Claude" or "Even The Slopes Are Crying — Toni Sailer." A "Tough Luck — Robert Redford" can be helpful, too.

YOU GET only one crutch because hobbling about on one foot can be tiring, and, this way, you can switch feet from day to day. One crutch gets you just as much sympathy as two and, when questioned, you murmur with a sigh, "The tibia—caught it on the cornice at Alta. Damn bad show."

I also load up on plenty of cigarettes. I don't smoke, but you've all seen what happens on TV to this guy, sitting in a chair with a busted ankle, waving bravely to his buddies as they go up the T-bar in search of spiral fractures of their own. And this exquisite girl comes hobbling in and asks him for a cigarette. I usually carry a carton in case this happens to me.

IF SOME wise guy happens to notice you've got one foot in the air one day and the other foot the next, just look at him scornfully and say, "Don't you think I KNOW which tibia it is?" The only trouble is, the rest of the stay, DON'T switch feet.

The crutch also permits you to, as the British say, "Jump the queue" at the chairlift. Nobody would keep an injured man standing in line, particularly if you smiled this wan little smile and say, "No, no, that's all right, I'm quite used to it. They've got the bone set temporarily and the operation won't be till morning. They think they can save the leg."

BUT, AS you know, I always go to the mountains a few times a year to shake the smog and printer's ink out of my nostrils, and see snow on the fir trees and gulp in the air of the gold country of the Sierra.

And, now, they're getting wise to me. I hold the record for hot wine consumption by guys on one leg at the June Mountain chalet, and, my pals, Dotti and Andy Oldfield at Boulder Lodge, KNOW I keep the plaster cast in the trunk of the car because, one day, I had to ask them how to spell "Paul Newman" and borrow a pen to write it on the toe area.

SO, I decided I would actually get on skis. I had to brazen it out, because I had to enroll in the June Mountain beginners' class. So, I rented equipment, and showed up and checked in with the young ski instructor.

Now, all ski instructors look as if they should be carrying machine guns and chasing Paul Henreid over the Swiss border. I mean, they have these boots that look as if they were steam-driven. They got more valves and boiler-plate than some locomotives. They look as if they have to be put on a lube rack every thousand miles.

MY INSTRUCTOR was no exception. He looked at me coldly as if I was something he had just captured in the cellar of a French farmhouse. "Name?" he said coldly. "Murray," I told him. "First name?" he said. "Jean-Claude," I answered.

"Ever skied before?" he barked. I bridled. "Skied before?!" I snarled. "Listen! I threw the powder so high at Alta meteorologists in six states thought they were tracking a blizzard. I was a forerunner at six Olympics and beat the eventual winner under three clocks. I've FALLEN more than you've skied, son."

HIS LIPS curled in an Erich von Stroheim sneer. "Then, what are you doing in a beginners' class? Do you take me for a fool?"

I gave him a heartbroken smile. "Listen, Helmut — it is Helmut, isn't it? — I'm phased out for the moment. Amnesia, you know. Got it at Biarritz. The Aly Khan crashed into me. Or maybe it was one of the Kennedys. I forget. It's beginning to come back to me in bits and pieces, but the medics recommend I go back to the beginning."

I THOUGHT I saw a flicker of sympathy cross his face, but it was probably only the sun on his monocle. "Can you snowplow?" he demanded. "Well, yes," I told him, "but I'd rather ski."

He looked at me strangely. "A 'snowplow' IS a ski maneuver," he instructed me. "Can you remember anything from your racing days?" I clasped a hand to my head. "NOW, I remember! Why, when I used to come paralleling down the head wall, my skis used to click like castanets. I was the biggest thing in the Alps since Hannibal's elephants!"

"THEN, take this little run here," Helmut said, indicating a grade of about two degrees. I started down. My eyes crossed, my skis crossed. I crashed. I pounded my fist in the snow and started to sob. "If only I could remember!" I wept. "Me! The toast of two continents! The fastest through the gates at Chamonix!" I sneaked a look up. They all had tears in their eyes.

In the chalet later, I sipped my hot mead contentedly. "It's beginning to come back," I told a well-wisher. "My downhill ski is still a bit lazy. But I should be ready by Sapporo." I gave him my autograph graciously. "Remember," I wrote. "Skiing is also mental."

MOTORIZED SKIING

Donald Steeg of Dearborn, Mich., a tool and die maker, demonstrates his latest invention, "SkiBee." It's an eight horsepower engine with a 24-inch prop that serves as a propulsion unit for motorized skiing. The back pack weighs 30 pounds and Steeg claims that the unit eliminates the need for a steep slope to enjoy the sport. He also says that "SkiBee" can be converted with a boat mount accessory to an outboard motor for summer use. (UPI Telephoto)

OAKLAND MEET

World Vault Mark Is Target Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI)—Dick Railsback and handyman Sam Caruthers take dead aim tonight on the world indoor record of 17-7 in the pole vault.

They are part of a competitive field assembled for the fourth annual Athens Invitational indoor track meet at the Coliseum-Arena. Meet director Dave Maggard, track coach at the nearby University of California, has assembled balanced talent in nearly every event.

Railsback of the Southern California Striders has been the world's best pole vaulter so far this season. His lifetime best is 7-8 3-4 which is considerably over the Athens record of 17' 3-4". Caruthers and Railsback both have beaten Olympic champion Bob Seagren.

DISTANCE ACES

Neil Steinhauer of Oregon and Australian long distance runner Ron Clarke return to the fast rubberized surface of the Coliseum-Arena to defend their titles. Steinhauer's winning toss of 67-1 3-4 at lats year's Athens meet was the best in the world in 1969.

Clarke easily defeated former record holder Tracy Smith of the United States in the world record time of 13:12.0 in the three-mile event last year.

Maggard said the jump field he has assembled is "as fine as in any indoor meet this season, probably the best."

Henry Hines of Sacramento State heads the long jump field which includes Gayle Hopkins, Darrell Horn, Phil Shinnick and Marion Anderson of San Jose State.

TOOMEY, TOO

Also competing in the long jump and on the Southern California Striders' relay team will be Bill Toomey, the Santa Barbara school teacher voted top track and field athlete of 1969 and current Sullivan Award winner as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete. Toomey set a world record in the decathlon in his final 1969 meet.

Other top entries include Geoff Vanderstock, former world record holder in the 400 intermediate hurdles, who will join Ron Whitney and former Villanova flash Don Webster, now attending Hayward State, in the open 500.

Richmond To Show Heavyweight Bout

Richmond Auditorium will be among the nation's 150 closed-circuit television outlets for the Feb. 16 live screening of the heavyweight championship fight between Joe Frazier and Jimmy Ellis.

Louie Miller, promoter of the telecast, announced today that advance tickets, priced at $5, $6 and $7, are on sale in San Rafael at Carmel Barber Shop, 828 B. Street.

The title match will start at 7:30 p.m. The telecast from Madison Square Garden will get underway at 6:30 with another heavyweight bout between 1968 Olympic Games champion George Foreman and Argentina's Gregorio Peralta.

Treadway A High Roller

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Dick Treadway of Larkspur has been bowling for 29 years and he doesn't show any signs of letting up. He still carries averages over the 200 mark.

Secretary of the Marin County Bowling Association since 1963, Treadway, now 41, began bowling at the old Rialto Bowl in San Francisco when he was 12. That first year of bowling he averaged 149 and at the age of 14 bowled a 296 game in a men's league at the old Upstairs Bagdad Bowl in San Francisco. His other games in that series were 225 and 169, giving him a 690 total.

He laid off bowling for three years until 1945 when he started bowling at College Bowl in Oakland. In 1950 he won the most improved bowler award in the Downtown Bowl Invitational League, at the time the best league in the Bay Area, raising his average from 189 to 195. He was also named to the league's all-star team which beat a "big name" team from Detroit that included Bill Bunetta in a match game. That year he was also one of 12 bowlers who were named for a rolloff for a chance to beat the then National Match Game champ Junie McMahon. Treadway finished "around seventh or eighth."

MARINE SERVICE

The fact that he was averaging 202, second high, in the Bay Area Majors Traveling League didn't stop the Marine Corps from drafting him in 1951. But he spent the two-year hitch in California, part of it in Kentfield at the Marine Corps Reserve post.

Treadway, western administrative officer for Channing Co. of San Francisco, a mutual fund securities dealer, won himself a trip to the Bowling Proprietors Association of America All-Star Tournament at Minneapolis in 1957, one of three Bay Area men to win such honors. Ed Bourdase (now one of the top money pros in the Professional Bowlers Association tour) was a teammate of Treadway and one of the three to make the trip to Minneapolis.

The next year Treadway was a member of the Metropolitan Masters Traveling League, bowling for Downtown Bowl, and won the league rolloff from Brentwood Bowl. Heading that team was the same Bourdase, but Downtown Bowl won eight of the 12 games. Treadway bowled a total of 2,573 pins, an average of 214, high for the match.

In 1961 he won third place in the first California State Masters tournament. The next year, at Greenbrae Lanes, he bowled his highest series of his life and it was in the annual Marin

DICK TREADWAY

County "City" Tournament team event, a 744 three-gamer. He won the all-events title that year, scoring 1970 pins scratch, highest tourney all-events score on record.

Treadway is quite a money bowler. "Somewhere during this period I shot 298 and then 299 in successive weekends in pot games at Greenbrae Lanes," he said.

Treadway took over as MCBA secretary in 1963 after the death of then secretary Clay Anderson, one of the founders of the bowling association.

Treadway is still bombing the pins. Last year he averaged 206 in San Francisco and 201 in Marin County. Currently he is averaging 206 in S.F. and 197 in Marin. His highest averages have been 210 in S.F. leagues and 201 in Marin.

Treadway feels his greatest bowling accomplishment came in the summer of 1968 at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael. While shooting in the 550 Trios, he rolled a 245 triplicate series which is the highest triplicate ever shot in Northern California and second highest in the state.

PG&E Asks For Another Rate Boost

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) Pacific Gas and Electric Co. yesterday asked the California Public Utilities Commission for an increase of $20.6 million annually in addition to a boost of $16 million that went into effect 11 days ago.

The company said higher prices for gas from Texas, New Mexico and Canada necessitated an increase of $16 million. The other $4.6 million was requested to offset termination by Congress of investment credit for new facilities.

The company asked that the new prices, which would average about 40 cents per month for residential customers, become effective April 13.

The PUC, after extensive public hearings, authorized PG&E to increase its gas rates by 3.48 per cent for a total of $16,155,000 annually. This increase went into effect Jan. 26.

The company had asked for $21,327,000 to give it a 7.5 per cent rate of return. The increase granted by the PUC authorized a rate of return of 7.3 per cent.

Long Range Prospects Good For Towle Company

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q.. Last spring I purchased 300 shares of Towle Manufacturing. The decline since has me worried. I don't need the money but wonder what the long-term prospects are —W.J.

A. Sales and earnings of this well-known silversmith have been unimpressive over the last few years. Earnings for nine months 1969 had declined 16 per cent on a 5.5 per cent drop in sales. Company policy of dealer and price protection has had, in this age of discounting, a detrimental effect on Towle's competitive position. There is no long-term debt and the current assets ratio is 9.2-to-1 with cash and equivalent accounting for 29 per cent of current assets. The market at recent levels has placed a value of $15.9 million on the shares of this company, a rather conservative appraisal in view of the excellent balance sheet. Given a more propitious economic climate, one of the aggressive merger-minded managements may find Towle (only 10 per cent of the stock is management-held) a tempting candidate for take-over. Shares should be held for work out over the long range.

Q. Shares of National Industries, held better than a year, have dropped from 21 to about 8. Do you think I should continue to hold?— T.F.

A. National Industries typifies the conglomerate concept. A fast-paced merger program has brought together more than a dozen unrelated companies which are operated under five major divisions. In contrast to more conservatively financed companies, National has a long-term debt of $939 million, current asset-liability ratio of 1.5-to-1 and two series of preferred, convertible into 1.06 million common shares. In addition there are 66 million common shares and warrants to purchase another 5.7 million. Sales for 1969 reached $360 million but earnings were thought to have dropped to around 50 cents a share from $1.02 in 1968. This is not a situation for the faint of heart; it is suitable only in high-risk portfolios.
